This restaurant serves yummy buttermilk free at its gate

By Baskar Seshadri

If you happen to visit Hotel Chaitra on P S Sivaswami Salai's eastern end, you cannot miss the pot of buttermilk which is offered to guests here, free of cost.

Raghavendar, the restaurant's partner, says he was motivated to do this because of the severe summer that affects many people who are out in the sun.

Karuveppilai and kothamalli and a few sliced green chillies are added to the buttermilk which makes it a yummy treat in 40 degrees heat.

The butter milk is stored in a clay pot and served every day

VINCENT'S JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Jambu alias Jambunathan shares a flyer. A new coffee bar is opening that morning. It is called Light House. I have seen that name elsewhere; a clothes store and a snacks bar, metres away from it; all in the Marina lighthouse zone.

I dig into that flyer. Coffee in a dawara at five bucks. Really? Jambu tells me this is a launch offer. The going price of coffee in Mylapore is Rs.20/25. Or has that gone up due to gas prices?

Roving community reporter Baskar has meanwhile checked out this place. He is happy it will open as early as 4.30 in the morning. One more place for him to savour his favourite potion. But he warns - hence, the coffee will cost 30 bucks. Ha ha!

I am on my way home, past Sangeetha in R. A. Puram, and I sight a new signboard. Bessy Bhai Biryani. Stylish logo, bright board set against a shop that must be 8 ft x 18 ft.

Between a brightly-lit juices shop and a waste paper mart. Foodies tell me that this Bhai got famous when his truck offered 'affordable' biryani off Bessie Beach.

Food places are popping up like a rash in our neighbourhoods. Wrong word to use. Like mushrooms in the wild after a good spell of rain.

The mushrooms we now see off C. P. Ramaswamy Road - ice creams, Udipi specials, Starbucks and Hocco, juices and chaats. The spots we check out in the south end of TTK Road - sandwiches, pastries and breads, Irani chai and patties. The cluster that is growing on P. S. Sivaswami Salai.

Some time ago, the inner streets of Alwarpet, Abhiramapuram and R. A. Puram were the chosen spots for bistros, cafes and restaurants.

The ones that are popular also draw the ire of residents; as clients use these streets as parking spaces. Thankfully, unlike Koramangala, there isn't loud music at the midnight hour.

Walk down Marina Loop Road after dusk. Even the kutti snack carts look stylish, with illumination and designer signboards.

The dawara may be making a comeback. But foodies want some snazz today.

Builder hijacks public space

'Smashed' pumpkins are a danger

On New Moon days, people continue to break pumpkins on busy streets / roads. Bike riders are often at risk of skidding and meeting with accidents. Those who follow these practices must also dispose of the pumpkin pieces.

Senior citizens' woes on St. Mary's Road section

Chaos happens every day on St. Mary's Road from the Devanathan Street corner to the R. K. Mutt Road junction in the evenings from 4 to 8 p.m.. MTC buses have to face a 'tsunami' of vehicles coming in the opposite direction - from Mylapore and beyond. Besides the vehicles, many vans/cars are parked on this busy road.

This leaves pedestrians like me, senior citizens, no place to walk. The pavements are occupied by vendors. We request that a traffic policeman be on duty here in the evening hours.

- Rama Prabhakar

Plea to Muthu Street residents

Despite repeated warnings from sanitation workers, some residents of Muthu Street, Mylapore continue to dump garbage near an electric transformer. A public garbage bin has been provided near Ramesh Store on Appu Street for proper waste disposal. Residents must use it.

Plea to MTC. By a senior

Some of the long distance MTC buses on routes like 102X (Thiruporur to Island Grounds), 109 (Kovalam to Island Grounds) are not stopping at the bus stop opposite Indian Bank on San Thome High Road though they stop at all stops on this route. This is causing hardship to elders like me. Can MTC officials brief staff on this route to ensure this stop is respected?

Vergheese Bakery's cake contest (Dec. 28, 1996)

The ongoing cake contest by West Circular Road-based Vergheese & Sons Bakery will wrap up on December 30. The results are to be declared the next day.

Chitakulam cleaning, renovation: third attempt (Dec. 28, 1996)

Chitakulam is in a bad condition. The four walls have collapsed, and the steps leading to the water are broken. About three months ago, Corporation officials began cleaning and renovating the tank. However, the work came to a halt because of the rains, said N. P. Ramajayam, Mylapore MLA. On December 25, Mayor M. K. Stalin inaugurated the cleaning of the tank, the MLA added.

The work is expected to be completed in four months. According to Ramajayam, Rs. 12 lakh has been received as endowments, and another Rs. 12 lakh will be raised through the government or as donations from well-wishers.

Banu Krishnan's Tanjore painting wins prize (Dec. 28, 1996)

A Tanjore painting, by Banu Krishnan of Vas-antha Apartments in MRC Nagar, has won a prize at the Mahatma Gandhi centenary competition held at the Victoria Technical Institute (VTI). There were over 350 works on display. Banu, a postgraduate in zoology, said that fine arts fascinates her.

Alwarpet resident's illustrated bio on Nehru (Dec. 28, 1996)

By Chitra Sivakumar

V. Krishnaswamy, a resident of Alwarpet, plans to distribute to school children free copies of his illustrated biography of Nehru. This is to help children learn about people they should have awareness of, said the writer. The book is in English and Tamil. Krishnaswamy had originally planned to bring out a big volume for the Nehru centenary year. That did not happen, and he opted for this small, almost pocket-sized book, especially for schoolchildren. Krishnaswamy has retired from active service. He resides at 3, Lambeth Avenue, Alwarpet.

Exnora goes to HC against MRTS (Dec. 21, 1996)

San Thome School Rewind Time

By Our Edit Team

In summer, the Montfort Indoor Stadium in San Thome can be a boiler. Last Sunday evening ( June 7), about 100 people did not mind the stuffiness, despite the whir of two dozen wall fans.

They were here to celebrate the 50 years since the 1976 batch of San Thome High School passed out of this celebrated campus.

In their midst were the Montfort Brothers who manage the schools, a few retired teachers and the current school principal Rev Bro. Johnson.

The journey of the 1976 batch was presented by R. Swaminathan. This was the first batch till 1976 to achieve cent percent pass results in XI Board exam. Its cricket team won the prestigious SMSSA trophy and was runner-up in TNCA tourney for schools.

To mark this occasion, 12 smart boards donated by the batch were symbolically commissioned.

This was also the occasion to launch the school's alumni association - this far, each batch ran its own meet-ups and networking. A website is on the way and a call has gone out for alumni to register online.

Thankfully, the formal event ran its course quickly on the day the city recorded 40 degrees.

As the 'old boys', mostly 1976 batch members who wore blue Tees, dug into the snacks, school time memories were shared.

A time when boys residing in streets off Kutchery Road would time their walk to school so that there were five or seven or even ten boys making it to the campus together. A time when the majestic cars of the Chettinad family were the stars on a quiet San Thome High Road. A time when the entire student community could watch good movies screened on campus on the weekend. A time when senior boys eyed the girls who were in the hostel at the Cultural Academy located opposite the school.

A time when school cricket stars were celebrated.

Some key alumni who attended the meet included Gandhi Kannadasan, V. Chandrasekar, retired area manager for south-east - DHL Courier and Deepak Toshniwal, MD of Toshniwal Brothers.

Some 1976 alumni were accompanied by their wives.

- Inputs from I. Raman

Smita Joshi, a professional photographer based in Mylapore held a two day workshop on the basics of photography last fortnight. Seven people attended it. Classes were held at Ranade Library and its neighbourhood.

This event is part of a series of events organised by Mylapore Times on themes like writing fiction / non fiction, photography, journalism, illustrating, journaling and the like at this venue.

SINA provides the space.

A Jack here, a Jack there

This summer we spotted some places where jackfruit trees flourish

By Kanaka Cadambi

If it's summer, then it's the season for jackfruits and mangoes. Whether you buy it from the vandikaran or a supermarket, the distinct aroma of the jackfruit is unmissable. And Mylapore has pockets of jackfruit trees in backyards we do not spot easily.

Take the ones in a plot in R A Puram 1st Street; they have their own story. Originally part of a private home's garden, the trees remained in place when the old house gave way to apartments. Every season, there is a yield of around 20 fruits. A few fruits are distributed among the families residing in the apartments.

All the fruits on the front side are given to wholesalers. "This year, the fruits on the front side are not so good. We'll have to see what needs to be done," said a resident who wished to remain anonymous.

Elsewhere, in the heart of Mylapore a set of trees presented a bumper yield this year.

"It's a dwarf variety. So, the length of the whole fruit on maturity is a foot long," said the householder here, also keen to be anonymous. "The kernel is usually pulpy and golden yellow in colour. It's delicious when fully ripe. The tender, raw jack can be cooked."

Yes, fruits get stolen. "Somebody seems to know there are jackfruits here!", the resident said. We understood why she was not keen that the address be made public.

Off Warren Road, Narayani's family has just enjoyed a plateful of juicy jackfruit, which grows on a tree at the rear of this apartment campus. It was here when the plot was re-developed. And there are still a few fruits on the tree.

And in Pelathope, the original palla thope of Mylapore, the Ramkumar's still take care of a few jackfruit trees that remain lush in their backyard. Ramkumar, advocate and environmental activist, says that only a few houses in the area now have these trees. "They still yield good fruit," he said.

WAS PELATHOPE REAL?

Was Pelathope once a jackfruit zone in Mylapore?

Long-time residents here say they cannot vouch for the local natural history.

But when its long-time resident of the 19th century, said to be a zamindar resided here, much of the area was a jackfruit orchard. Later, the area was plotted and sold and many of the plot owners who built houses here were the Who's Who of the Madras Bar and judiciary.

The Mylaporean who came back to promote Tamil and music

By Kanaka Cadambi

Abhiramapuram resident, Kumudha Gomatam, has never shied away from being different.

She opted for home schooling for her two boys and gave up a good life in the US to return to India. In the US, she managed products at a start-up that encouraged creativity in K-5 children and was part of a music band called Tillana.

Back in India, she switched over to experimenting with new, unconventional methods to take Tamil culture and Carnatic music to the new generation. She has her hands in many pies. And she is tasting success.

For instance, she has taken the nottu swaram, Shyamale Meenakshi, to children "in a hip-hop beat and with playful English lines", as she describes it. Through this experimental medium, she takes kritis and prabandams to the young. She attributes her choice of medium to "the struggle to place Tamil in a modern scenario".

the arangetram of a 50-year-old lady, Suman Chandra. The padam touches the less-known aspect of goddess Parvati yearning for a girl child. Another interesting creation was during the pandemic, wherein Mother Earth makes a plea to humans.

Kumudha plans to pen more songs on women and themed on Sangam literature. "The boundaries of a patriarchal society are a disappointment to many women. They should break free and express themselves," she says.

Kumudha may be reached on 9740555088.

Music Academy in 2006, writing songs and creating music is not new to her. On the eve of International Women's Day this year, Kumudha noticed that there were no strong inspirational women-centric songs readily available. "To address this, I wrote, sang and created a video titled 'Veni Vidi Vici Vaadi Thamizhachi'. My song traces 2,300 years of Tamil women in history," she explained.

Kumudha's passion for the Tamil language was honed during her schooling at Lady Sivaswamy Ayyar Girls' Higher Secondary School. It continued through her graduate studies at Stella Maris College. She had written a padam for
