Though summer has peaked the past week, May 23, last weekend was a windy day since dawn. Rough winds, grey skies and a dash of a drizzle. And the Marina was the place to enjoy this rare break in the stuffy climate.

VINCENT'S JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Why don't you promote a Matrimonials section?, queried Charumathi Ramachandran, a senior vocalist.

She was responding to the Mylapore Times social media promo for Jobs adverts in the Classifieds.

Charumathi, who grew up in San Thome and has 101 anecdotes on the area, the people and the life there in the 1960s and 70s, also has a great sense of humour.

So I took her suggestion with a pinch of honey.

'Actually, these online matrimonial sites are only making money; they are not of great use,' she said.

She had some food for thought and I may have to mull over the points she raised.

This week, we launched a space for Obituaries and Remembrances.

A space where the community can use to book alerts for those who say goodbye and to those we wish to remember, be it on their birth anniversary or on the date they moved on in life.

Again, a few readers made this suggestion. Solely because they were keen that Mylaporeans got to know of a passing because the person had lived or worked in Mylapore for sometime.

We have seen the Classifieds and the Displays Adverts sections in our newspaper evolve and take on different hues. There was a time when we ran a section where people could list 'used' goods they wished to dispose of at low prices; the adverts were free, first come first serve. We discontinued this section because the patronage was poor.

We are now mulling over the idea of launching an online Smart Staff service. A space where people looking for jobs can list their bio and skills in 3 lines - people like clinic assistants, sales execs, drivers, handymen, medical services providers, cooks and clerical staff, Tally and GST-qualified people of Mylapore.

There are many CA and law firms, large and small format stores, clinics and hospitals, schools and tuition centres, restaurants and cafes who prefer people who reside in the Mylapore zone. Perhaps, our online resource will work both ways - for the youth seeking employment and for local businesses and professionals.

Also being discussed are services for seniors that can be advertised. Now and then, our office gets calls / messages from abroad of people who seek core information for their parents or grandparents. We are tossing some ideas and welcome yours.

Consuming mangoes; some tips

While mangoes are tasty and nutritious, here are a few tips to enjoy the fruit the right way. Repeated handling of the fruit deposits various contaminants on the skin of mango; also spray residues. Mangoes must be soaked in water for a few minutes. Thereafter, they should be gently washed in running water. Even if you intend to peel and discard the skin, please wash first to prevent impurities from touching the pulp.

SHOP FOR POOJA ITEMS HAS DEEP HISTORY

By Baksar Seshadri

This shop for pooja articles is not new. We did not notice it closely. We did so now.

GN 1917 Poonja House may be an odd name you notice on South Mada Street, Mylapore. But the business is deep in history.

T. P. R. Gopala Swamy Naidu started a homemade venture manufacturing incense sticks and dasangam powder in Trichy in 1917. He expanded to other items like herbal shikakai powder. After he passed away, the next generation led by Santhanam handled it for long years and it is managed by the third generation. S. Gopi is the MD of this company

Chennai operations are being handled by his son Praghadeshkar Ramesh. At the Mylapore store, are a range of items you need for pooja and for homam - including incense sticks, a range of dhoop and sambrani, wellness / personal care products besides perfumes and religious books.

FOR THE MLA'S ATTENTION

How Chennai Metro Project has derailed many lives, sidetracked issues

By Our Edit Team

Ever since Chennai Metro began work in the greater Mylapore zone on this key transport project, involving two lines, neither CMRL nor GCC and other agencies have really paid attention to basic civic issues. Issues of Mylaporeans. If CMRL began soil tests to better its core work, it hardly looked at and executed alternate plans for people who would be affected by this giant project that impacts the heart of Mylapore and may run for over three years.

First, the agencies did not relay and provide good roads and streets which turned into Bus Route Road and Streets for diverted traffic. It needed protests from activists to push CMRL to undertake patch work. This was just appeasement. Patch work is still the first resort.

Two: Since 'diverted' traffic took narrow roads with massive encroachments, the agencies have not still cleaned up all the crap dumped on sidewalks and the hawkers who have cornered streetsides that forces people to walk on streets and face dangers from buses and bear minor accidents.

Three: While contract staff initially managed traffic flow, these men have disappeared. It is now a free run on roads and streets.

Four: For months, CMRL and MTC did not provide bus shades at 'new' stops. Again, civic protests got them to act. Today, some do not have lighting at night.

Five: MTC created makeshift 'termini'; on Luz Church Road and in Mandaveli. But there are no bus bays, no rest spots, no washrooms for MTC staff and commuters. These are a few of the key issues that still need attention. It is for the new MLA, P. Venkataramanan to address them 'wholesome', not as patchworks.

Thiruvengadam Street, a busy road for vehicles on 'diverted' route is a patchwork zone. Never been fully relaid.

Sidewalks on the busy Warren Road are packed with auto-bikes and spares for shops here. Forces people on to busy road; minor accidents have taken place. No action taken against encroachers.

Hawkers flourish on the ever busy Venkatesa Agraharam Street. Have not been cleared up for good. This street is now like a main bus route road.

● Two bus stops on Singaravelar Salai (Marina Loop Road) do not have proper lighting

● Makeshift bus termini at Luz and Mandaveli do not have 'temporary' washrooms

MYLAPORE HINDU PERMANENT FUND NIDHI LTD CASE

Ask police to file final charge sheet, depositors request MLA

By Our Edit Team

Ask the Economics Offences Wing (EOW) of TN Police to file a final charge sheet which has been delayed.

Order the police to conduct a forensic audit of funds management in order to trace the path of the funds used in unrelated projects / investments.

These are two key requests which have been made by a community of depositors of Mylapore Hindu Permanent Fund Nidhi Ltd to the newly elected Mylapore MLA at a meeting they had with him at his office in Alwarpet this week. They presented him with all the key documents on the issue and they said later that the MLA promised to study the issue and revert in a week's time.

Meanwhile, the main accused Devanathan Yadav, MD of the Fund who has been in a jail in Cuddalore, had got relief from the Madras High Court for medical examination at JIPMER in Puducherry, following an appeal his lawyers made this week.

Yadav had got temporary bail once in the past but could not comply with the court order to arrange for a deposit of Rs.100 crores and surrendered voluntarily.

Courts have repeatedly denied bail on his applications. He is charged with swindling some Rs.600 crores from about 5000 plus depositors. Activists on the Fund depositors side say that the run-up to Assembly elections and thereafter have affected the pace of the case and they have decided to pursue it on different fronts. Seeking support from the new state government is their first move now.

Many depositors say they want the EOW to file the chargesheet since there is an enormous amount of data and proof on the case. In fact, some 20 volunteers spent days last year to document the thousands of complaints and details on the Fund company to help the short-staffed police department.

They say many depositors seem resigned now and that only a fast track police and judicial process can give them hope.

By Our Edit Team

The 26th Black Belt training camp organised by the All India Boufuuukai Isshinryu Karate Association in Mandaveli provided students of karate to appear for various levels of tests. 13 students appeared for 1st Dan, one student for 2nd Dan and one student – Rohitram Sundar – for 5th Dan black belt.

Throughout the training, students underwent intense physical conditioning, including a 10 km endurance run and 100 counts of physical exercises. They also trained extensively in Kata, Kumite, and Self-Defense techniques, said chief instructor & examiner, Dr. A.R. Sundar, a 8th Dan Black Belt holder who runs the centre.

The belt and certificate distribution ceremony was held on May 10 at All India Boufuuukai Isshinryu Centre, R. K. Mutt Road, Mandaveli. Contact: 9840018628

Sr. Mary presents her wards at Mass in Cathedral after workshop in Western music

By Our Edit Team

The 6.15 a.m. Holy Mass on Tuesday, May 26 at St. Thomas Cathedral in San Thome had a special touch to it. A group of people who had attended a western classical music camp held next door, and some nuns provided the music for worship.

This was the final of a month-long workshop led by Sister Mary Gracelet, who studied music in Rome for over five years and leads music workshops in Mumbai and Bengaluru.

“We had people who were teens and one person who was 70 years old,” said the nun who hails from Nagercoil.

She belongs to the congregation of Sister Disciples of the Divine Master who have a convent called Guru Yesu Illam in the campus of the San Thome Cathedral.

The nun not only coached the students but encouraged some of them to take the Trinity College London exams held across centres in India. “They were all dedicated and learnt fast,” said the nun, who arranged for the group to perform at a few Holy Masses on weekdays at the church before the finale.

While the nuns arranged for two keyboards, the other participants brought their own instruments and were coached in the common space in the convent.

This is the first time that the nun has organised a classical music camp here; she has held some 40-plus elsewhere in the country.

The congregation encourages the nuns to pursue creativity for the sake of the liturgy. And so they have nuns who are proficient in music and dance, art and architecture.

Sr. Mary, impressed with the dedication of the first set of wards, hopes to be back again.

“I also hope the parish priests here encourage the group to perform at one Holy Mass every month,” she said.

The building covers an area of 3,500 sq ft with a seating capacity of 450 people and is intended for educational, community, and ministry-related activities.

The building was inaugurated by Rev. Dr. A. Christian Samraj. The Jayakumars have made this donation in memory of late I. Devadoss and the late Esther Jayaleela. The two are Jayakumar's parents — both retired as headmaster and headmistress of a government school in Pattukkottai.

While Jayakumar has shaped many lives through physical education, Vasavi has guided students of Classes X, XI and XII through private tuitions.

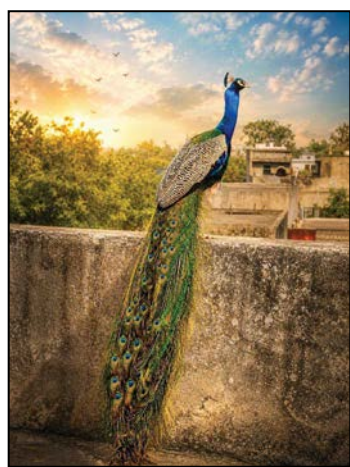

They reside at 48, Muthu Street, Mylapore. Phone: 98408 08473

Peacocks, peahens sighted in Mandaveli

Two people from Mandaveli shared photos of peacocks and peahens seen on terrace tops in houses in that area. They were shot in mid-April.

Nirmala Gopalan shared a photo of a peacock on a terrace with its long, bright plumes dropping down almost to the floor. This was seen on North Road.

Abhinaya C from Mandavelipakkam 1st Cross sent a few photos, of peacocks and peahens, some 5/6 of them seen on terraces, behind fronds of a coconut tree.

Where did these birds come from?

Could they have headed out of Tholkappia Poonga?

Mandavelipakkam resident Fabiola Jacob who is a regular visitor at the Poonga said she once spotted a peahen but has not seen many peacocks here.

Birder and Madras Naturalists Society (MNS) senior, K. V. Sudhakar said it was possible for the birds to have moved out of the Guindy National Park zone.

Could they have then travelled across a busy area of the city? "These birds are used to humans. They are generally not harmed," said Sudhakar.
