Panniru Thirumurai festival is on at Sri Kapali temple. Ends on Aug.23

By Our Edit Team

The annual Panniru Thirumurai festival started on August 11 at Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple, Mylapore. It will go on till August 23.

The focus is on the recitation of the Tamil sacred hymns written by Saivite saints in praise of lord Shiva.

On the opening evening, following a Nagaswaram concert by SRGS Mohandoss and artistes, odhuvar P. Sargurunathan led the first Thirumurai recitation, alongside other artistes.

This was followed by a sorpozhivu (discourse) by an expert.

Daily, August 12 onwards, there is Thirumurai isai 5 pm onwards by an odhuvar and 'sorpozhivu' (discourse), 7 pm onwards – open to all.

On the final day of this celebration, Sunday, August 23 the Panniru Thirumurai will be taken out in a procession on the elephant vahanam in the morning; and in the evening, abhishekam will be performed for the four Saivite saints – Thirugnana-sambandar, Thirunavukkarasar (Appar), Sundarar and Manickavasagar – and they will be taken out in a procession through the made streets.

Census enumerators do the rounds of Mylapore zone

By Our Edit Team

Census of India enumerators have been doing the rounds in multiple places of the Mylapore zone this weekend.

Families who had not completed the online census process were requested to respond to the entire form for each household furnishing information ranging from household members' gender, education, caste, education and even stuff like material used for construction and cereals consumed.

There are about 33 questions listed for documentation and this job takes about 10-15 minutes at each door.

Those who had already filled the form online before July 31 were requested to provide their enrollment ID that they had received in the e-mail. This was to help the volunteer to ensure the data was filed.

One residents of Mandaveli said, "Some residents had concerns about the background of the volunteers.

People must know that all volunteers are carrying an ID card with a QR code which can be scanned and we can validate if they are genuine enumerators."

Another person said that the enumerators are well trained and efficient at their job.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

This Sunday, I will be back at one of my favourite roaming grounds. Fort St. George.

To lead yet another Walk inside this fort. To mark Madras Day / Chennai Dinam.

For some 25 years, I have explored the Fort in parts. And enjoyed the experience. And on my Walks, which I hold on rare occasions, I share these experiences with people who follow me.

Fort St. George is not a grand fort. Not like the forts of Rajasthan or those that Sivaji built in the Maharashtra region. But it has a character of its own.

For me, it is not the buildings that survive and form the heritage that deeply interest me. For me, recalling the lives and times of people here means something more.

From the Portuguese of San Thome who resettled inside the Fort to improve their business prospects to the tiny number of Catholics who served here - in education and health, from the merchants who bantered and gossiped and fought verbal duels in the Exchange to the gracious ways of the Armenians - all of them set the tone for the making of a city we called Madras and is now Chennai.

For the Madras Day season, a time in August when we celebrate all the good things of the metro, I particularly focus on involving our young. I am not keen to dumb them with colonial history. Rather, I encourage them to take a closer look at the many lovely sides of the city. Urban natural zones, market spaces, the villages of the 16th century which are now central to this city and more.

One project we have hosted for many years now has been the 'Heritage of Chennai' series where we ask school teams to research and study on a theme and present their experiences at a venue where some 10 / 15 teams gather to do the same. This year, the theme was 'Streets'. Teams chose to study streets in Mambalam and in Mylapore, in Royapuram and in George Town and in Triplicane. Some of them came up with delightful nuggets, some scratched only the surface!

Ours is a simple, one-off effort. Here, I would earnestly request heads of schools to devote some time and space for senior students on their campuses to study, to explore and to document and discuss their own backyards, or the neighbourhoods where they are located. These projects bring young people face to face with people, situations and scapes that enrich their understanding of the city that is their home.

Plus, a bright, young teacher could curate and lead a Walk for these students - in their backyard. It helps to appreciate and understand the presence of earthen pot makers, the jewellery artisans and the 'mansions' for bachelors and the row of Amman temples.

Penalise person who has dumped this construction waste

Mounds of construction materials have been dumped on the public pavement outside what used to be Manoj Bhavan restaurant (now closed) at the mouth of Venkatesa Agraharam Street. This waste seems to be from a nearby building block where redesign or re-development is being executed. This violation affects pedestrians at this busy spot. The local officials of GCC should locate the violator and as promised by the commissioner of GCC, levy a large, stiff fine for this violation.

Luz area petty crimes; two more

This is with reference to the news in Mylapore Times headlined 'Thefts at Luz Circle'. We must mention here that there were other thefts in the same area. Copper wires were ripped off from four air-conditioners fitted for Srinivasa Sastri Hall and a few taps were also ripped and stolen from the restroom in this premises.

These crimes took place in late April and early May. Clearly, these seem to be well-planned thefts. Our complaint about the Sastri Hall thefts is still pending - the cases have not been cracked this far.

Stray dogs in Abiramapuram

There are half a dozen street dogs roaming in 3rd Street, Abiramapuram and residents here fear they could be bitten by these dogs. We request GCC officials to take away these dogs.

Unpleasant incidents in temple

My mother, aged 67, frequents Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple in the evenings. Of late, she has been telling us that she has been feeling unsafe there; she says that there are miscreants inside and outside the temple who pass nasty comments. She says she has complained to the temple's security guard. We request the temple joint commissioner to check such elements.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times 1997 onwards. This week, we focus on March 1997.

Mylaporean is TTD jewellery evaluator (Mar. 29, 1997)

By Chitra Sivakumar

C. V. Pandurangan from Mylapore is an honorary member of the Jewellery Experts Committee of the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanam Board. He determines the value of the jewels and stones offered to Lord Venkatchalapathy by the devotees. On his first assignment, the jewels assessed were worth Rs. 750 crores, he said. Explaining the process of evaluating the jewels, Pandurangan said they first segregate the stones and evaluate them separately. Gold is melted and made into lockets with the images of the ruling god and goddess of Tirupathi. The lockets weigh 10 grams each and are sold by the TTD. Jewellery is Pandurangan's family business. He learnt the skills of the trade from his father, Venkatesan Chettiar, aka Bhairi. He resides at 94, New Street, Mylapore.

'Student-doctors' at Chennai Corporation school (Mar. 22, 1997)

At the first Standing Committee meeting held recently, Chennai Corporation Higher Secondary School (HSS) in Alwarpet was declared one of the "model schools" for the next academic year.

This is the only school in Zone X, which includes areas of Mylapore, Adyar, Thiruvanniyur and Taramani. S. Karikal Valaven, Deputy Commissioner, Education, said that a new concept of "student-doctor" will be launched in the coming year.

The student-doctors will be given the responsibility of creating awareness about personal hygiene among the students. With one Rep in every class, these heads will be provided with combs, hair oils, nail cutters, etc.

CBSE topper of Mandaveli gets special invite from Delhi (Mar. 29, 1997)

Siddharth Ramakrishnan, who topped the CBSE exams with a score of 484/500, received an invitation from the education ministry to attend this year's Republic Day parade in Delhi. He said that he was thrilled to be seated in the VIP enclosure, along with the vice president and the prime minister of India.

He said he was very excited to meet toppers from other states. Siddharth is a resident of 15, Norton Street, Mandaveli.

ENT conference held (Mar. 29, 1997)

By Chitra Sivakumar

The association of ENT specialists of India organised a three-day workshop cum conference at the Madras ENT Research Centre Foundation in R A Puram. ENT surgeons from all over the country participated. Dr. Lalitha Kameswaran appealed to philanthropists to support surgeries for hearing- and speech-impaired children.

Stage play on oil conservation (Mar. 29, 1997)

Railpriya recently staged a hilarious play, Ennai Konjam Gavani, at the Mylapore Fine Arts Club hall. This event was a part of the Oil Conservation Week celebrated by the Indian Oil Corporation. Uratha Sinthnai, a city forum, joined hands with the IOC for the celebrations. A folk music concert by Kulathur Thulasidasan was also featured during the celebrations.

● This column is curated by Kanaka Cadambi.

Brahma Gana Sabha hosted a Nama Sankeertanam festival the past week at the Dakshinamurthy Auditorium in the P. S. School campus. Artistes like Savitha Sreeram and Radha Bhaskar and their sishyas performed. Photo shows Suchithra Balasubramanian and artistes on stage for their concert.

Aadi Pooram celebration at temple on Dr Ranga Rd

By Our Edit Team

Aadi Pooram will be celebrated at Sri Muththu Kumaraswami Temple, located off Dr.Ranga Road, Mylapore, on August 14 from 5:30 p.m. onwards.

The highlight will be a special Thirupugazh music concert - of young artistes who will play on keyboards - these are students of teacher M. S. Martin.

Bangles offered to the ambal will also be distributed to devotees, along with prasadam, sponsored by Balaji Pattappa of the well-known Pattappa Catering Services.

Architecture students present studies on city streets

The trio from Mohamed Sathak Academy of Architecture seen with architect T. Vennila

By Our Edit Team

Teams from MEASI School of Architecture, Mohamed Sathak Academy of Architecture and Papni School of Architecture were awarded prizes for impressing with their projects for an event held in connection with Madras Day 2026 celebrations.

Nine teams of students of architecture signed up for this project which required them to choose a bunch of streets in any area in the city and study them – the architecture, public spaces and people’s use of them.

All the teams presented their study in multimedia format.

Teams studied areas like NSC Bose Road and streets of George Town, of Thiruvannmiyur and of Mylapore.

Architect, urban designer and educator T. Vennila judged the presentations and offered ideas and posed questions.

This event was held at Ranade Library in Luz and the space was provided by South India National Association (SINA).

Are snakes from Poonga crawling into Mandaveli campuses?

By Our Edit Team

Snakes have been spotted off Raja Street and Velayudha Raja Street in south Mandaveli, report residents here.

They say that these snakes possibly move out of the sprawling campus of Tholkappia Poonga and this movement seems frequent after a spell of rain.

The houses on these streets are on the fringe of the Poonga, on its northern side.

A staff of a private agency which handles garbage removal told residents that he was bitten by a snake that had coiled up under a garbage collection bin and had to be hospitalised.

Another staff of this agency said that snakes have been seen moving into campuses of apartments.

Community activist Ganga Sridhar says that Urbaser Sumeet will need to brief its workers who are posted in this area on how to manage the presence of snakes on the streets or under garbage bins.

Upanyasam on Gita: Chapter 2

Upanyasam themed on Bhagavat Gita - Chapter 2 will be presented by P.Rajaraman from August 22 to 24, 6.30 p.m. onwards at the Kalyana Nagar Association Hall, Mandavelipakkam. Open to all.

Celebrating music and art of A. V. Ragguprasad. Exhibition of paintings themed on Ramayana

By Our Edit Team

An art exhibition and a series of music concerts will be held at Kalakshetra's space in Alwarpet's Bheemana Garden Street (near Kirtilals Jewellery store), August 18 onwards.

This event is held to celebrate the life and work of A. V. Ragguprasad, a legendary, pioneer commercial artist, illustrator and cinema poster designer who became a student of painting at Kalakshetra under the legendary artist Sreenivasulu.

Ragguprasad was also a mridangam artiste - he was a direct disciple of mridangam legend Palani Subramanian Pillai. He worked at Doordarshan for several years.

Ragguprasad's series of paintings on themes from the Ramayana will be exhibited. Open till August 22.

30 people take part in Mylapore Heritage Walk. A special event for seniors

By Our Edit Team

30 people took part in the Mylapore Walk last Sunday morning, August 9; this event was part of the annual Madras Day celebrations being held in August in the city.

Two people, both Mylaporeans – K R Jambunathan and Sridhar Venkataraman – were the resource people and they shared their stories of ‘old’ and ‘new’ Mylapore as the group walked to 10 different points on the designated route.

The Walk started on the banks of the Buckingham Canal, after participants had assembled outside Mylapore Police Station which is itself a heritage space.

Jambunathan and Sridhar took turns to share their stories and they were spiced up with anecdotes that some participants shared.

People from K K Nagar and Perambur were here for the Walk. At least 20 people were seniors – this Walk was intended for seniors.

The group also dropped into the premises of Thyagaraja Samajam near Sri Madhava Perumal Temple, where the shrine of Carnatic music saint-composer is and where concerts are held regularly and then visited the newly constructed Sri Thiruvalluvar Temple, some 200 mts away – both points were not scheduled for this Walk.

The Walk lasted for about two hours and was free. The two resource people offered their time and knowledge for this event.

Madras Day celebrates the city every year in August and events are held by various groups / people across the city, voluntarily.

The events are listed at www.themadrasday.in

These two women have launched a small business in Mandaveli

By Baskar Seshadri

Two women have come together to launch a foodstuff and healthcare business in Mandaveli, a small one business as entrepreneurs they hope Mylaporeans will help them grow.

Rajeshwari and Priya of Mandaveli sell a variety of idli podis and rice-mix podis, sambar and rasam powders, pulogare and rava dosa mix - all home made. And they sell these products under the brand name of ‘Magic of Mylai’.

Also on sale here, is shikkakai and Nalangu maavu.

The duo operate from a nook located on Mari Street in Mandaveli.

They say that more products like health foodstuff and powders for cooking are in the pipeline. “We do not use any artificial colours or preservatives,” said Priya. “We promise the homemade taste.”

Rajeshwari can be reached at 97911 77170 and Priya at 99410 17251

The shop is at No.12, Mari Street, Mandaveli.

MRC Nagar community has fun at its annual show

By Our Edit Team

Families of MRC Nagar in R. A. Puram got together to take part in the local association’s annual community festival called ‘Shringara’ on Sunday, August 2, at Mayar Ramana Chettiar Centre (MRC Centre), MRC Nagar.

The festival provides a platform for residents to showcase their talents while strengthening neighbourhood bonds. There were a medley of music and dance concerts, fashion show, stage conversations and family-led entertainment which kept the buzz at the venue going.

Senior advocate P. R. Raman and Vikram Kapur, retired IAS officer were the special guests of the evening.

Shringara 2026 was made possible with the support of Savorite (Naga group), KUN Group and Chennai Diamonds. A few others also supported the fiesta.

Know all about Solar Power Systems at this Mela in Alwarpet. On Aug.16

By Our Edit Team

Citizen Consumer & Civic Action Group (CAG), a NGO based in Alwarpet, is organising a Solar Power Systems Mela on Sunday, August 16, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at C.P. Art Centre, Eldams Road, Alwarpet.

Present at this day-long meet will be solar system vendors and experts and officials of leading banks and of TANGEDCO.

Representatives of these groups will guide people to appreciate and understand the latest in rooftop solar systems available to them, all the state and private schemes that support this venture and the financing options besides focussing on a few examples of bungalows and apartments which have made good use of solar power.

CAG staff say that if your power bill is high, a roof-top solar panel system could cut it by up to 90%.

They say that residents in large apartments who pay stiff bills for use of common services like campus and indoor spaces lighting, working pumps and powering lifts, can reduce electricity costs by up to two-thirds.

"Costs on installing solar systems may seem stiff but the payback can be enjoyed in 4 to 6 years," said CAG's S. Muthukumar. "These systems are good for use for 20/25 years."

At this Mela, visitors will be briefed on government schemes and subsidies on offer to those who install solar systems.

Besides CAG, Asar Social Impact Advisors & Poovulagin Nanbargal are supporting this mela.

Entry is free to this event.

Lots of drumming . . .

Drums. Drums. Drums. Lots of drumming for the evening.

This was the music for guests at the 24th annual concert of Jus Drums group held on July 18 at Mylapore Fine Arts Club's auditorium in Mylapore.

Conducted by drummer Muralikrishnan, the students performed songs in Tamil, Hindi, English and also some movie background scores.

The highlight was the signature piece based on Pancha Boothas. Vocalist Sudha Ragunathan graced the evening and was all praise for the work of Jus Drums by Murali and sang three songs, all requests by rasikas.

Jus Drums School of Percussion is based in Alwarpet and offers training in percussion music. Call 9840046827

Hiccups for LPG consumers

By Our Edit Team

The e-KYC process that has been initiated by Indian Oil Corporation for Indane Gas is utterly chaotic, at least at the South Madras Gas Agency, Thiruvengadam Street, Mandaveli, say residents of this area.

Long queues of senior citizens, some 80+ in age and people with disabilities have been forced to make it to the agency's office to go through the process.

Obviously, the aches are faced by consumers who either bypassed an earlier communication or slept over it or were ignorant of it.

Consumers complained that staff at the agency are not very helpful, that the process of linking the Aadhar number to the LPG consumer's number takes a lot of time when the online servers slow down and blip and people are asked to come again and when copies of some documents like Aadhar have to be produced all over again.

Abhishekam of ambal at dawn: Aadi pooram celebration at Sri Kapali Temple

By Our Edit Team

The start of the Aadi Pooram celebration of Sri Kapali Temple, Mylapore held on Friday, August 14 morning was a quiet event, in which a small group of people participated.

Goddess Karpagambal was taken out in procession from the temple through Sannithi Street, South Mada Street and Tank Street and then placed in the mandapam located inside the tank (on its steps) on the eastern side.

The special abhishekam that followed was a detailed one and lasted for some 45 minutes.

Then, the ambal was taken into the temple in a procession. Inside, the goddess was decorated with bangles, as part of the valaikappu ritual. Regulars at this temple streamed in; most of them were women.

The mantapam was decorated with hundreds of bangles for this occasion.

On Friday evening, at about 5:30 p.m., the ambal was to be adorned in sandana kappu (sandal paste) and be seated in the valaiyal pandal. Later., the goddess, in a special alankaram, will be taken out in procession through the mada streets.

WRITING WORKSHOP

A Very Madras Story (Part 2)

The Madras Day
சென்னை தினம்

In the era of sequels that we seem to be living through, here is one more! Join us as we continue to explore the many facets of Madras through fiction in this second edition of a writing workshop with city-based author, Praveena Shivram.

This year, as we celebrate our first anniversary issue of 'Madras Mixture' (a small magazine devoted to writing on the city), we go one step deeper and work with the light and shadow aspects of storytelling.

Praveena Shivram is an independent writer and editor of 'Madras Mixture'. Over the past two decades, both her fiction and non-fiction have been widely published. Read more at praveenashivram.com

Over 100 people - men, women, teens and transexuals - took part in the annual thee chatti procession to mark the celebration of Aadi in Mylapore on August 10 evening.

It was raining hard even as participants hurried inside Sri Mundagakanni Amman Temple, Mylapore to take their place in the procession. Each person was handed the earthen pot and branches of neem and at the appointed time, lit camphor was dropped into the pot that contained small firewood pieces. The wood was afire and in minutes, the flames created a magical feel on that rainy, late evening.

Some women had pierced their mouths, some their lower lips and some, their eyebrows - this was their dedication to the goddess. The participants, dressed in red / orange clothes, walked down the main road, turned into a crowded street, even as the chanting grew into a frenzy, and then ended at Sri Kolavizhi Amman Temple.

The participants left the partly-burnt chattis in a corner, prayed to the goddess and as they stepped out of the temple to go home, it rained again, lightly this time.
