DIGITAL COURSES BY MADRAS SANSKRIT COLLEGE

The Madras Sanskrit College's Digital Campus has been offering a variety of courses, some basic, some advanced and mostly held online to reach out to a large community. Starting from Feb 17, a new course called Naalvar Natramizh was launched, with 20 sessions and held twice a week.

The Naalvar Natramizh course is designed exclusively to inculcate deeper understanding of the Tevaram and Tiruvassagam hymns. Classes are bilingual in both Tamil and English.

Transliterations in English help students read the hymns even without Tamil knowledge. Classes are conducted online in Zoom. They are conducted by staffer Dr. S. Charulatha who has earned her doctorate in Shaivism.

Sanskrit College's Digital Campus offers a variety of courses - from Ayurveda Pravesika and Aramba Jotidam and Hitopadesa, mostly run online for a fee

Metrowater's 'Open House' hardly draws people

Agency says its team attends to complaints of water supply hiccups, sewage leaks

By Baskar Seshadri

Metrowater hosts Open House at its zonal offices every second Saturday of a month. This meet provides consumers the window to present grievances and seek details on their local needs to officers/engineers directly.

Metrowater's Zone 9 office is located off Dr Ranga Road (near the traffic signals end) and its team manages water and sewage issues in most parts of Mylapore.

Its superintending engineer could not be present due to some urgent meetings elsewhere; he has to be present at Open House meets. At the Open House held on Feb.14, the accounts officer (AO) of the area was available. Not many people turned up at this meet, held between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

We learn Metrowater is not undertaking any major work on hand now locally and is concentrating on existing issues and on one long-pending, final stage work – on P. S. Sivaswami Salai.

In general, the staff are busy handling issues like water / sewage leakage, disruption of water supply and sewer blockages.

The general number to reach Metrowater is 4567 4567. The AO of Mylapore can be reached on 81449 30409

Once the notification for state elections is issued, Open House sessions will be suspended, we are told.

'Open House' at school in Sanskrit College campus

By Our Edit Team

Ramaratnam Bharatiya Vidyalayam (RBV) is a school located on the campus of The Madras Sanskrit College in Mylapore. Collaboratively run by Madras Sanskrit College and Anaadi Foundation, the focus is on success through value-rootedness and well-being. 'While the medium of instruction is English (with NIOS Board registration), the core is Bharatiya, and this bridges the gap between Gurukula-inspired pedagogy and contemporary success,' says a media note.

The school is hosting Open House on Saturday, February 28, 9.30 a.m. to 11.30 am. for people to appreciate the system, and register for admission here. Children 3 to 12 years (Preschool to Std. 7) are admitted.

Subjects cover Sanskrit (Chittoor Board prep), Bharatiya ganitam, & Nakshatra Vidya (astronomy), Yoga, Ayurveda, & contemporary science besides Krishi (gardening), Kreedha (play) and art/music.

VINCENT'S JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Last weekend, I spent a day at the India Civic Summit. Held at the IIT-Madras Research Park in Taramani. A gathering of groups who work on civic and community affairs in various parts of India.

I have known the host of this meet, Oorvani based in Bangalore, for many years. And its co-founder, Meera K., invited me to anchor a round table at the Summit.

It was called Civic Circles and the theme at my table was 'Urban Governance for Enabling Inclusions'. There were a dozen people at the table, including Vaishnavi Jayakumar of our city who is known for her outstanding work in mental health care and disability issues.

I suggested we start with a sharing of 'stories' on our theme which highlighted how and why people were left out of plans and policies.

I began with two. How families, cleared from banks of the Buckingham Canal, the Cooum and the Adyar river, and re-housed in state-built quarters with limited facilities far, far away were affected in many ways. Especially the women and teens. This community's position was not considered well when the city made its plans to 'clean up'.

And the second story - of how and why a modern fish market set up off the Marina has flopped because the City Fathers did not understand how fish hawking works. Perhaps, the voices of women hawkers remained 'excluded' from the plans.

After the participants at the round table had shared their stories, I invited each one to make one suggestion that a city body in their backyard should consider.

'Street benches', said one of them.

I asked the young woman to elaborate.

'We need benches at street corners and off the pavements for people to take breaks,' she said.

My mind raced - to the streets-junction corner outside my apartment block where a recent resident of this nagar had got the local body to do up the space around a grand old tree and fixed two cement benches. Benches where salesmen and gig workers, maids and mothers, seniors on a walk and taxi drivers sat down - to chat, to make calls, to consume videos on their phones, to stare. Where youths turned the place into a bar and had to be chased away.

In a busy metro, people want spaces to pause, to sit in the shade, to take a break. How do we make our city's civic body understand such simple issues which also need inclusion?

Traffic signals not functional on busy R. K. Mutt Road

Traffic signal lights were installed on R. K. Mutt Road on the south Mandaveli section. But these are not functional. They are placed in a very strategic position in order to manage extremely heavy flow of traffic from Adyar side headed to San Thome side and traffic from Srinivasa Avenue flowing into R. K. Mutt Road. Traffic Police must look into this issue.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times, 1996 onwards. This week, we focus on July & August 1996.

Funeral Mass of Archbishop Dr. Arulappa held (August 10, 1996)

Thousands attended the funeral Mass for the first Indian archbishop of the Madras-Mylapore diocese, Dr. R. Arulappa held in San Thome. Archbishop Arul Dass James led the celebration of the Mass. Over 200 priests and many bishops were present. A distinct feature of the Mass was that the songs sung were all penned and composed by Dr. Arulappa. Raised as a shepherd boy, Dr. Arulappa was almost given up at a human sacrifice ritual in his village. He was, however, rescued and sent to Madras. He studied at St. Bede's School. He went to Rome for higher studies and finished his doctorate in divinity. He was ordained by the pope himself. Returning to India, he worked as a parish priest in the diocese churches. He later became the first Indian archbishop of the Madras-Mylapore archdiocese. Prior to this, there had only been French and Portuguese archbishops. A scholar, Dr. Arulappa has penned 100 books in both English and Tamil.

Vivekananda College gets a new principal (July 27, 1996)

Prof. P. Natarajan from the commerce department of Sri Ramakrishna Mission Vivekananda College in Mylapore has assumed responsibility as its principal. He takes over the mantle from Prof. Vittal. Natarajan joined the college as a professor of commerce in 1964. In 1985, he became the head of the department. The new principal said he had major plans for the college. This being the golden jubilee year of the college, he wants to reorganise the internal structures. He is currently busy with the admission process for the new academic year. He will continue teaching final-year commerce students.

'Dhaba' restaurant opens (August 10, 1996)

Shyam Group's Dhaba, a new restaurant, had a soft launch last week. It is located opposite the AVM Rajeswari Kalyana Mandapam on Dr. Radhakrishnan Salai. The interiors, with a creaky staircase, motor-tyre swings and rough-cut wooden doors and frames lend a typical highway dhaba look. The chief, Bhagwan Singh, is from Delhi. The traditional menu, engraved on a slate with a wooden frame, has on offer makki ki roti, sarson ka saag, phirni, chicken curries, fried machlis and malai kulfi. There is also a non-vegetarian menu. P. Vincent, Shyam Group's deputy general manager, said that after offering Chettinad and Chinese cuisines at their group restaurants, they wanted to set up a restaurant with traditional north Indian food.

Criminals paraded on Mylapore streets (August 3, 1996)

By S. Janaky

Deputy commissioner of police of the Adyar region, T. Radhakrishnan got the Mylapore police to parade a group of six criminals booked under the Goondas Act, through some streets of Mylapore. They were taken through Kutchery Road, Bazaar Road and Arundale Street. A police official said that the objective was to expose the criminals to the public. All the criminals were repeat offenders and had been eluding the police. They were arrested last fortnight. "This kind of parade can also deflate the egos of these goondas who think that they are the lords of the street," the official added. For the people of the area, it was a drama to watch.

Three streets named after M. S. Vishwanathan, Sirkazhi Govindarajan and Tiruchi Loganathan

Three streets in the Mylapore zone were formally re-named on February 18 and the new street signages were opened via video conference by chief minister M. K. Stalin.

De Monte Street in San Thome is now called M. S. Viswanathan Salai, in honour of the world-famous music composer-director M. S. Viswanathan who used to reside in a house at the top of this street, at the junction of San Thome High Road.

Family members of MSV, as the music maestro was fondly called by friends and fans, and Mylapore MLA, Dha Velu, were present at the streetside event while some family members were at the venue where the chief minister did the honours. A few MSV fans and well-wishers were also present at the street corner.

Also renamed were two other streets – East Circular Road in Mandavelipakkam was renamed Sirkazhi Govindarajan Road, named after the late, well-known playback and Carnatic and devotional music vocalist, and Norton Third Street as Tiruchi Loganathan Street, to honour the memory of a popular playback singer in the Tamil film world in the 1950s/60s.

Outside what used to be M. S. Vishwanathan's residence, fans shared memories and their feelings on the honour of the day.

Said Vijaya Krishnan Rajagopalan, convener of Mellisai Mannar Fans Association, "This is too little and too late." Shanthi Kumar, daughter of MSV said that the MSV family was moved by the honour. "That appa lives all over is proved once again," she added.

V. Raghavendhar of Nadigar Thilagam Fans Association said he would have been more happy if San Thome High Road had been renamed after MSV. And musician V. R. Sekar, son of late music maestro Kunnakudi Vaidhyathan said that Mellisai Mannar (as MSV was called), should be honoured with a Bharat Ratna award.

Local area councillors Revathi of ward 125 and Amirdha Varshini of ward 126 participated in the events. In September 2025, 5th Trust Cross Street, Mandavelipakkam was renamed as S. V. Venkataraman Street, after Venkataraman, a stage artiste and social worker and father of theatre-film artiste S. V. Shekar. This move attracted much opposition from a section of the community here.

The annual Mayana Kollai celebration of Sri Angala Parameswari Amman Temple in Narayanaswami Thottam, R A Puram held on February 16 was a grand affair, this being the 100th edition of the event, according to the organisers.

The procession, carrying the Amman in a grandly-decorated cart, began late in the evening from the lane off Greenways Road where the temple is located, took the route of R. K. Mutt Road, and turned around towards Durgabai Deshmukh Road before moving to the banks of the Adyar river alongside the Muthamizh Peravai campus where the final rituals were conducted late evening.

Families stood outside their houses to welcome the Amman and offered prayers and flowers on the procession route. The temple zone was decorated with rich illumination of arches and images of Amman.

Ash Wednesday was observed in all local churches on February 18. It marks the beginning of the season of Lent, a time for prayer, penance, repentance and works of charity. During the Mass, the priest smears ash on the foreheads of people to signify that 'man is dust and to dust he shall return'. At the St. Thomas Cathedral, San Thome, archbishop Rev. George Antonysamy celebrated Mass and applied ash on people's foreheads.

Shivaratri Snapshots

By Our Edit Team

A unique feature you get to witness in the Mylapore zone for Shivaratri are the scenes of groups of people moving to each of the seven temples of lord Shiva, all located within a 2/3 kms radius.

There are a few who even walk to some of these temples though many have the facility to undertake this midnight prayer circuit on a bike or in an auto.

And so, around midnight of Sunday, February 15, and at the dawn of a new day, Mylapore zone was as alive as it always is during the day.

The biggest crowd was at Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple, with people congregating here, taking part in the abhishekam and many staying on while others undertook their 'pilgrimage' to the other Shiva temples. A large posse of police kept close watch to ensure the busy area was secure.

At Sri Veleeswarar Temple, artistes on stage performed bhajans and songs, allowing people to join them in singing.

At Sri Apparswamy Temple, women took turns to light oil-lit lamps while groups of families sat around in the open, awaiting the abhishekam here.

Volunteers and temple staff prepared a wholesome prasadam at Sri Karaneswarar Temple. A plate had panchamirtham, pongal and sundal and children were seen enjoying the spread.

People were seen crossing Dr. Radhakrishnan Salai to visit Sri Theerthapaleeswarar Temple on Dr Natesan Salai, Triplicane, which falls under the saptha sthanam temples list. The HR & CE department has set up large theme sets around the illuminated stage on the open ground off P. S. High School, with concerts and theme presentations for this occasion, through the night and into dawn.

Art by All

By Our Edit Team

“Heritage Hues” was the theme of an art exhibition by students of R. A. Puram-based artist and art teacher, Priya Natarajan

It was held at C. P. Art Centre, Alwarpet, on January 24 & 25.

The show featured the works of about 50 people, young, adults and seniors.

All of them learn art at Priya’s two art schools: Lil Studio – for children aged 5 to 18 and Blank Canvas – for adult learners, up to 80 years.

The artworks explore themes of Indian heritage - monuments, culture, festivals, traditions, textiles, food, and everyday life—across multiple mediums including acrylics, watercolors, pencil work, and mixed media.

“We gave ourselves three months to prepare for this show,” said Priya. “Our students feel good when their work is put up at a show like this.”
