Schools opened for the new academic year on June 2. And the buzz that surrounds the school zones of Mylapore returned. At a few schools, there was a special prayer assembly. At St. Joseph's Primary School in the campus of the St Raphael's Girls School in San Thome, teachers greeted students at the main gate, with flowers and toffees.

Community donates veggies, fruits for finale of temple fest

By Our Edit Team

The annual Anna Pavadai festival was held recently at Sri Sakthi Vinayagar Temple, Kesavaperumalpuram, Greenways Road, R A Puram.

This festival is observed on the conclusion of the agni nakshathram period of 25 days every year. This year, this period was from May 4 to 28.

During the hottest days, the presiding deity is kept cool by providing a constant shower of rose water (panner dhara) from a Dhara Paathram hung above the deity which is refilled with panneer contributed by devotees 24/7.

To mark the conclusion of this peak summer period, the deity is offered a variety of fruits, vegetables and flowers donated by devotees and by local vendors.

The temple presents a veritable fruits and vegetables show with this decoration.

After the evening arathi, the fruits are offered as prasada to the people present. The vegetables are sent to charity homes for community cooking.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

It is not easy to convince a coconut palm climber to negotiate a mango tree. I have been trying to do that with the man who trundles every other day down the neighbourhood streets, glancing at the heads of the palms whose owners can give him a job.

I think the mangoes on our tree are ready for harvesting but besides coaxing the man, his rate is not going down well with our community. We made it to our terrace last week just to survey the crop on the tree top and we witnessed a bumper.

The images of our mangoes flashed past me as I sat at a recent workshop. Organised by Citizen Consumer and Civic Action Group (CAG) which has its office on Eldams Road, it focussed on solar power in the community sector, and arranged for an interaction between experts, suppliers, media folks and the rest.

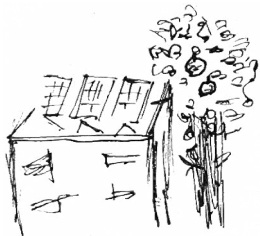

There have been lots of hiccups in the domestic solar energy policies which have put off people who would like to adopt it in small measures. I am told that now, many issues have been ironed out and people will find many features attractive. Attractive to people who pay stiff bills to their power supply agency and want to tap the sun and bring down those bills.

Some years ago, I too wanted to set up a simple panel for my office and for my residence. I gave up on the office plan because we are tenants in a property of the state and we wouldn't know our fate as far as rentals went. And I was keen on the panel for my apartment because after the 'work from home' style more or less became permanent, I felt the sun could burn the right spots in my power supply bill. But my idea got tossed around the community and dragged on.

At the workshop, I understood that people in apartment blocks of 12/16/ 20 flats did not easily agree on all the issues for solar power, with tenants showing less interest and their flat owners cold to the idea. Then, there seemed to be disagreements between the old and young Gen. And then, there were people who said 50,000 bucks in a FD made better sense than investing in a joint solar power system that saved on bills!

But what is convincing residents in small apartments to look at the sun is the big bill they pay for common utilities. If that bill is between Rs.6,000 and Rs.8,000, and the math for solar power is understood and they don't mind the investment, then many are now opting for a system that cuts down the common utilities bill.

How do we convince more people who stand to benefit from the sun? Promote Local Champs; communicate their stories in their neighbourhood, arrange for house visits. That is an idea that CAG may work on and see if it works.

Traffic Police: vehicles on J J Road need 60 secs of 'green'

Vehicles on J J Road taking the turn at the TTK Road junction are given just 25 seconds to do so; it takes the first set of cars over 5 secs to respond to the 'green'. At peak hours time, only 6/7 cars move on for the 'green', so vehicles pile up on this narrow road. Traffic Police must give cars on J J Road at least 60 secs during peak hours.

- V. Ramesh

Traffic Police, please act

The haphazard two-wheeler parking on R. K. Mutt Road near BSS Hospital, Mandaveli causes nuisance to the public. Can the Traffic Police look into this?

- M. Chandrasekar

Speed breakers in R. A. Puram: please redo

Rubber speed breakers on 4th Main Road, R A Puram were removed two months ago but there has been no action on relaying new speed breakers. Also, a low height speed breaker opposite Sangeetha restaurant that was laid recently hardly serves its purpose.

- Krishnaswami

Median in R. A. Puram is not enough; Traffic Police to note

There is a median on 2nd Main Road, R. A. Puram, opposite the TUCS medical shop. Buses from C P Ramaswami Road and pedestrians use this crossing. The median is not sufficient for long buses and lorries and many a time, the vehicles get caught up.

It is a nightmare for pedestrians as the long buses turn sharply at this point where space is less. For smooth movement, it is necessary the median be shifted at least 3 feet away from the present point.

This will avoid accidents. The other day, one lorry carrying gas cylinders broke the concrete median. We request Traffic Police to address this issue

- K. V. K. Ramachandhiran

Appreciate duo's response to SOS

The report on the brother-sister duo who came to the rescue of a senior woman who was assaulted and robbed in Mylapore was timely. The duo must be lauded. We must respond to SOS calls; not keep to ourselves.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times, 1995 onwards. This week, we focus on Nov., 1995

Mid-term exams rescheduled in Mylapore schools (Nov. 18-24, 1995)

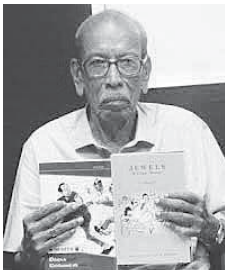

By A. Kanagam

Some schools in Mylapore have rescheduled mid-term exams because their students are participating in the cultural show that will be presented during the inauguration of the SAF Games. The Games are scheduled to begin in Madras on December 18. Fifty students each from Lady Sivaswamy Ayyar School, Rani Meyyammai Girls Higher Secondary School and Children's Garden are participating in Cherry Dance, to be presented on the opening day of the Games. Ten substitute students from each school are also being readied for the event. Rehearsals are in full swing at St. Bedes' in San Thome.

Mylaporean wins Kumudam short story prize (Nov. 18-24, 1995)

Writer Viswanathan (Charukesi) has bagged the second prize at a short story writing contest hosted by the weekly Kumudam and Sankara Netralaya. Charukesi is a resident of Abhiramapuram.

Writer Charukesi

There were 6,000 entries in all. The judges included P. V. Ramakrishnan (PVR), the deputy commissioner of Madras Corporation V. Irai Anbu and Kumudam editor Malan. Charukesi has been writing for the past 40 years. He has been associated with Kalki and the Indian Express and scripted over 300 short stories.

Elevated MRTS station near Luz Bazaar (Nov. 18-24, 1995)

Inaugurating the Mass Rapid Transit System (MRTS) this week, P. Narayanan, the chief publicity inspector of Southern Railway, said that the Mylapore and Luz section will be ready in June 1996. The elevated station will be located near Luz Bazaar, he informed. There will be a total of 300 trips from Luz to Beach every day and every train can transport 2844 passengers, he added.

Celebrating 50 years of vidushi Vedavalli's music (Nov. 18-24, 1995)

Carnatic music artiste R. Vedavalli was honoured by her disciples for completing 50 years in the field. A function was organised at Srinivasa Sastri Hall in Luz. Eminent personalities such as T. M. Thyagarajan, Mani Krishnaswamy, B. M. Sundaram and music patron S. V. Krishnan participated in it. Vidushi

T. Muktha did the honour of draping the ponnadai for Vedavalli. A teacher for around 25 years, Vedavalli was associated with the Teacher's College of Music Academy and the Government College of Carnatic Music, R A Puram.

Honorary doctorate for two Mylaporeans (Nov. 18-24, 1995)

M. Gopalakrishnan, chairman and managing director, Indian Bank, and S. V. Narasimhan, industrialist and philanthropist, were awarded honorary doctorates at the convocation ceremony of Annamalai University. The Citizen's Committee of Madras recently felicitated Gopalakrishnan and Narasimhan at a function held at Hotel New Woodlands in Mylapore.

Divya Rajan wants to hire puppy sitter

By Our Edit Team

Alwarpet resident Divya Rajan adopted a 3.5 months old Beagle recently and named him ‘Mango’. Being a certified canine rehabilitation specialist, Divya has many cats and dogs coming to her Rehab and Fitness for Pets Centre for hydrotherapy, underwater treadmill, laser, oil massage, stretching and more.

Divya is super-busy in the mornings and she says Mango was not comfortable with many other animals around him. This led Divya to advertise for a puppy sitter.

“I have been getting calls continuously. Some come and visit Mango as well. I expect the puppy sitter to not be finicky about cleaning the puppy. I trust my instincts and that of Mango’s before selecting the puppy sitter,” she said. She wants the person to be at work from 7.30 am onwards for three hours.

The brahmotsavam of Sri Vedantha Desikar Temple was held from May 28 to June 6. On the day of the garuda vahanam procession, children created their own version of the vahanam and participated in this procession

There are a few hawkers on South Mada Street who are at their spots through heat and rain. Like this duo who hawk alongside the east end of the tank of Sri Kapali Temple. On one recent rainy evening, they were at their spot. Selling drumstick leaves - Rs.20 for a bunch, and drumstick, Rs.20 for two. They hawk here only in the evenings

Course in drama, mine and communication. For teens

By Our Edit Team

TalkAct Production's space in San Thome says it is a 'one stop place to explore drama, communication skills, mime and more'.

Tasneem, who manages this company, says that the students here did very well in the Trinity College (London) theatre exam and also had a 'successful' stage performance.

Talk Act is now open for admissions for 2025 - '26 for Speech and Drama & Effective Communication classes.

A 10-month course includes preparation for the Trinity exam and a stage performance for students to explore theatre.

Open to children in the 8 to 14 years age group. For further details contact - Tasneem at 9025146101.

Admissions for courses of TN Govt Music College

'We cannot pray in smelly place'

By Our Edit Team

J. S. Jeyakarthi, a writer, film-maker and yoga trainer from East Abiramapuram has appealed to Urbaser Sumeet - 'please move away a garbage bin placed outside the fence of the tank of Sri Kapali Temple on R. K. Mutt Road' because it is at this spot that many people stop and offer prayers.

He says that the spot, south of the MTC bus shelters, allows people to have a clear view of the temple and its gopurams and that, through the day, people who cannot make it to the temple, stop here and say a prayer.

But the location of the bin makes this a smelly place. He says he has told the Urbaser supervisor and GCC staff to move the bin away; it is done for a day and then it gets back to the original spot.

"They must understand the reason for this request," says Karthik.

GCC seals upcoming sports facility in San Thome

Local GCC officials have sealed the development of an indoor, multi-sport facility that was being built on Nimmo Street, San Thome. This indoor facility was meant for cricket, football and volleyball.
Some local residents objected to this project, saying the narrow street would get congested once the sports facility was set up. They complained to GCC.
In the meanwhile, it is said that there were some issues among the partners of the project. Recently, local GCC staff inspected the space and sealed it, citing violations.

MATH IS ENGAGING THESE GIRLS, LEADING THEM TO SMART CAREERS

About 200 students are in the under-grad mathematics course at Queen Mary's College. The smart ones get chosen by companies who are into AI

By Our Edit Team

Two months ago, mathematics under-grad students from 14 districts of Tamil Nadu presented projects based on given concepts for an event which was called Tamil Nadu State Math-sTech Innovation Summit. The event was hosted by Queen Marys' College at its Mylapore campus and curated and funded by the TN State Council for Science and Technology.

The event excited many girls who attend the under-grad and post-graduate math courses which Queen Mary's College offers. For, it provided them the opportunity to learn and understand at close quarters ideas presented by math students from across the state.

At Queen Mary's, there are about 240 students in the UG course (Tamil and English medium) and 41 attend PG courses besides the 19 who are working on their doctoral projects in the math department, now in its 76th year.

So what is encouraging girls who hail from Thanjavur and Thiruvallur, Vellore and Kanchipuram to pursue math at this state-aided college for women which was founded in 1914 ?

Dr. N Jansirani, associate professor and head of the mathematics department explains.

Girls who hail from economically-weak families but have excelled in math / sciences in their Class 12 studies and exams turn to Queen Mary's because the state-aided college offers low-cost education and arranges hostel accommodation and many are aware of the reputation of the math department.

She says that in recent years, at campus placements, many companies like Mahindra Tech, CTS, Barclays and TCS and have chosen students who have done well in pure math.

"They prefer students who are good in pure math than in computer science or applications because their needs are in the artificial intelligence (AI) zone and such students can be moulded faster and better," says the professor.

This trend during the annual placement season has created enough buzz for girls who are good at math to seek admission at Queen Marys. They seem to be assured that they have a good chance of getting a good job if they excel in academics and have some impressive projects to show.

Prof. Jansirani, an alumnus of Queen Marys, says that she and her team of faculty members (14 regulars and four guest lecturers) encourage the girls to participate in math-themed seminars and short courses held elsewhere in the city. "We want the girls to be in the know of current developments and trends," says the professor.

Those who prefer to choose the academic stream after passing the under-grad course, go on to attend QMC's post-grad course and some move out of the campus by the Marina and enrol for the Ph D programmes offered elsewhere.

Here then is a college where maths seems to be engaging young women and leading them on to interesting careers.

Monkeys pop up in Mylapore now and then

By Baskar Seshadri & Ganga Sridhar

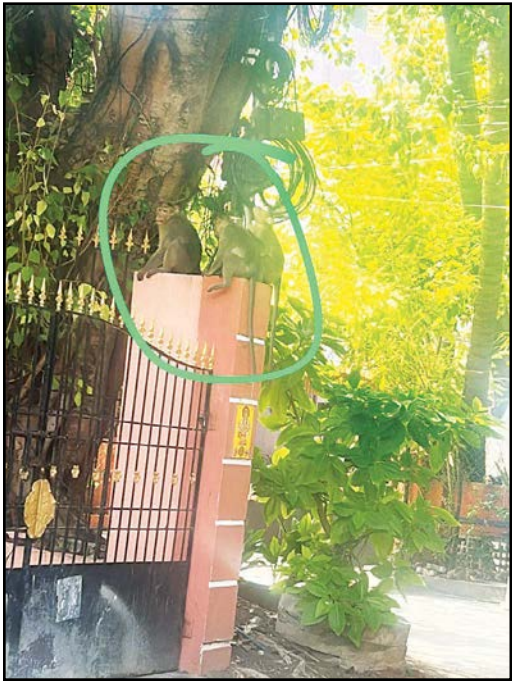

A well-grown monkey was spotted walking last week on the parapet / boundary walls of many houses on Dr Ranga Lane, off Dr. Ranga Road. Not many householders noticed the monkey: it took its own time to hop from one house to another and disappeared into the trees in the locality.

Monkeys pop up in the Mylapore zone now and then. Last week, a group was all over Raja Street and Kandaswamy Street, Mandaveli. Last year, they were in Raja Street for months, barging into kitchens and ransacking

“When people secure their apartments and the animals do not get food or water they move out,” said a resident. Another resident said, “They open taps and drink water and leave it open for us to realise the water tank is empty. We had to innovate and out-smart them.”

Residents said that Forest Department staff are slow to respond to SOS calls. When they arrive, they ask residents for snacks to use as bait for the monkeys. “The staff just hang around and leave,” said one resident.

Some years ago, a group of monkeys used to raid houses in Abiramapuram / Alwarpet, visiting this area often. The Forest Department staff had to be called in and they trapped a few monkeys and took them away.

In Mandavelipakkam zone, residents have spotted the odd monkey hop from house to house but rarely. Local resident Fabiola Jacob said that monkeys are seen around but once in a while.
