Parched temple tank: minister asks officials to study issue

By Madhan Kumar

State minister Sekar Babu visited the tank of Sri Kapali Temple on July 29 and discussed with officials the current state of the tank which now has only a pool of water around the central mandapam.

Officials of PWD, GCC and of Metrowater were present. The Mylapore MLA was also present.

The MLA, Dha Velu said that the PWD team has been asked to undertake soil tests and look at issues like clay composition and water retention while the GCC team has been asked to check the state of the four bore-well pumps sunk in the tank.

The Metrowater team has been asked to check the state of the SWDs that border the tank and lead into it to ensure rainwater is filtered and flows freely into the tank.

A day later, some work-ers were seen inspecting the borewell pumps.

RAINWATER HARVESTING EXPERT’S VIEW

How does rainwater harvesting expert Shekar Raghavan look at the parched temple tank issue?

- Point 1 / The ground water level in most parts of the city has gone down. One reason - extended summer, less rainfall last calendar year compared to 2023.South west monsoon contribution has also not been good till now.
- Point 2 / Groundwater level in Pelathoppu now is as low as 14ft below ground level. This is what the temple tank is reflecting.
- Point 3 / Dumping clay or any other material in the tank to retain water is not proper. Rather, ensure all rainwater harvesting systems, like drains, are 100% good to channel water into the tank

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

We parked our car at the gate of St. Thomas Garrison Church. Two aeroplanes dive down to land at the airport, inside 10 minutes. The evening peak-hour traffic headed to Butt Road adds to the muggy atmosphere. I have time between assignments; that is why I am at the foothills of what was called 'firangimalai', St. Thomas Mount.

We went up this hill when we were children. A rare church visit and a picnic. I had heard that nuns who had set up a convent here many years ago, took care of orphaned kids. I heard that babies would be left at their doorstep.

What I liked best on this hill then was the 70mm panorama to watch take offs and landings by the aeroplanes. A place for dreamers, I would say. Maybe not today; the mount has been pockmarked with structures and buildings.

I parked at the church gate to launch my August commitment - to write letters to whosoever is keen to get one one from me. And who leaves it to me to write what comes to me.

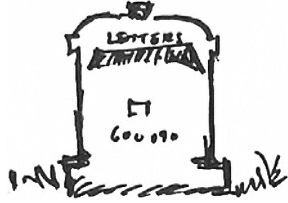

I did this some time ago and two dozen people loved my gesture though some letters were 'lost': like the one to 'Rags' Raghavan - I suggested that it may have been a tad unpleasant for unseen censors; I must write one to Rags; he will perhaps read it aloud so his pet dog enjoys the gesture.

Yes, to mark the Madras Day / Chennai Dinam season, this is my simple tribute to the city which has been mine for close to 60 years.

All my letters, some 14 people are in the Q to get one as of today, are themed on 'my city'. So Srividhya and Archana who must have received the first two letters, written at the foothills of firangimalai, will read a bit of the zone and my connect to it. They are lucky in that I had time to even doodle on the letter. Archana had told me that she loves handwritten letters and hand-made gifts. I hope mine will provide a fancy flight.

It was easy to share my letter-writing ideas with journalism professor Jaishaktivel who is a passionate PostCrosser, philatelist and local radio historian. He has curated a nice event of letter-reading and writing, PostCrossing and release of Madras post cards this August. (Details will be posted at www.themadrasday.in). Do attend; take your children too. Sit there and write a letter and post it.

As I wind up this column, I'm taken to the feature on post-woman Leela Kalaivani of Mandaveli Post Office we featured in a recent issue of Mylapore Times. The piece earned this selfless woman lots of warm words. Can I ask Leela to drop off a few of my Madras letters in her patch? For this, people from the area will have to share their names and addresses with me. To do this, DM on my Facebook page.

On Pitchu Pillai Street, other Mylapore streets in bad condition

■ Regarding the state of Pitchu Pillai Street; you have to appreciate GCC for laying a fresh road. Don't blame the local body for everything.

If we need some facilities in the long run, you have to bear some difficulties.

- N. Krishnamurthy

■ Refer to the state of Pitchu Pillai Street. There is no rainwater draining facility in many streets nor mud on the sides to absorb water.

- Vijayalakshmi Sivakumar

Pitchu Pillai Street: as on July 31

■ With respect to the state of dug-up Pitchu Pillai Street. GCC should be doing this work in phases instead of doing it for the entire length of the street.

This is typical of the work ethic by state agencies and contractors.

- C. N. Kamalakar

■ Most of the roads / streets in Mylapore are in bad condition. The road from Val-luvar statue to Nattu Subbarayan Street is really bad after it was dug up for local work. Complaints to GCC and local officials do not get a response.

- V. Visweswaran

South Madras Gas Agency not helpful to seniors

My 80-year-old cousin resides on Dr Ranga Road. As she remodelled her house, she was away for some time and has moved back now. She is unable to book gas through IVRS as she has not updated her KYC. South Madras Gas Agency wants her to come in person to update the KYC though she has informed them that she is not in a position to do so. She requested the gas agency reps to come in person to her house just as bank officials do for senior citizens, but the gas company is refusing to help.

MTC, do not skip Warren Road bus stop

Most of the 29C and T29C buses coming from Gemini towards Adyar do not stop at Warren Road bus stop. There are many passengers who depend on this stop to go to Saibaba Temple and nearby localities. MTC authorities must instruct their bus drivers not to skip this stop please.

- K. Sivaraman

Multiple issues of J J Road, Alwarpet

Erratic power failures for long hours are disrupting the lives of JJ Road residents. Power cuts are almost an everyday affair here. The power transformers placed at the junction of Kasturi-Rangan Road and JJ Road seems to be the reason. The electricity boxes are left open posing a danger to the public. Added to this nightmare, is the heavy vehicular traffic flow from Kasturi Rangan Road to TTK Road (JJ Road). Vehicles which want to avoid the Music Academy junction signal take JJ Road. I request TANGEDCO and traffic department authorities to look into the matter and do the needful.

MYLAPORE REWIND

Looking back, warmly

By Kanaka Cadambi

Curating the Mylapore Rewind column for Mylapore Times (MT) was an enjoyable assignment. The first one appeared in the January 4, 2025 issue of the newspaper. I've had to bow out at the end of July because of personal commitments.

Initially, I wondered what would and wouldn't click. I decided to work on it from the perspective of a long-time resident Mylaporean. The column should reflect how Mylapore has transitioned where required and how the hardcore Mylaporean has remained so, over the years. From computerisation of facilities, including match-making, to the introduction of the MRTS rail, it was all a necessary change.

And yet, I could not miss the fact that the intrinsic Mylaporean loves his kutcheri, drama and a bit of drama in real life. I decided to 'rewind' them all. It felt lovely to write about Sanjay Subrahmanyam, 'Bombay' Jayashree and Vijay Siva of thirty years ago.

Every issue unravelled a special memory. I came across features and news items about relatives and family friends. One feature was about a spate of robberies in Lady and Sir Desika Roads. My sister, her son and even our maid had found a mention.

The day I curated the column with an extract about the math whiz kid Sumankar, I called up Raji, then manager (later sub-editor at MT) and reminisced about how I'd missed meeting Sumankar's actress-sister Kasthuri by a whisker. I also remember editor Vincent's hearty laugh when I told him about the 'miracle Vinayakar' drinking milk.

The feedback from readers these past months has brought me great happiness. After 40-plus years in the writing profession, what readers say still matters to me. Mylapore Rewind is extra special because it was not just a rewind of what happened in Mylapore thirty years ago.

It was an opportunity to revisit my small family / wellwishers at MT - Vincent, Raji, Chrystal, Venu, the two Sumathis, reporters Chitra, Parvathi, Meera, Narayani, Bharathi and Janaky, and office help Shankar.

Obituary

Senior architect and an activist on public issues related to heritage, architecture and consumer rights, Tara Murali, passed away late on July 26. She was a resident of J. J. Road, Alwarpet. She was 75 years old.

Tara was the wife of N. Murali, a director of The Hindu group and president of The Music Academy.

She was a student of Sacred Heart School, Church Park, of Stella Maris College and of School of Architecture and Planning (SAP), Chennai.

She practised as an architect for over four decades.

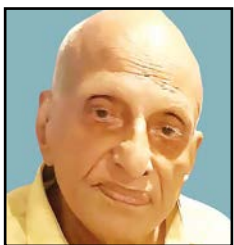

Tara was an activist in many fora; mainly on the city's heritage issues where she was in the lead in campaigns to conserve the core blocks of the headquarters of the TN Police on the Marina and the famed Queen Mary's College.

She was a trustee of Citizen Consumer and Civic Action Group (CAG).

Tara was also president of the TN Table Tennis Assn. and headed a TT players' welfare body. In the 1980s, she contributed significantly to the sport and to players' welfare.

She is survived by her husband, their son Krishna Murali, their daughter Kanta Murali and their families.

Prof. Dr Navalpakkam Varadarajan, 97, passed away on July 15 at his residence at 22/42, Archbishop Mathias Avenue, R A Puram.

Born on November 14, 1927 in Vellore, Dr. Varadarajan was the son of the eminent agricultural scientist Dr. N. Parthasarathy and Mangammal. His father, a plant geneticist, was a recipient of the Padma Shri in 1958. He had also received a gold medal from the Rural Development Agency of South Korea. These achievements instilled in young Varadarajan a deep respect for science, discipline, and service, his family said.

Dr. Varadarajan received his early education in Coimbatore and Palghat, completing his B.Sc. before entering Government Stanley Medical College to pursue MBBS. It was at Stanley that his lifelong bond with surgery was forged. He continued there for his master's degree in surgery and eventually joined the institution's faculty as assistant professor. His commitment to teaching and patient care saw him rise to the rank of honorary professor of surgery.

A visionary in the field, Dr. Varadarajan was among the first in south India to recognise the importance of vascular surgery as a distinct discipline. He established the vascular surgery unit at Stanley Medical College Hospital, laying the groundwork for what would become a vital service for countless patients suffering from peripheral vascular diseases, diabetic complications, and arterial disorders.

Through his tireless efforts, he trained and mentored generations of surgeons in both general and vascular surgery, many of whom went on to lead departments across the country.

Even after his formal retirement, he continued to consult and care for patients, driven by an unwavering commitment to healing and service.

He was an accomplished swimmer, a lover of music, and an artist who found joy in creativity. A familiar figure walking briskly along the Marina Beach in the early mornings, that seafront was his sanctuary for reflection and rejuvenation, his family said.

He lived in CIT Colony and later, on Dr. Radhakrishnan Road, before settling down in R. A. Puram.

Dr. Varadarajan's personal life was marked by quiet resilience. After the early loss of his wife Sudha, he carried the dual responsibilities of care-giver and professional with grace and strength, his family said.

He is survived by his daughter Preetha and son Raghu and their families.

Professor Dr. Varadarajan's family can be contacted at +60 11 23705490 / +91-9840415690.

D. Sundaravaradan, aged 79, passed away on July 26. He was a resident of Mylapore throughout his life.

He served as one of the trustees at Sri Vedantha Desikar Devasthanam for five years during the period 2010 to 2015. He was associated with this temple for over five decades.

His family said he was a regular at the Kanchipuram Sri Varadaraja Perumal Temple.

He studied in P. S. Higher Secondary School, Mylapore. He was a share broker and headed Kanchi Investments for some time; he worked at Mani & Co (a broking office) for a few years.

He is survived by his wife S. Choodamani; her contact 9444576601.

WHAT IS HAPPENING TO MY STREET?

By Our Edit Team

Many streets are being relaid by Chennai Corporation contractors.

One half of Solaiappan Street was relaid last night, said civic activist C. R. Balaji. One assumes the second half will be relaid soon.

Road relaying machinery is seen parked at the east end of Madha Church Road, part of which has been scraped.

Residents of some streets in the heart of Mylapore said that while the streets have been cleared of the top layer as required (milling), they have been left unattended for a week.

Nadu Street has been milled; that was four weeks ago. Residents said GCC contractor's men are not to be seen.

Mylapore Times photographer shot a photo on July 31 morning (photo above); this confirms what residents are saying - that the milled street has remained so for four weeks plus.

Pitchu Pillai Street and Chitrakulam North Street were milled some time ago but have not been re-laid yet, said Balaji.

Balaji said that Devadi Street and Appu Street have not been satisfactorily milled.

On Friday morning, Balaji said he noticed that Mosque Street was relaid, patch work was done on parts of Mandaveli Street and one half of Appu Street was relaid.

■ If you reside on streets that are dug up/ only milled but not relaid for long, WhatsApp 3 lines on the situation; add a photo. WhatsApp - 73056 30727

Mandaveli area residents want TANGEDCO to address problems

By Our Edit Team

Residents of Norton 1st Street in Mandaveli said that power supply failed thrice in a two-hour period this week and it resumed after a 20/30 minutes failure.

This happens repeatedly and is on for many years, said civic activist C. R. Balaji. The eastern side transformer connected to residences is alright and power resumes after a short break but there is much delay from the western side transformer, Balaji said in a complaint mailed to TANGEDCO.

Sometimes, high voltage in the supply badly affects bulbs, TVs and computers, Balaji said.

Balaji said that local area TANGEDCO must undertake a field visit and study the causes of power failures and erect additional a transformer as required.

Wow Wow at Rosary School

The carnival hosted by alumni to mark school's platinum jubilee was a big hit

Hundreds of guests at Alumera, the carnival organised by the alumni of Rosary Matric Hr Sec School have had warm things to say about the show. "Well organised". Interesting sales. Grand fashion show. Well-planned - these were the bouquets shared last weekend.

There were mini highlights through July 26, the day of the show. The felicitation of eminent alumni and leaders of the school management was one.

The other was hosting 60 retired teachers and three past principals - which allowed the alumni to interact and take photographs.

Most daytime events were conducted in the quadrangle, with past and present students participating in them freely. The grand, central staircase - an iconic place in school - was decorated for the event and alumni batches took group photographs here. The valedictory event - dance by Mahalaxmi and her dancers - seemed to have wowed the guests.

As did the fashion show.

Members of the batch of 1977 did a flash mob in the evening - their enthusiasm was infectious.

SCIENCE FEST IN CAMPUS

This show was named PS AURIX. The hint in the name let us know what it was all about - science.

P. S. Senior Secondary School is hosting many events to mark the school's golden jubilee.

This inter-school science fest, held on July 17 and 18, featured diverse science-based events aimed at promoting creativity and scientific thinking among students.

As classrooms came alive with the spoken and illustrated words and gestures and even what looked like a block-and-tackle game, P. S. School teams showcased science-theme models outside, with students drawing in visitors and their own, to stop and listen.

Said P. S. Senior student Anritha Ashok, "We provided a platform for students to present out-of-the-box ideas on various themes,"

Added her colleague Pranav Vijay, "Ours is the biggest school-level science fest in the city. The main theme this year was astronomy. We also encouraged our school students to present projects and have demos."
