Mandavelipakkam community discusses monsoon-related issues with local officials

By Our Edit Team

Residents of Mandavelipakkam who belong to the ‘Voices of Mandavelipakkam’ (VoM) group had a face-to-face meeting with local officials and engineers of state agencies to review preparations for the monsoon season ahead. They met at the GCC park on Lazarus Church Road on August 1.

The GCC team was briefed on the need to prune trees in the park and on the roadsides, clear pits of drains and remove silt. Metrowater team was asked to ensure SWDs were clear and there would not be sewage overflows.

Urbaser Sumeet team was asked to ensure garbage / waste left in street corners is cleared on time so that it does not float in rainwater and pollute the area.

Said Saroj Satyanarayanan of the group, “All the engineers and staff are young and seem to know local needs and issues well so we expect them to do a good job.”

The VoM community group covers ward 126, covering the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th Trust Cross Streets, East Circular Road and Lazarus Church Road and Norton Road.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

The monsoon can show many new worlds, if we care to stop and look. Ten days spent in south Kanara did just that to me and to my photographer friend, Rajasekhar.

We pitched our tent in a village for three days. This village is some 15 kms from the coast and is predominantly Catholic, their families tracing their histories to peoples who migrated for various reasons from the area of Goa. Many were hardworking farmers and worked on the lands to grow paddy. Many did well in life, with paddy being exported from these parts. One generation found newer pastures in the Gulf and their children have flown to the West, to study and then to make a life. This migration from these parts - first, to India's big cities and then to the Gulf, impacted the villages.

Today, there is a different kind of migration. The seniors who have been left to manage themselves in farms, now dominated by cash crops like coconut and arecanut, are finding it hard to manage their lives. So their NRI children have moved them to apartments which are springing up in the village centre; where access to hospital and church, market and transport, food and shops is easy and can be managed with outside help.

This movement is throwing up new demands and challenges. The head priest of the village church told me that he is opening up an unused hall in the church campus to create a club for seniors where they can play carrom and board games and have a cup of tea on any evening. But he doesn't have an answer to a senior's suggestion that a local caterer consider offering daily food service.

We often fail to recognise small but significant changes that take place in our backyards. Our neighbourhoods.

One small area in South Chennai that I have observed closely has been the main road that runs off what is called KVB Gardens in Raja Annamalaipuram. Kapali Vana Bhojanam Gardens, once the vast zone dedicated to lord Kapali. The pawnbroker, the groceries shop, the saloon and the pharmacy were all hole-in-the-wall operations serving a community which resides in box-like houses that crowd the four-feet wide lanes. Over time, the profile of the residents has changed, the main road is parking lot of hundreds of motor-bikes and all the shops are smart and inviting. There are even two ATMs in this zone today.

Have we debated the senseless declassification of residential zones as mixed / commercial zones which robs us of a quiet life?

Street hawkers provide character to Mada Streets zone

Hawkers back in business on South Mada Street, a day after they were cleared by GCC

This refers to news of clearance of street hawkers in South Mada Street.

It is important to recognise that street vendors are part of Mylapore's traditional character and provide a valuable service to residents, devotees, and visitors.

The objective should not merely be repeated eviction, but proper regulation. Mylapore's four Mada Streets can remain vibrant and attractive if vending is organised in a planned manner.

A few suggestions - Prevent encroachments that obstruct traffic.

Organise parking for cars, two-wheelers
Maintain cleanliness of this zone.

- S. Gurumurthy

Clear hawkers on Venkatesa Agraharam Street

The removal of hawkers on South Mada Street is a welcome move. Similar exercises are needed on all the other three Mada Streets as well as on Venkatesa Agraharam Street where buses ply. The buses struggle to negotiate due to narrow space. The hawkers can be provided space at the ground opposite to Ramakrishna Mutt which belongs to Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple. A license and monthly rental from the hawkers can resolve the issue of vending hawkers and platform shoppers.

- Narayan

Prune these trees please!

Residents of Devadi Street have asked Chennai Corporation to immediately inspect and remove two silk cotton trees that pose a threat to public safety. Branches and seed pods keep falling down. Even pruning these trees bis welcome.

- K. S. Prakash

Traffic Violations Streets?

Is two-way traffic allowed on Kennedy 1st and 2nd Streets? On Musiri Subramaniam Salai? On C P Koil Street and Mathala Narayanan Street?

- Ganapathi Vibhu

Overjoyed senior!

Thanks to the reportage in Mylapore Times on Janaki Ammal's 90th birthday celebrations at Ragamalika Apartments, the senior woman was overwhelmed with joy and she shared the news with all her family members in India and abroad.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times 1997 onwards. This week, we focus on March 1997.

Mylapore student claims he was kidnapped (Mar. 8, 1997)

By A. Mangala Bhavani

A Plus Two student of Mylapore's P. S. Hr. Sec. School claimed that he was kidnapped at a corner of Solaiappan Street. He was on his way to tuition class early that morning. The student said that when he was on his bicycle, a man hit him in the stomach and he fell down. He was then lifted and put beneath a seat in a mini lorry. After a while, he was dropped off at a place he didn't know. He said he saw a police van, approached it and spoke to the inspector who sent him in an auto to his residence in North Chitrakulam Street. Though a bit sceptical about the boy's claim, Mylapore police said they are investigating the case.

Foodworld to plant 300 saplings in R. A. Puram (Mar. 22, 1997)

Foodworld, the department store in Alwarpet from the RPG stable, recently joined hands with Exnora

International to launch a 'green' campaign. The company plans to plant 300 saplings in the R. A. Puram area immediately. In the pipeline are plans to green the neighbourhoods around all Foodworld stores located in T. Nagar and Anna Nagar. M. B. Nirmal, chairman of Exnora International, planted the first sapling outside the Alwarpet store. Raghu Pillai, the chief executive officer of Foodworld, was also present.

Mylaporean brings cheers to bus commuters (Mar. 15, 1997)

Thanks to a relentless fight by Mylaporean Rajini Shyamsundar, Parrys-bound commuters living near Sanskrit College and Vivekananda College need not rush to Jammi Buildings or Luz to board a bus. A direction from the transport minister says that both the regular and the LSS buses to Parrys will now halt at the bus stop diagonally opposite Sanskrit College on R H Road. A resident of Sir Sivaswamy Salai, Ranjini fought for this demand for two years.

Syndicate Bank opens exclusive Home-fin branch (Mar. 22, 1997)

A branch of Syndicate Bank, recently opened on R K Mutt Road, will exclusively handle housing finance. It was launched to "implement the home for the homeless policy", said R J J Arulaiyya, the manager. Besides the standard housing-related loan facilities, the bank will offer financial assistance to any government agency or non-government entity approved by TNHB for construction of homes and rehabilitation of slum dwellers.

National seminar on Subramania Bharathi (Mar. 8, 1997)

Bharathi Paasari, a Mylapore-based literary organisation, is conducting a seminar on Subramania Bharathi at Anna University's Guinness Hall on March 8 and 9. J. Sanjeevi is the secretary of the organisation, which functions at 25, Mandaveli Street, R A Puram.

Actor Sachu honoured with Iyakkunar Sigaram K. Balachander award

By Our Edit Team

Well-known theatre and film artiste who is popularly called Sachu, though her name is Saraswathi, was decorated with the Iyakkunar Sigaram K. Balachander Award on July 14 evening at Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan, Mylapore.

Arts promoter Nalli Kuppuswami did the honours in the presence of N. Ravi, Chairman, Bhavan's Chennai Kendra, K. N. Ramaswamy, the kendra's head and the-atreperson TV Varadarajan besides Bhavan's deputy director K. Venkitachalam..

The award, instituted by artiste 'Kavithalayaa' Krishnan celebrates the life and work of late theatre and film person, K. Balachander.

It is given at the launch of Bhavan's annual drama festival which ran till July 17.

Sachu is a great story-teller. At this age, with a few prompts, she can flood you with anecdotes. Not necessarily linked to the cinema world where she was a big star.

She loves to tell people that she is a true-blue Mylapore girl.

Sachu had lots of anecdotes to share with the guests at the award event – of early days spent off R. K. Mutt Road and her passion for dance.

"When dance guru Dhandayuthapani Pillai wanted to start classes outside Kalakshetra, he chose a place at my patti's place opposite P. S. School," she recalled. "It was not long before I got enchanted by classical dance."

She spoke of her entry into cinema as a child actor and her long career in films, especially those directed by K. Balachander. She spoke about her experience in Balachander's hit comedy film 'Bama Vijayam'. "Balachander sir was a master of timing in creating the comic sequences," she said.

She touched on films 'Poova Thalaiya' and 'Iru Kodugal', hinting at how Balachander, known for his female-centric and loaded scenes allowed Sachu to slip in and make things easy with her quiet performance.

Obituary

V. Vaikunth (Vaikunda Venkatachari), former Chennai city police commissioner and former director-general of police of Tamil Nadu passed away on July 10 at his residence in Bishop Gardens in R. A. Puram.

He was 89.

Vaikunth was in the Tamil Nadu Police for over 35 years and served in many important posts in the service.

He helped to establish the Tamil Nadu Police Housing Board (which oversees housing for police personnel across the state) and the Tamil Nadu Uniformed Services Recruitment Board.

He also coordinated key rescue operations during major events like the November 1976 floods.

He was the author of a book titled An Eye to Indian Policing: Challenge & Response.

He retired from service in 1995.

Vaikunth did his schooling at P. S. High School, and his collegiate studies at Vivekananda College and at Madras Christian College.

Vaikunth was a keen and committed Rotarian and doubled his support for community projects in the city, involving the Rotary Club. These projects covered road safety, prisoners' welfare and the less abled people.

He is survived by his wife and two sons.

One of Mylapore's well-known jewellers, Ashok Kumar (68), the founder of Raghavendra Jewellers, now called Mangaloor Jewellers, passed away on July 7.

The shop is located on C. P. Koil Street, Mylapore and the family resides in Alwarpet.

Ashok Kumar started his career by continuing the diamond jewellery business his father, Venkatesh Rao had set up in Mylapore in the 1950s. What was a home-based business was turned into a retail one, with Kumar launching a store for the sale of a variety of jewellery besides diamonds.

Kumar also oversaw the making of exquisite temple jewellery by his artisans, created to adorn the deities at many Indian temples including Sri Vedanta Desikar Temple, Mylapore, in Sri Anjaneyar Raghavendra Mutt, Sundareswarar Street and at the Raghavendra Mutt, Dr. Ranga Road. Besides kreedams and delicate jewellery for the gods, Kumar's team also made silver-plated doors and accessories for shrines.

Kumar was the quintessential traditional jeweller – warm in welcoming customers, listening to their ideas and needs and catering to their likes.

He and his family also provided milk for abhishekams at a few Mylapore temples. Kumar's daughter Nikhita said that her father visited Sri Kapali Temple thrice a day and was a devout person.

He is survived by wife, a daughter and a son.

Nikhita, his daughter, can be contacted on 99520 74547

Two thefts reported in Luz Circle zone

By Baskar Seshadri

Thieves are said to have ripped sections of the air-conditioners fitted outside the Indian Overseas Bank on Luz Church Road and made off with copper strips recently, late at night.

No attempt was made to gain entry into the bank premises.

In late June, thieves removed the air-conditioner fitted at the rear of Penguin Xerox shop on Kutcheri Road, gained entry and made off with about Rs.10,000 in cash that was kept inside, according to the owner of this shop.

Mylapore police are investigating both thefts.

'Kalapradarshanam' was the theme of the annual day event of Sivaswami Kalalaya Matric School, Mylapore which was held on July 29 at Narada Gana Sabha auditorium in Alwarpet. Students of each class took turns to perform on stage - classical and folk dances, skits, drama extracts and more.

Special koozhu at Aadi time at this Mylapore temple

By Our Edit Team

The Suyambu Nagathamman Temple off Mosque Street in Mylapore is a private temple, managed by the family of Krishnamurthy, the dharmakatha.

Its annual aadi celebration always stands out and is driven by support from the community of this zone.

The three-day celebration of what is called the 111th edition of the event was held last weekend, from Friday to Sunday.

Santosh, a priest who serves here every morning, said that abhishekam was done on all three days in a grand manner. Annadhanam was held on Saturday where over 200 people were served a complete vegetarian meal that afternoon.

The grand finale was held on Sunday. Using rice and ragi, vegetables and more, all donated by devotees as well as the family which manages the temple, cooks prepared the special koozhu in three large vessels. A symbolic offering was made to the Amman and then distributed among devotees.

Said Santhosh, “The koozhu made here is always vegetarian unlike in other temples. This has been a long-standing tradition.”

In mid-August, naga panchami and garuda panchami will be celebrated here.
