VINCENT'S JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

I smile to myself everytime I swing past the bus stops off Lattice Bridge Road. Tough work for civic workers to blank out the bus stop signage where the boldest line is the name of the Velachery MLA. The evening breeze rips the flimsy sheets but the code has to be followed.

We never came across this MLA, of the Congress party. Saw him during a 'flying' campaign, did not see him hold community meetings locally and did not miss the mega-size signboard of his office in Thiruvannamiyur. Perhaps, Adyar zone is a shadow region for a Velachery MLA. Which way will people vote if the Congress puts up a candidate here this April?

I am not sure if people really choose a person who has a good record in public life. They look for a candidate who is clear on addressing current issues of the constituency. And the door-to-door campaigns and street corner meets don't help.

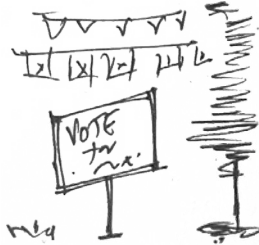

R. A. Puram resident Dr Sundararaman Chintamani, with a career in technology, engineering, computing and now a consultant and trainer, has developed a dashboard themed 'Know Your Constituency' with lots of data, listing of issues that dominate the place, the record of MLAs and more. (<https://sundar-bit.github.io/know-your-constituency-Mylapore>). Mylapore is included.

Decent work done in double-quick time. But there are holes and misses in there that I spotted after a quick look at the Mylapore section. This site can be a starting point for people who want to seriously understand the constituency and the issues and decide on the candidate who must get their vote.

Do people vote based on a candidate's record or on how he/she addresses issues that affect the people locally? Marina shore side folks may vote differently while residents in R. A. Puram and Alwarpet are influenced by different factors. And those in Valeswarar Thottam and in Kapali Thottam have their own takes.

The DMK's Dha Velu, seeking re-election in Mylapore, has been listing all the projects executed during his five-year term in his social media posts. He may also list his promises for the next five years.

Is there an audit of the MLA's record, done by citizens? Can we expect a Mylapore manifesto from him? And we want to request the candidates of the other political parties to put out a Mylapore manifesto too.

Panguni utsavam: missing clear darshan of swami

The Panguni Utsavam of Sri Kapali Temple is, at its heart, darshan. This year, the elaborate performances on the mada vedhis before the swami, sincere as they were, ended up competing with each other and hindered the main focus of the procession. Many of us stood on the streets, straining for one clear glimpse of Kapali. The temple has always arranged the utsavam so that a devotee sees more of the lord, not less. That felt missing this year.

- Sharanya Iyer

Panguni utsavam: craze for snacks, food

The utsavam processions are turning out to be farcical and this was more so during the Arubathimoovar procession. We are missing the sanctity, purpose, devotion and pujas besides the gods. People were more keen to go after snacks, freebies and chocolates given freely during the Arubathimoovar procession.

- R. Satish

Panguni utsavam: bouquets for Urbaser staff

The team of Urbaser Sumeet civic workers deputed around the Mada Streets has done an excellent job in clearing the used food trays, tumblers, food waste and water bottles at all times during the Utsavam. May we suggest that we thank them by way of giving gifts and commendation certificates by the temple administration / HR & CE department to honour them for their dedication and also to motivate them to ensure a clean environment.

Fuel crisis: consumer's woes

This is about the gas cylinder shortage. We had booked through South Madras Gas agency on March 6 and invoiced the next day and we received an SMS with DAC number, stating the cylinder will be delivered in a week. Till this week, no cylinder has been delivered.

When contacted in person (umpteenth times), the reply is - 'I don't know why it hasn't come, will surely come today'. Staff here claim bookings till March 12 have been cleared till 12. Totally clueless as to what to do next.

- Jayashree Arvind

Maavu mill memories

Vincent's Jottings in Mylapore Times of Mar.21 revived a cache of memories. As a middle school student, I used to be asked by my mother to get rice and spices ground at the local 'maavu' mill. I carried out these errands with pleasure. Palani, the mill owner who always appeared with a fine layer of flour on his eyebrows, used to dictate in a gruff voice, where to place my vessel full of grains, before and after the contents were ground. We once used to frequent nooks of footwear-mender, umbrella repairer, locksmiths and fountain pen repairer.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times, 1996 onwards. This week, we focus on October 1996.

Renowned Mylapore jeweller to shut shop (Oct. 5, 1996)

By Chitra Sivakumar

D. K. Murthy (70), the famous jeweller in Mylapore, is shutting shop. Old age and illness have forced him to call it a day. Murthy started his jewellery business in 1948. His customers included actresses Vyjayanthimala, Padmini, Lalitha and Ragini.

Murthy underlines that temple jewellery, for which he is considered the pioneer, and dance jewellery are predominantly Mylapore specialities. With a good team of goldsmiths supporting him, Murthy created many kavachams and kreedams. He travelled extensively. He notes that there is a great demand for temple jewellery among the Indian diaspora in the US. He cited two major drawbacks in dealing with pure gold jewellery, namely, affordability and safety.

Murthy is also an expert in gems and stones. "There are 84 varieties of precious stones. The best among these are called gems," explains this resident of North Trust-pakkam Street in Mandaveli.

D. K. Murthy

Housing Board to auction 41 shops in Luz (Oct. 5, 1996)

The Tamil Nadu Housing Board (TNHB) will auction 41 shops located inside the HB complex in Luz, next to Kamadhenu Theatre. Earlier, in August, TNHB had organised an auction, but the response to this event was very poor. Only one shop was sold.

All 41 shops are on the ground floor, which is centrally air-conditioned. There are flats on the top floor. Only trades allowed by the Corporation of Madras will be permitted here. TNHB officials said that the prices are competitive and that considering many factors, such as the rising worth of commercial property in this part of the city, a purchase now could bring good rewards in the future.

World Vegetable Day (Oct. 5, 1996)

To mark World Vegetable Day, the Indian Vegetarian Congress announced a slew of competitions for school children and college students on October 7. These will be held at the AVM Rajeswari Kalyana Mandapam on Dr. Radhakrishnan Road. There are tests of skills in drawing, painting and elocution.

There is a cookery challenge - participants will need to produce a nutritious, wholesome preparation that involves minimum cooking and using new vegetables.

Mylaporeans' help set kolu at Syndicate Bank branch (Oct. 12, 1996)

On October 14, vidushi D. K. Pattammal will inaugurate a kolu at the Syndicate Bank located at Thiagaraya Road, T. Nagar.

This is an all-women branch, and three employees have planned the setting up of a kolu on the bank's premises from October 14 to 19. The kolu will be hosted by Vinita of Sriram Nagar in Alwarpet, Shanta Raghavan of Luz and Devika Rani of Mandaveli.

PANGUNI FEST People's Festival

By Our Edit Team

The mada vedhis are the people's zones at Panguni festival time in Mylapore.

Dozens of women and men are in the temple zone almost every day, cleaning spaces with water and drawing large kolams; their form of prayer to the lord, the ambal. We saw a young man in veshti, referencing a smartphone to design his small kolam under the 16-pillar mantap.

This year, the temple seems to have invited lots of artistes for the processions; folk, neo-mythological troupes joined by Sivan-adiyars with their music instruments. We spotted on a Sunday morning, women performing kol-attam. The nagaswaram-tavil artistes have been given much space and time. One complaint though - the spectacles of artistes in processions blanked out clear views of the gods, allowing no space to say a prayer, to reflect.

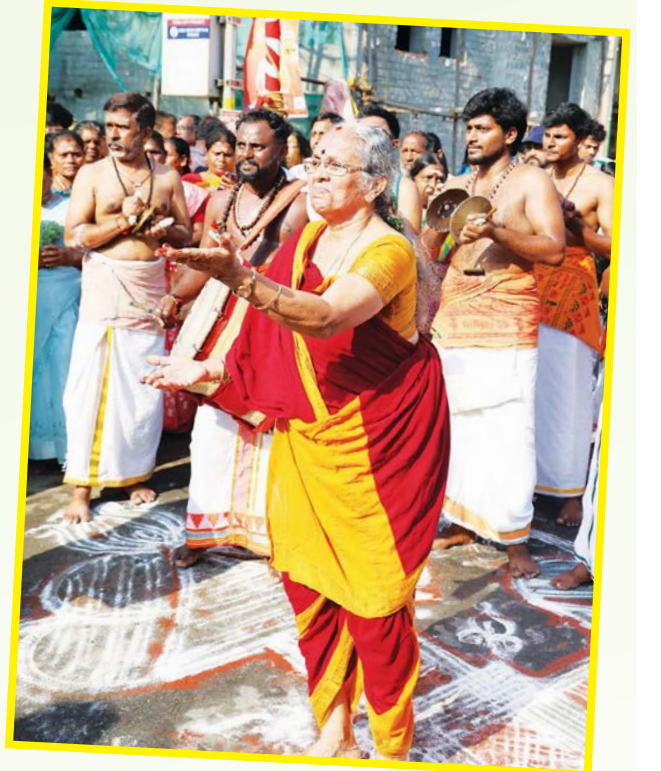

The immensely devoted among devotees were here; some dancers dressed in costumes - Shiva and Parvati; some women carrying various forms of the lingam on their heads, and one woman who just raised her hand holding half a coconut, towards the lord in the 'ther'. And some showy bhaktas too,

The seniors with promises to fulfil; like this 70-something woman who hung a stainless steel vessel in one hand, held a plateful of paper cups in another and got someone to pour buttermilk on a 30-degree morning.

And the hawkers - from all over. Palm fans, Irula jewellery, glass bangles, plastic toys, Koyembedu-sourced keera.

And the 100-plus police men and women to ensure there was order. And the 100-odd workers of Urbaser Sumeet who ensured that all the streets are clean, end to end.

Urbaser Sumeet supervisor on duty for Panguni fest collapses, dies

Urbaser Sumeet civic supervisor collapsed while working in the field on March 30. He passed away despite medical attention.

N. Selvaganapathi was 48 and a supervisor in Zone 9, overseeing operations in Mandaveli and was managing civic operations on the mada vedhis for the Panguni festival. He had a heat stroke, his colleagues said.

Urbaser's local staff said he was an able and sincere worker. He joined the service six years ago and had been a star worker all along.

He is married and has a family

A few residents' associations have plans to raise some funds to give to his family. Contact Ravi Nandyala - 866 759 5354 - if you wish to donate /help.

UPDATE: Jeth Nagar Residents Association has donated Rs:20,000 to late Selvaganapathi's family.

Obituary

Well-known Doordarshan newsreader Sudha Narayanan, a longtime resident of

C. V. Raman Road, Alwarpet, passed away on February 28.

She had been a resident of Alwarpet since her marriage to R. S. Narayanan in 1964. She completed her B.A.

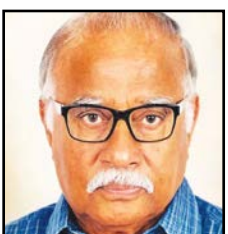

in English Literature from Miranda House, Delhi, an education that reflected her lifelong love of language, literature, and the arts. Early in her career, she worked as a copywriter at Aries Advertising Agency in Gopalapuram, for about 10 years. During this period, she was also associated with advertising campaigns and modelled for Solidaire, not Dyanora as is sometimes mistakenly recalled.

One well-known advertisement from that era featured popular television newsreaders, including Geetanjali Iyer, and highlighted the clarity of the television image by noting that even the eyelashes of the newsreader were visible on screen.

Although she never worked professionally as a designer, she possessed a strong aesthetic sensibility and was often consulted on matters of design, her family said. Among friends and colleagues, she was regarded as something of a design guru. She is remembered by Smitha, Ram, Nikhil and Radhika.

R. Sundara Swaminathan (born July 14, 1946), longtime resident of R. A. Puram, passed away on March 4. He lived life to the fullest and will be remembered for his fun-loving nature, positive outlook, and warm personality, his family said.

A passionate reader and lifelong learner, he was widely respected for the thoughtful guidance and counsel he generously offered to family and friends.

He began his career with The Indian Express newspaper and later led operations at Sai Sriram Printers, where he oversaw the printing of several books on Sri Sai Baba, deepening his devotion and becoming a staunch devotee.

He played a key role in the rebuilding of his family temple in his native town of Sathanur and was also a co-founder of the Brahmin Samrakshana Trust (BST).

He is remembered by his wife Seethalakshmi Sundar, his daughter and his son and their families.

R. Ramasubramanian, a resident of Rajasekaran Street, Mylapore who retired from a senior post in The Hindu newspaper, passed away on March 17 at the age of 68.

A 1980 alumnus of the College of Engineering, Guindy (B.E. Hons, Electronics & Communication), he dedicated 33 years of his work to Kasturi & Sons Ltd. (publishers of The Hindu).

Retiring as assistant vice president (electronics), he served as the technical backbone of the organization, leading the teams that sustained the IT and network infrastructure for The Hindu, Sportstar, and Frontline.

Post-retirement, he devoted himself to a deep spiritual journey, his family said.

He became adept in Sanskrit and bhajans, meticulously transcribing the Bhagavatham and Ramayanam for his guru, and remained a dedicated volunteer for his apartment's temple services, the family added.

'Whether mentoring juniors at the office or guiding the younger generation at home, he embodied the true spirit of acceptance and contentment,' his family said.

He is survived by his wife and family. Contact - 9789971839

ELECTIONS 2026: Candidates hit the streets

By Our Edit Team

Candidates contesting in the Mylapore constituency have begun campaigns locally.

Most are door-to-door and small community meets. One day, DMK candidate, Dha Velu conversed with members of RAPRA, one association that covers the R. A. Puram zone. The meet was held in a local park.

Elsewhere, TVK candidate, P. Venkataramanan, met residents in the Teynampet zone of the constituency, in his door to door campaign and also met fish hawkers on Singaravelar Salai (Loop Road)

One late evening, NTK's candidate R. L. Arun was on a door-to-door campaign in the thickly-inhabited Pughs Road zone in R. A. Puram.

All the three candidates have a hyper-active social media campaign on. While Velu posts visuals of his campaigns and meets with local DMK unit cadres, Arun's Insta videos are loud and Genz-tuned. And TVK 'fans' are amplifying Venkataramanan's street-level meets.

On Friday afternoon, BJP announced that Dr. Tamilisai Soundararajan is its candidate in Mylapore

G. Narendra

By Our Edit Team

Bharatanatyam artiste and teacher G. Narendra has been chosen for the prestigious Nritya Kalanidhi award given by The Music Academy annually. He will be decorated with the award on the opening day of the dance festival of the Academy, Jan.2, 2027.

Narendra is a resident of CIT Colony; besides performing, he also teaches dance. In 2025, he was decorated with the Nritya Choodamani award by Sri Krishna Gana Sabha. He is a Kalakshetra alumni.

Veena artiste Jayanthi Kumaresh is chosen for the Sangita Kalanidhi award.

These and other awards are part of the Academy's 100th conference and concerts to be held in mid December this year.

R. A. Puram based S. Rajeswari has been chosen for a new award of the Academy; dance musician award. She has sung for many senior dancers of the past and is best known for singing at well-known dancer Kamala's at her concerts.

She has composed songs and is a music teacher and was also head of the TN Govt. Music College. She is also a Kalaimamani awardee, one of the earliest.

Another awardee-designate is Sugandha Kalamegham. She has been chosen for the Sangita Kala Acharya award.

A resident of Abiramapuram First Street, she is a senior vocalist and music teacher.

Sri Ramanavami celebrations were on at Sri Madhava Perumal Temple, Mylapore from March 18 to 27. On Mar.21 evening, the grand sita kalyana utsavam was held.

Missing vada

By Baskar Seshadri

Why is the vada missing in the breakfast menu at Mylapore's small but popular food joints?

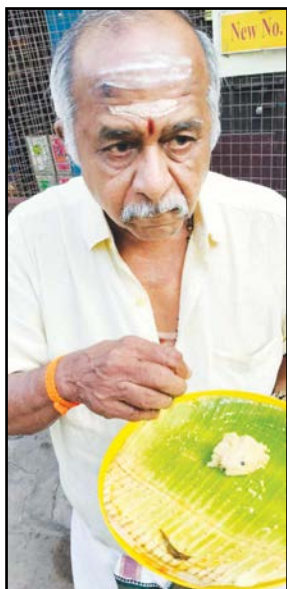

They take a long time to cook in oil and with the fuel crisis, food joints have knocked it off their menu list.

At Gomathi Mess, Mandaveli regulars are salivating as they tuck in pongal minus the vada.

"The pongal is excellent but I miss the vada," said Ramachandran from T. Nagar makes it a point to come to Mylapore every Thursday -after a darshan at Sai Baba Temple he heads to Gomathi.

Abi from Urapakkam who is in Mylapore on work, showed us his plate, idlis soaking in sambhar. "But there is no vada!", he said.

Breakfast isn't the same nowadays at Mylapore's food nooks. Many are complaining, lightly.

24x7 Metrowater supply. In a part of R. A. Puram

Officials, residents discuss plans

By Our Edit Team

24x7 supply of drinking water. A Metro-water project which is underway in a part of the city. And it will be coming to south end of R. A. Puram.

This past week, Metrowater's team for ward 171 (which covers a slice of south R. A. Puram and Adyar north) met locally with residents and association leaders to discuss the project.

CMWSSB team with their consultants WATCO have been conducting all their surveys for this project since 2023 in Chennai

Water meter

Officials and community leaders at the meeting

AIMS OF PROJECT

- 1) Relaying the age-old water pipelines
- 2) Stop all kinds of water pollution
- 3) Provide 24x7 water supply monitored by smart metering system.
- 4) Provide clean potable water to all.
- 5) Users pay for the water they consume as charged by the meter.

Metrowater says there is ample supply of water in the reservoirs to be able to support this concept. This project has already been in the pilot stage in Thiruvanmiyur area and is going successful, said Metrowater.

PEOPLE'S POINTERS

* Ensure all houses get proper and clean water supply. Metrowater said this will automatically happen when they lay fresh pipelines.

* People representing the densely populated areas of Govindaswamy Nagar had concerns – first provide clean drinking water, then talk about 24x7. They said their water is polluted.-

* Query from one resident – If Metrowater provides 24x7 supply , will this not lead to people completely depend on this water and not using ground water and stop rainwater-harvesting? (Officials said since water usage is metered, people will use it wisely)

* Query from Mandaveli resident – water can be wasted when the Metro sumps fill up locally. (Officials say the new pipelines will be such that there will be automatic valve cut off when sumps get filled and individual connection smart metering will be installed.)

– Reported with inputs from Ganga Sridhar

PANGUNI FESTIVAL Saints, gods and goddesses

By Our Edit Team

The nayanmars are the stars of the Panguni festival's arubathimooavar procession of Sri Kapali Temple. The 63 saints.

A celebration which took place on March 30 afternoon in the blazing 32 degrees on the mada veedhis.

But only a limited number of the thousands of people packed into the streets take a close look at them, some making a symbolic gesture with folded hands.

The focus of this procession remains the lord, Kapaleeswarar, looking majestic, as crowds surround him to pray and make offerings and get some flowers or ash to take home. As his palanquin rested under the pandal off the Kalathi store, a silvery moon rose in the skies, seen against a flower-rich mango tree.

The latter stars were the gods and goddesses who also made this evening's procession grand. As if it is an event for everybody. Saint Thiruvalluvar, lord Singaravelar from Mandaveli, 'vaira' Murugan from Chintadripet, Kolavizhi Amman and Mundagakanni Amman from Mylapore and also, Valeeswarar . . .

Each of them slipped into the procession past 5 p.m., many placed in richly-done palanquins, fitted with LED lighting.

The crowds are thinner around each of them, leaving people space to pray and be blessed.

If there was a record participation in the 'ther' procession on Sunday, it was bigger the next day, for the procession of the saints and the gods and goddesses.

Palm Sunday (held on March 29) signals the start of the Holy Week in the Church calendar, when people recall and dwell on events leading to the condemnation and death of Jesus on a cross. A symbolic, ecumenical event was held in San Thome to mark this.

People of three local churches, of two Christians denominations – Catholic and Protestant – gathered at St Raphael’s School campus on March 29 morning, had the palms blessed and took out a religious procession before dispersing to their own churches, all located on San Thome High Road. The St Thomas Cathedral, CSI St Thomas English Church and CSI St Thomas Tamil Church joined hands for this event which has been held for some years now.

The religious heads of the churches, Fr. Vincent Chinnadurai, Pastor Anitha and Pastor Dev Prasad were part of the event.

TT championship for ‘masters’

By Our Edit Team

Tamil Nadu Masters state championship in table tennis was organised by TT coach and former India player Rajesh R. at the GCC indoor stadium in Alphonsa ground, Mandavelipakkam recently.

Players aged 40 to 80 years can take part in the Masters. There were three 80 years-plus players.

Local sponsors pitched in. Former state player Sujit flew in from Dubai to play in the 40 years plus category and won. N. Kalyanraman, another ex-state player, starred as a prize winner. Local area councillor Amirda Varshini was a guest at the prizes ceremony. TT coaching is held at this stadium throughout the year. Rajesh leads this initiative. Contact - 99405 91788

Reading in the park

The maiden ‘Silent Reading Movement’ meet organised by R K Nagar at a park in R. K. Nagar (in R. A. Puram) on Sunday, March 15, evoked a good response. Activist Balasubramaniam said that the participation from children and parents was good. “Apart from silent reading, the session also included story-telling and singing, making it a lively and engaging experience for everyone,” he said.

The group is to decide on the periodicity of this meet.

Meanwhile, Balaji who is involved here and also launched a similar event at the GCC park in De Monte Colony in Alwarpet, said that he intends to host the meet on the first Sunday of every month. The first meet had a small response and he wants residents of Alwarpet and Abiramapuram to attend.
