ART EXHIBITION AT INKO. OPENS ON AUG.27

InKo Centre, located in the Boat Club zone, R. A. Puram is marking Madras Day with an exhibition titled LEGACIES – Memory, Traditions, Culture: Madras to Chennai. The show showcases eight artists based in Chennai who draw inspiration from the city but engage with issues that are universal and transnational in nature. This exhibition is part of the artistic conversations that InKo has nurtured over the years with artists in India and Korea, and the community has regularly shared best practices in the field of visual art.

These are the artists whose paintings are featured at this show - Dilip Kumar Kesavan, Karthikeyan Pitchaimallian, Kirubakaran, N. Preethi Umapathy, Rajesh R. V. Ramesh, V.R. Raviram and Sathya N Prabhu

The show opens on August 27 evening. Venue: The Gallery @ InKo Centre. On display until Tuesday, September 22

Certificate course in Sanskrit. Vivekananda College offers it. Starts in early Sept.

By Our Edit Team

Do you wish to learn Sanskrit formally and earn a recognised certificate?

Then you may sign up for the Prathama Diksa promoted by Central Sanskrit University (CSU), New Delhi and hosted by Ramakrishna Mission Vivekananda College, Mylapore.

The course is set to be launched in early September and admissions are open now. Anybody above the age of 15 can enrol; this includes senior citizens keen to learn Sanskrit the formal way.

CSU has recognised Ramakrishna Mission Vivekananda College, Mylapore, as a Center for Sanskrit Learning.

Photo: Alamy

This is a 120-hour comprehensive and well prepared certificate programme and classes will be held at the college campus on weekends. Not online. The course promoters say the final exam will be held in May 2027.

The study materials are prepared by renowned scholars.

The programme is supported by a dedicated faculty.

Vivekananda College has a Sanskrit department where courses at under-grad, post-grad and Ph D levels are offered. A small number of students attended these courses.

The fee for the course is Rs.1500.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Shobha Menon of 'Nizhal' calls me.

Nizhal has been a pioneering, volunteers-driven group that has focussed on protecting and propagating plant and tree life in our city.

Shobha has a small problem on her hands. She has curated a few 'Tree Walks' in connection with Madras Day. And one Walk is to be held inside the campus of Madras Museum in Egmore, a campus which conserves a few great and rare trees.

Shobha says she sought formal permission and now, a Museum staff says that for this kind of an event, they must pay Rs.100 per person, and make the payment in person and then hold the Walk. This unsettles Shobha and she seeks my intervention.

The Museum director is 'in a meeting', I am told when I call his office. So I discuss the issue with a sub-staff. He insists that there is a GO that states people staging events in the Museum campus like Walks and Talks must pay the fee.

This is ridiculous.

I post the issue on social media and tag the chief minister's office. And I suggest to Shobha that she should go ahead with her event.

Inside 24 hours, Shobha gets a call from a senior officer at the Museum. He apologises and asks Shobha to go ahead with the Tree Walk. Forget about the fee, he says. 15 people participate in this Walk.

How do we as residents and members of a community address public issues? Do we engage in a conversation? Do we pursue it hard? Do we go that extra mile?

Take the case of how citizens have reacted to what is the destruction of a large, once-verdant oasis like Nageswara Rao Park. But for the trees everything else was cleared, every new facility for the park was brick and mortar and then, work stops, the contractor and his men disappear, the MLA murmurs, the GCC staff keep mum and residents murmur in private.

We did not witness a group of 10 or 15 people question the plans for the park, which were all fancy ones - like food kiosks, theatre spaces, elevated seating and fountains and water pits. Nobody challenged on the ground the total wipe-out of all the plants, shrubs and small trees that made this a 'green' lung of Mylapore zone. Nobody stopped the concretisation of many areas.

Now, some faint protests have been heard. Too late. Can amends be made? Perhaps in some ways.

Are people ready to participate in community tree planting inside the park to 'green' it all over again? Or do we want Chennai Corporation to make amends the way it wants to and we be pleased with some pathways to walk and sweat?

Pathetic state of Luz Avenue

A quarter portion of Luz Avenue, the road that runs alongside the east side of Nageswara Rao Park, has not been relaid for months, long after some state agency dug it up for its work. Because of traffic diversions, this is a busy road, with lorries and MTC buses using it. Motorists are driven to ride on this kutchra, uneven side. Why are Chennai Metro and GCC not facilitating public utilities when people suffer due to Chennai Metro work?

Indian Bank's ATMs, CGMs frustrate users

I want to draw the attention of Indian Bank management to the non-working ATMs / CDMs located at various places in and around Mylapore.

On August 15, I tried to deposit cash through the CDM at Indian Bank, North Mada Street, Mylapore - it was not working (most of the time I face this issue). Then I went to the ATM near Rangachari Cloth Store - I was informed that there is no CDM facility there. Then I went to the Eldams Road booth - renovation work was going on - the ATM was switched off. Then I went to the C. P. Ramaswamy Road branch - machines were not working.

This North Mada Street ATM and CDM has been out of order frequently. Residents, senior citizens and shoppers depend heavily on this machine for withdrawal / deposit. Indian Bank must act quick.

Advice for music events hosts

I was an attendees of the Madurai Mani Iyer Music Listening event held recently. The event was terribly delayed. The host announced that the chief guest was on the way. Many people here were uneasy by the delay. Later, we noticed the chief guest outside the venue, talking on the phone. This kind of apathy and unaccountability should be called out and is contrary to what is needed to encourage Carnatic music rasikas in times when attendance at concerts is dwindling.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times 1997 onwards. This week, we focus on April 1997.

Abiramapuram primary school turns 60 (April 5, 1997)

By Chira Sivakumar

The Sri Venkataramana Primary School in Abhiramapuram recently celebrated its diamond jubilee. In 1937, P. S. Govindaraja Iyengar, K.S. Narayana Iyer and T. R. Threyambagam Iyer founded the school as there was no such facility in the neighbourhood. When it started, there was one teacher and a handful of students.

Today, there are 300 in the Tamil- and 500 in the English-medium sections. K. Yogeewari, the headmistress, said the school has produced many stalwarts. The Tamil section became a government school in 1964. Plans are on to construct a new building, Yogeewari said, adding that the neighbourhood, old students and the government were forthcoming with support.

Course on Indian culture (April 19, 1997)

The Sri Sathya Sai Organisations unit in R. A. Puram/ Mylapore is holding free classes on Indian culture for the students of classes X, XI and XII. The heritage of Indian culture, yoga, meditation and Indian philosophy are some of the subjects the course will cover.

Special guests at the 60th anniversary event of Sri Venkataramana Primary School opposing the idea. Leith Castle, located in the area, has lent its name to the street. The castle's current owner, Meenakshi Nageswaran, said it was first the Nawab of Arcot's fort and later taken over by Parry, a British tradesman. Arogiya Mudaliar, a PWD engineer, later bought it from Parry. She said her parents purchased it in 1937/38. Three generations of her family are living there. She has been here for 60 years. Though maintaining the property is difficult, both her children are keen to preserve its rich legacy. J. J. Stephen

Name change for Leith Castle Street? (April 19, 1997)

By A. Mangala Bhavani

At a recent Chennai Corporation zonal ward committee meeting, a change in the name of Leith Castle Street (off San Thome High Road) was debated. Local residents are strongly a resident of Sea View Apartments said, "Our apartments were built on land that once belonged to Leith Castle. There is no need to change the street's name which is linked to local history."

Sangeetha restaurant opens banquet hall (April 26, 1997)

By S. Janaky

Geetham, a banquet hall that can accommodate about 50 people and host social celebrations, has been opened at the South Mada Street branch of Sangeetha restaurant. Customers may book it on an hourly or per person basis. P. Rajagopalan, the restaurant chain's proprietor, said that a video projector and audio system are available at the hall. Adjacent to Geetham is Pallavi, a hall with a larger capacity.

Sanjay Subrahmanyam to sing at GNB Day (April 19, 1997)

GNB Trust and Saraswathi Vaggeyakara Trust are celebrating GNB Day on May 1 with a vocal music concert by Sanjay Subrahmanyam. M. A. Krishnaswamy (violin) and Umayalpuram Mali (mridangam) are the accompanists. At the mini hall of the Madras Music Academy.

THE SEVEN CHAMPIONS OF THIS CITY. RECOGNISED

By Our Edit Team

Seven residents of Chennai who have carved a place for themselves in the work that they pursue were decorated with the annual ‘Champions of Chennai’ awards at a gala event held at Dakshinamurthy Auditorium inside the P. S. School campus, Mylapore.

This is the 13th edition of the ‘Champions of Chennai’ awards and it was held on August 17 evening.

Dr Irai Anbu, former chief secretary of the government of Tamil

Nadu, was the chief guest. He presented the awards to the seven people. These are the chosen seven - seen in the photo here, from left to right - the chief guest is seen in the centre.

V. Saranraj of Mahanaim Boxing Club - chosen for his passion for and dedication to sport. Vema Srivatsa of Platelet Patron Charitable Trust - decorated for service in the health-care category. S. Ravi Kasi Venkattraman - Headmaster of Maraimalai Adigalar Govt. Higher Secondary School, Pallavaram - recognised for his contribution to school education.

R. Sekharan of Humour Club International, Triplicane Chapter who promotes programmes mainly enjoyed by senior citizens of the city - he was recognised in the Arts & Culture category. Hemant Srivatsa of Murray & Co., the legendary auctioneers now based at Gemini Circle - awarded in the enterprise category.

Agnishwar Jayaprakash of Garuda Aerospace - for their contribution to Science & Technology and Neeraja of Besant Memorial Animal Dispensary (BMAD) located in Be-sant Nagar which cares for hundreds of sick and injured animals / pets - recognised in the Social Initiative category. KSA Trust, based in Mylapore manages this unique project.

The second edition of the Quiz Champions of Chennai - meant for school students and conducted by KSA Trust earlier this year saw over 50 schools taking part.

The winners - the team of Padma Seshadri Bala Bhavan Senior Sec. School, K K Nagar - was felicitated with gift vouchers and a plaque for the school.

Valaikappu Evening

By Our Edit Team

The second half of the Aadi Pooram celebrations at Sri Kapali Temple, Mylapore held on August 14 drew hundreds of women to the temple.

This was the evening of valaikappu - rituals symbolising fertility, marital harmony and goodness all around.

That morning, goddess Karpagambal was taken out in procession from the temple, placed in the mandapam located inside the tank (on its steps) on the eastern side and a special abhishekam was performed.

The ambal was then taken into the temple in a procession. Inside, the goddess was decorated with bangles, as part of the valaikappu ritual.

The mantapam was decorated with hundreds of bangles of bright colours to mark this celebration.

That Friday evening, the ambal was adorned in a special alankaram and was placed in the valaiyal pandal created for this occasion.

Women volunteers took turns to distribute a set of bangles to women devotees, after these were offered to the goddess.

AADI POORAM AT R. A. PURAM TEMPLE

The annual Aadi Pooram festival was celebrated in a grand manner at the Greenways Road-based K. P. Puram Sakthi Vinayagar Temple on August 14.

The image of Sri Vishnu Durga was decorated with flowers and colourful bangles. After pujas and arathi, bangles, manjal and sacred threads were distributed to women.

The temple priest Ekambaram led the preparations with the help of residents of this area.

Thirai: new in booking movie tickets

By Our Edit Team

Mylapore-based MDnD which is into the promotion and sale of tickets for plays, concerts and entertainment the past eight years has now launched 'Thirai', a platform for people to book tickets for movies in theatres in Chennai.

Kalyan Kalyanasundaram, MDnD's promoter says that "ours is not just a ticketing platform but also provides snippets on the movies, the stars and stories behind the movie."

The company is in the process of signing up with theatres in Chennai now. It says that movie ticket booking will be made simple and can be done in three steps.

Abhishekam of Flowers Aadi celebrations take on different forms in different temple zones in Mylapore. Last week, over one hundred people, mostly women, gathered at Sri Mungadakanni Temple to collect a variety of flowers in their bowls / trays and join a procession that was taken out in the area. They returned to the temple and an abhishekam was performed there.

Luz Circle shops flooded. Chennai Metro barricades the cause

By Baskar Seshadri

Chennai Metro’s project work in Luz has already caused grief and pain for many shop owners and retailers. All because the shops got ‘barricaded’ and were left high and dry.

Now, shops like the ones in Luz Bazaar complex are getting flooded after a good spell of rain.

The recent case was on Thursday evening when it poured.

Rainwater entered a few shops and damaged some goods too. All because the Metro’s barricades have cut off natural water flow and stormwater drains.

This is yet another case to illustrate Chennai Metro’s indifference to the ‘inconvenience’ its project has caused to retailers and to people. Be it providing well-lit temporary bus stops, relaying of roads / streets that now carry ‘diverted’ traffic or repair of ‘blocked’ drains, Chennai Metro and civic agencies seem to care little for the ‘inconvenience’.

Nageswara Rao Park: GCC steps in to lay pathways for walking. No word on future of original project

By Our Edit Team

Work on 'reconstruction' at Nageswara Rao Park in Luz has re-started. It appears that this work is being undertaken by Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) – for there is no sign here of workers of the contractor who undertook the job and was at it for close to a year before he quit some two months ago.

Paver blocks, sand and cement were unloaded the past week and stacked in one area of the park. Two days ago, work on laying pathways for walkers began and by the looks of it, they are working at a frenetic pace.

GCC sources said that for now, the focus is to lay a complete pathway for walking inside the park.

It is not clear if this is a stop-gap job undertaken to address the protests and citizens' online campaign some people have undertaken on the 'ravaged' state of this park.

The park is still bald save for the trees across the campus; all the plants and shrubs were shaved off completely by the GCC's contractor. Fresh planting and nursing will call for a big budget and sustained work.

GCC officials of the area are mum on these issues.

Many features of the 'new-look' park like children's play area, badminton court, open-air theatre space and community activity space are not even half-done.

Pits dug up to create 'water bodies' are full of waste.

Members of some city-based civil society groups staged a 'silent meet' in the rear zone of Nageswara Rao Park, Luz on August 16, a Sunday to bring attention to the 'sad state' of this popular park and ask the city's civic body, the GCC to do all it can to restore it. They carried small placards with slogans that said - Give Back Our Park, Protect Urban Lung Spaces and A Beautiful Park Ripped.

Some of them say that all the concretised areas must be knocked off.

They had scheduled a meeting with the Mylapore MLA on Friday evening.

Meanwhile, despite the dusty atmosphere inside the park, some people take their daily walks here while some youth have begun playing in the concrete badminton court.

Artist and crafts teacher Shreya Suraj conducted two workshops for children on August 15 at Ranade Library to mark Madras Day season. In the first, children created a set of coasters. In the second, participants designed their own ‘Chennai’ cap. Mylapore Times and SINA supported this event.

Onam season Pookalam Contest.
On August 30 evening

By Our Edit Team

Mylapore Times is hosting a Onam season Pookalam Contest at Nageswara Rao Park in Luz. It is on August 30 evening, a Sunday.

Teams of two can take part in it - the contest is open to the first 20 teams who register for it.

Teams will be given a 3 ft by 3 ft space on a cemented space in the open air, to design the pookalam. They will need to bring the flowers and accessories they need for the creative work. The organiser will provide three varieties of flowers in limited quantities at the venue, which is in the rear zone of the park (near the rear gate).

The contest starts at 4.30 pm and lasts for an hour.

Prizes are for the makers of the best five pookalam.

The event is organised not only to celebrate the Onam tradition but also to highlight the need to use public spaces of the community for themed events that align with the nature of the zone.

Call Mylapore Times at 2498 2244 to register.

Pancha Bootha Bharatham

By Our Edit Team

‘Pancha Bootha Bharatham’ was the theme of the annual thematic Bharathanatyam festival of Natyarangam, which is promoted by Narada Gana Sabha.

Concerts were held from Aug. 14 to 18 at Narada Gana Sabha auditorium.

Every evening, dancers performed their interpretations of theme they had chosen - from prithvi (earth) and apah (water) to agni, akasa and vayu. Texts, verses and lines that illustrated the theme were inter-woven and presented by the accompanying artistes of vocalists and musicians.

The dancers included K. Sarveshan, Shweta Prachande, Navia Natarajan, Christopher Gurusamy and Harinie Jeevitha.

Scholar Dr. Sudha Seshayyan’s talk on the day’s theme preceded the dance concert.

50 YEARS OF P. S. SENIOR SCHOOL

Memorable Annual Day

By Our Edit Team

P. S. Senior Secondary School celebrated its golden jubilee Annual Day with a two-day set of events held at Narada Gana Sabha, Alwarpet on August 7 and 8.

The two-day celebration brought together dignitaries, distinguished alumni, faculty members, students and well-wishers - the celebration of the milestone of the school was not to be missed.

On Day One, school correspondent, P. S. Prabhakar, spoke on the highpoints of the school's five decades. The chief guest was T. R. Santhana Krishnan, chairman, Data Tracks, Singapore.

P. C. Ramakrishna, chairman of the school, traced the institution's growth and development over the years. Dr. Revathy Parameswaran, school principal, presented the annual report, highlighting the school's academic, co-curricular and extracurricular achievements during the academic year 2025-26.

The golden jubilee magazine called Panorama, was released on this occasion. The first copy was received by C. V. Krishnan, secretary, P. S. Educational Society.

Day Two of the celebrations was graced by Dr. J. Radhakrishnan, IAS, director, Anna Institute of Management and Training. Dr. V. Kamakoti, director, IIT Madras and an alumnus of P. S. Senior was also a guest.

Dr. V. Kamakoti fondly recalled his school days and encouraged students to pursue excellence not only in academics but also in co-curricular activities. "Please participate in maths, chemistry and physics Olympiads and make the best use of the opportunities available on the school campus," he said.

That evening, a book titled 'The Golden Chronicle' chronicling the '50 glorious years' of P.S. Senior Secondary School was released.

Distinguished faculty members were presented with the Vidya Ganapathi awards and Long Service awards. Student achievers who had excelled in academics and sports were also felicitated.

The finale featured a cultural show titled "Srinivasa Tirukkalyanam" - a blend of music, dance and Tamil theatre, featuring the senior students.

WHEN LUNG HEALTH NEEDS A CLOSER LOOK.

Advanced Endobronchial Ultrasound Technology, backed by experienced clinical expertise.
Now closer to Adyar.

A thin, flexible scope is gently guided through the airways. Ultrasound provides real-time images of structures beyond the airway walls, helping doctors assess them and, when required, obtain tissue samples for further diagnosis.

-  Examines airways and lymph nodes deep inside the chest
-  Enables targeted tissue sampling from hard-to-reach areas
-  Supports the diagnosis and staging of lung cancer
-  Helps evaluate enlarged lymph nodes, infections and other chest conditions
-  A minimally invasive procedure, performed through the airways without an external incision

Endobronchial Ultrasound may be considered when doctors need to evaluate:

-  Enlarged or suspicious lymph nodes in the chest
-  Suspected or confirmed lung cancer
-  Abnormal findings on chest scans
-  Lung infections or other chest conditions requiring tissue diagnosis
