VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

I remained in bed on the Monday when it rained. There are some simple, harmless pleasures in life that must be enjoyed. The patter of rain outside my window in this torrid May was pleasant.

An hour later, I walked down to our backyard. And stopped - to the calls of koels. Bird conversation was on and I wanted to overhear it even if it did not make sense to me. It certainly added to the niceness of a wet morning. I recorded the bird calls, holding my camera against a wild creeper that hugs a tree.

Five, white hibiscus looked happy.

And the water lily had bid goodbye: I was late for its final show!

A day earlier, a garden lizard had surprised me in another corner. This one was well-grown and its face turned red as we stared at each other. We have had a few baby lizards around but not one of this size.

The sight took me to my school days when the rough boys in our group would use a sling bought from the Irulars and try to knock down a blood-sucker, as we used to call them.

A day earlier, I noticed that one section of our street was paved with fallen yellow flowers from the avenue trees. I spotted Hema, the friendly Urbaser Sumeet worker, waved out to her, handed her a bucket and asked her to pack it with the fallen flowers. I dumped the lot into the drum where we recycle garden waste. This summer, we have been clearing lots of flowers and they seem to make manure rather fast.

The drum is also the graveyard for the split or half-eaten baby mangoes that drop from the giant tree in our campus. At the end of the year, I may spot four or five mango saplings at different spots in the backyard.

There is a lot of animal and bird and plant life around us; even as we plaster the earth. Nature somehow finds a place between the high-rises in our colonies.

Every day, a lone black butterfly visits our campus. I have never worked out why it sits on the curry leaves trees instead of checking out the flowers. Perhaps, it nests there?

Soon, I will have to deal with the odd staffer of the local unit of the civic body. The one who doesn't like our bougainvillea running wild like a natural umbrella onto the street. He says it affects the vehicles. And I have to trim the hybrid bamboo whose leaves are embracing the TANGEDCO transformer.

Thiruvengadam Street needs urgent attention

The condition of Thiruvengadam Street at the junction of Venkatakrishnan Road is messy and seems to have been unnoticed by the civic authorities. The road becomes extremely difficult to use after it rains, especially for two-wheelers.

GCC, how can you allow bunk shops here?

How can GCC allow shops to function on pavements and roadside? Mylapore Times reported a glaring case on Venkatesa Agraharam Street. This is now a busy road with MTC buses plying on it.

We don't have pedestrian-friendly platforms.

Pradosham: a suggestion

I had a good darshan of the lord, watching online the pradosham at Sri Kapali Temple, Mylapore recently. One suggestion to make here - persons carrying the lord should not wear banian / shirt. Traditionally veshti and mel thundu are worn by such people. In the video, I saw persons with T-shirts / shirts carrying the lord in the procession

SEASONAL FISH. GET IT ON THE MARINA

By Our Edit Team

There is quiet on the shores of the Marina now. Among the fishers community. For, a 61-day fishing ban order is in place; it ends in mid-June. The ban is an annual practice to conserve marine resources and protect the spawning season of fish.

So the sale of fish locally is limited. But if you cannot do without seafood, you can head to the pavement fish hawkers off Marina Loop Road.

During this season, some fishermen sail out in ordinary boats, not too far into the sea and look for catch.

These fishers do this almost throughout the year. They sail either at pre-dawn or in the afternoon.

On the pavement off Nochi Kuppam and Nochi Nagar at one end and off Patinapakkam at the south end of the road, you will see fishers clearing the catch of day and spreading it out for sale.

Last week, sankara (snapper), mathi (sardines), salai and kavalai were on sale.

The catch is small. So regular shoppers time their arrival at the hawker spaces and snap what they like, assured that the fish is fresh. Get here around 5 p.m. for good buys.

Yes, there are people who always look for prawns, vanjiram and pomfret or crabs. These are also on sale but are sourced from elsewhere and taken out from cold-storage.

Fisherfolk who go on long sailing trips use the time to repair their nets and gear.

1976 batch of San Thome High School: 'old boys' and their families meet. Golden jubilee event in 2026

By Preetha K.

The alumni of the 1976 batch of San Thome High School had what they called a 'family meet' as a prelude to the golden jubilee celebrations of their batch, planned for next year.

Called – the San Thomeans' 76 Family meet – 2025, the event was held at Gandhi Nagar Club, Adyar on April 22.

"Out of a class of 61, 42 'old boys' had come. As many as 15 came with their spouses. It was nice to see them dressed up as per the colour codes given. While women were asked to wear sky-blue colour sarees or chudidhar, men were given specially-designed T-shirts," said Raman, one of the organisers.

The event had a scheduled flow – it started with singing the Tamizh Thai vazhthu, followed by a minute of silence for the departed teachers and students, a felicitation ceremony, games and good food.

Four 'old' teachers - V. Jayaraman, A. Ondiveeran, K. T. Thomas, M. L. Rathinaswamy – were honoured with a shawl, memento and gift. Three of them recalled their time at the school.

This is the first batch of alumni of this school to host such an event.

He credits school principal Jayanthi Narayanan and her team of teachers for this record.

Special children like these four are allowed to appear for three subjects and one language whereas regular students appear for two language papers. They took the exams at St. Louis Institute, Gandhi Nagar, Adyar.

"This exemption is given because the hearing impaired find it extremely difficult to handle multi languages," said Srkanth. The special children also get 30 extra minutes at each exam.

Since their teachers accompany the students to the exam centre, guide them to their desks and are at hand to clarify issues that a paper may pose, these students are at ease while appearing for the exams.

The Clarke School is now open for admission for hearing impaired, deaf-blind and intellectually affected children. The school is located on 3rd Street, Dr. Radhakrishnan Salai, Mylapore.

Luz Circle hawkers open bunk shops near M K Amman Koil station

By Madhan Kumar

Hawkers who used to run their business around Luz Circle have begun to set up shop on the road leading to Mundagakanni Amman Temple MRTS station in Mylapore.

They had hung on to their patches in Luz long after the area was barricaded for Chennai Metro work, staged protests after they appealed for an alternate hawking space that was slow in coming and some carried on their business that was hurting.

But when the Metro work expanded and ate into the pavement off Luz Church Road where the stalls were located, all of them had to shut shop

A few bunks were set up on Kalvi Varu Street but had to be removed after the local community objected.

So the roadside, off the MRTS station, was chosen to set up stalls and this week, a few opened for sales.

Urban Design internship: to build cultural map of Mylapore

At the 'Open House' event held in March

By Our Edit Team

Pelathope Urban Living Lab (PULL) hosted 'Open House' in March. Now, it is announcing a two-month Urban Design internship based in Chennai.

SKDO, in collaboration with Public Landscape Urbanism Studio, is hosting this programme.

Last year's cohort had developed a crowdsourced cultural map of everyday practices in Mylapore, which was launched at the Open House. These tools helped surface the rhythms, routines, and cultural layers of the neighborhood through participatory design and storytelling.

This year's cohort will build on that foundation — by expanding and deepening the cultural map and calendar, while also developing pilot projects that test ways of activating public spaces and engaging residents through people-centered design in Mylapore, says a note from the hosts.

Interns may begin joining from June 1 2025 onwards. Stipend paid to chosen candidates: Rs. 15,000/month.

Application deadline is May 27. Send your CV, cover letter, and portfolio to internships@skdo.in.

Venkat Raman's first fiction book is out now

By Preetha K.

The first book of Venkat Raman V. – The Murder of Gabbar – has just been released. A banker by profession, Venkat Raman is also an internationally published researcher.

“Every story is built towards defeating the villain. I wanted to write about what would happen if the villain got killed in the very beginning. This book is about how DSP Gaurav investigates the murder of a notorious gangster – Gabbar - and controls the violence in the city. My hero is a flawed person,” says Venkat Raman, who has a bachelor's in computer science engineering and master's in management.

Venkat Raman says he has been writing poems and blogs for over 20 years, and it is only during the pandemic that he digitized the work.

“In 2005, I reworked the Harry Potter story and created my own version of it.

It was a 600 pages handwritten book. Unfortunately, it was lost when we shifted from Cuddalore to Chennai.

Even in college, I used to write short stories which used to get circulated across classrooms,” adds Venkat, who is already in talks with a reputed publisher for his next book which is a fantasy set during the COVID times.

Published by Anecdote Publishing House and represented by TBB, ‘The Murder of Gabbar’ is now available on Amazon and in bookstores.

Venkat Raman can be contacted through his Instagram handle @vvramanwrites.
