VINCENT'S JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

As we wind up 2024 here at the Mylapore Times newspaper, we are padding the routine plans and working on new ones.

We have never planned a 'The Year That Was in Mylapore' kind of feature which looks back at all the highs and lows that impacted Mylapore and its people. Although, a fun piece may make a good read and also a document of record.

We have never thought of putting out a calendar. But an idea related to it did pop up some weeks ago and when we bounced in on people who would have had to design and produce it, they wanted at least two months lead time. So we dropped the idea; but may take it up for 2026.

Much of our time in November and December is taken up by the annual Mylapore Festival, the street cultural festival we host in and around Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple on the eve of the Pongal festival. (www.mylaporefestival.in).

A festival held over four days, with some 25 events and over 100 artistes does need a lot of work and we have to dedicate time and effort to this unique festival even as we bring out the weekly newspaper.

This was a year when we pushed our online and social media operations. And they are starting to show some nice results. Currently, a team is putting out lots of visual coverage of the famed December Season and we realise that we are the only ones who cover the Season closely, visually, with some Insta videos going viral, across the world.

This push on the online and social media properties will also cover Mylapore Times in the new year; which will hopefully create the platform for communities and local businesses to showcase all that they do and achieve.

Mylapore Times newspaper also holds up changes in its pages. Two series end this weekend. Two new ones will begin.

The 'My Story' column is one. It was started on the newspaper's core philosophy that people are at the heart of a neighbourhood newspaper. And that their stories must be told. This column invited people from different walks of life to share a personal story. A Catholic priest who shared memories of his pre-teen, growing up years in San Thome, of a teacher who went back to dance after some 35 years, of a rower who is in another word when he rows down the Adyar river, of a food entrepreneur who had fun setting up her small business and has made it stand today.

This series is yet another social document that enriches the archives on Mylapore that the Mylapore Times is constantly contributing to.

Another hugely popular series was titled 'Jambu's Mylapore', where senior Mylaporeans K. R. Jambunathan took us to many nooks he knew well in the 1960s and 70s. These snappy videos, some 30 of them are featured on our YouTube channel called 'Mylapore TV' and are watched around the world every day.

Again, they enrich the social history records of Mylapore.

We have a few more small projects lined up for 2025. And we invite you to be part of them in ways you can.

Pavement on East Mada Street needs attention

The pavement on East Mada Street, opposite Aadhi Silks, has become unusable for pedestrians. People are finding it difficult to walk on the uneven surface.

Water stagnation is another issue. We have informed the local GCC authorities but no action has been taken, as yet.

Appreciation for TANGEDCO staff

I was at the TANGEDCO bill collection centre on Dr. Radha Krishnan Salai to make a payment.

I had made a mistake in writing the cheque leaf.

A staff member - Sundaramurthy - pointed out my error and asked me to pay using my ATM card. His kind gesture is appreciated.

More tips on KYC: for bank customers

This is more on KYC that banks ask of us.

Some banks are not accepting self-declarations, which is contradictory to the RBI's guidelines. Maybe the banks are exercising extra caution and have not updated their internal processes to reflect the new guidelines.

Here are few things that can be done - check with your bank's customer support, reach out to your bank's customer care to confirm their KYC update process and provide feedback about the issue, refer to the RBI's press release, share the RBI's press release (dated Jan.5/ 2023) with your bank's representative to clarify the guidelines and escalate the issue if needed. If the issue persists, consider escalating it to the bank's nodal officer or the RBI's customer complaint cell.

- Viswanathan

New Gyms in Park: why the delay?

Two gyms are being built inside Nageswara Rao Park in Luz. One for men and one for women, we learn from the local area councillors office. The project has taken an extraordinarily long time and may not be ready in the next few weeks. Why aren't GCC asking their contractors to put up a notice that gives us basic details on the project?

- R. Usha

Note to Mylapore Festival organiser

This is a small request to the organiser of the annual Mylapore Festival. Can all participants get a digital copy of the event's visual coverage? And, it will be nice if each person is given a small souvenir.

- Pramila Ram

Mylapore Calendar ?

It would have been a nice idea if a Mylapore-themed calendar for 2025 was printed and circulated. Perhaps with a novel design and useful content in it.

MY STORY

Warm Memories of San Thome

By CHARUMATHI RAMACHANDRAN

I was born in 1951 at No.10, Sullivan Street in San Thome, a road that runs parallel to Kutcheri Road.

D' Costa, Rego, Lobo, Matthew and Vaz were names of people who made our neighbourhood.

Midwife Lazaro delivered me at home. She lived on San Thome High Road and went from place to place in a hand-drawn rickshaw. My sisters and I studied at Rosary Matric Girls School; most boys of this area attended St. Bede's nearby.

My parents encouraged us to attend classes in school on Christian thought. These classes helped us. Sister Treas Xavier, an Irish nun, was the centre of our lives at school.

The best thing about school life were the cultural activities here. We would be either singing or dancing or acting in the many events that dotted our school calendar. School Day topped that calendar.

We were given time over weeks to train and learn the dance steps or the songs or acts and that balanced the classroom study and we liked this balance.

These cultural shaped me in my pre-teen years and helped me as I went on to learn Carnatic music under the great M. L. Vasanthakumari. The campus experience gave me confidence, poise and joy. Since my guru, who was fondly called 'MLV' had also studied in a convent we vibed well. She would say 'Hi' to greet me. Two events on campus remain vivid - Reverend Mother's Day when, on this rare occasion, the mother superior of the nuns met us all; we would drop off fruits we offered her into baskets kept around her. The other fun day was the day of the Fancy Fete.

Mylapore families wanted their girls to have a convent education. Rosary was the first preference. It didn't matter to the girls that their classmates ate meat at lunch time. I made it a habit of visiting the lovely old church on our campus, blessing myself with holy water and then attending class. Many others did this.

On many evenings, we would walk down to what we called 'Chinna Beach', the sands behind the Cathedral and have a great time playing and then eating 'sundal'. On other evenings, we accompanied our mother to Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple. We walked. San Thome was absolutely quiet in my teenage years. Save for the odd bus or car that roared down the main roads. Later, a few shops popped up near our school and created some buzz

Christmas was a time I vividly remember. Two weeks to Christmas, and we had choirs walking from one house to another, Christian and non-Christian, singing carols at our gates. We would gift them sweetmeats.

At Navaratri festival time, we invited our Christian neighbours home; they did visit.

My brother K. V. Mohan never missed the midnight Christmas Mass at the cathedral. All his buddies were Christians. Mohan loved the Dhol Dhol and Appams that the Anglo-Indian families made.

The bungalow where we resided still stands. It holds warm memories. It was on a five-ground plot; two grounds of garden. Often, the nuns would visit us and ask my Mom permission to pick flowers to decorate the church.

Jambu's Mylapore

K. R. Jambunathan takes us through nooks and corners of the Mylapore he knows best in this video series. This is a weekly series.

A Tram to San Thome Beach

The Marina beach was an integral part of a Mylaporean's pastime life in the old days.

While some people walked to the San Thome section of the sands, the others would hop into a tram that ran from Luz Circle down Kutchery Road and stop at a point where today are the gates of St. Raphael's Girls School.

People would walk down the lane alongside the wall of the Cathedral and get to the sands. For children, the beach was an exciting outdoor space.

Here, there was a circular public complex; here, the audio speakers would broadcast news and music of All India Radio.

At one point in the past, All India Radio was the sole source of news and information and music.

People would pack off home before darkness fell.

This section of San Thome had its own charm. Dotted by churches, convents and school campuses, often you would spot nuns and priests hopping from campuses to church and back. San Thome was the hub of Christians.

CHRISTMAS ALBUM

San Thome turns on the Christmas zing on the days leading to the festival.

Churches, schools, convents and residences hold up illumination of serial lights and twinkling stars.

The zing increases on Christmas eve as families head to churches for the midnight Mass.

And that zing was evident this December 24, much of it around St Thomas Cathedral.

At the auditorium of St Bede's School, an English Mass was celebrated.

The Cathedral came alive as people streamed in for the Tamil Mass at 11.30 p.m., with a carols concert preceding it - the Mass was celebrated by archbishop Rev. George Antonysamy, alongside brother priests including parish priest Fr. Vincent Chinnadurai.

After Mass, the archbishop symbolically cut a giant cake; cake pieces were distributed among the large congregation even as families and couples took selfies with the giant Christmas tree as backdrop.

Other churches in the Mylapore zone - those down San Thome High Road, on Lazarus Church Road, St. Mary's Road and in Luz and in Alwarpet also had Christmas Masses; services at CSI churches were held at the break of dawn on Christmas day.

Plans for shopping complex on South Mada St.

The original building that was home to the well-known Leo Coffee is now a mere plot of land on South Mada Street – the block was demolished in days, recently. Now comes news that this highly prized plot was sold out to a well-known chain store. The new owner intends to raise a multi-storeyed block which will have spaces for shops, stores and offices.

December 26 was a day to recall the tsunami tragedy that also hit this coast. There were some grieving women on the sea-shore off the Light House on the Marina among the 30-plus who gathered on the shore, prayed and emptied milk into the sea.

Their prayer - O Mother, safeguard us all from the calamities of the sea.

The Mylapore MLA joined them.

Post Office is home to stray dogs.
Some seniors are unhappy with their presence

Mylapore Post Office on Kutcheri Road had become a home for stray dogs but some members of the public are unhappy with them inside the premises.

The dogs, some 10 of them, roam inside the office complex, sleep near the entrance gates and even tail you to the counters.

But their presence inside the office is scaring some people. Seniors who are generally here to deal with deposits or book parcels, say they are not happy to see street dogs inside the premises standing close to them.

Post Office staff have been seen feeding the strays.
