These students of St. Anthony’s Girls School learnt to make decorations out of used clothes and tailoring waste at the ‘Repair Panalamma?’ event held at this school on Madha Church Road, Mandavelipakkam last Saturday. This camp, curated by Saahas, a NGO, was intended to motivate people to reuse and recycle stuff at home; to repair and continue to use things like footwear, umbrellas and furnishing.

WRITING WORKSHOP IN LUZ. FOR ADULTS AND STUDENTS

Join city-based author, Praveena Shivram, in a writing workshop that 'looks at words through the senses, making the experience deeply personal and completely free from performance pressure'. For eight hours across two week-ends this month, participants will read, write and share, bringing to light the human potential (non-AI version!) and the power of telling stories in imaginative ways that puts joy back into the act of writing. Said Praveena:

"This workshop is for people who would like to make words your ally, and if you would like to explore how far the boundaries of meaning run and the endless capacity of words to bring community and connection."

Praveena Shivram has been an independent writer for over two decades. Both her fiction and non-fiction have been widely published. This workshop is open to both adults and young adults, aged 14 and above. November 8, 9, 15 and 16. It is to be held at Ranade Library, Luz (the Srinivasa Sastri Hall campus, near Amrutanjan) from 3 pm to 5 pm. Register at workshops.pra@gmail.com. Student discounts offered.

East Circular Road, Mandavelipakkam to re-named: Sirkazhi Govindarajan Road

By Our Edit Team

East Circular Road in Mandavelipakkam is to be re-named as Sirkazhi Govindarajan Road, after the well-known singer of devotional and film songs who also resided in this area.

This news was shared by Mylapore MLA, Dha Velu. In a note, Veku said that the Chennai Corporation council had, on Oct.30, approved a resolution on naming the road after the singer.

Velu said he had placed the request for a name change before the chief minister. It was acknowledged and the issue was moved to the city council for the formality. (Another version on this issue said that the street renaming request came from actor-politician S. Ve. Sheker who resides in this area and who got a street in this area renamed - after his father S. V. Venkataraman).

An event to formally rename the road will be held soon.

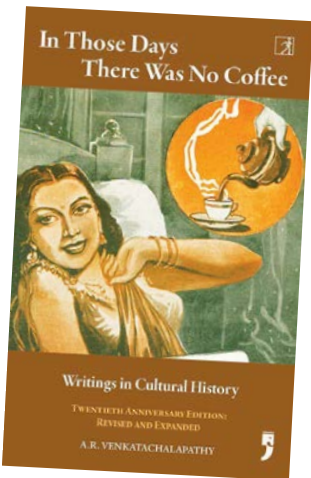

Govindarajan sang for songs in films starring the stars of his time – MGR and Sivaji Ganesan. His devotional songs in Tamil were also legendary and are still played across the world. He resided on 8th Trust Cross Street.

BOOK RELEASE: ON CULTURAL HISTORY OF TAMIL REGION, ON MADRAS

Historian-academic-writer A. R. Venkatachalapathy will present a updated edition of his book titled 'In Those Days There Was No Coffee: Writings in Cultural History.' The essays in the book focus broadly on the social and cultural history of the Tamil region during the colonial period, and as the most significant urban center of the region at the time, Madras (now Chennai) features prominently in these essays. Says the author, "Over the years, this book of essays has won me much love. I've often been identified as 'the coffee chap.' Such I suppose is the charm of coffee."

The book release event is on November 1, 6 p.m. onwards at the Tagore Auditorium inside the campus of the TN College of Music, R. A. Puram. The author will be in conversation with V. Sriram, historian. The event is organised by Chennai International Centre. It is open to all.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

I like to listen to stories of our city.

The late San Thomite, F. J. Vincent had loads of stories to share. A man who spent almost all of his 90 years in San Thome and Mandavelipakkam and around, his stories on these neighbourhoods were a delight.

One set of stories was about life around the kuttai/s and islands created by the Adyar river. The estuarine zone of this river covered a large area, from what is now the Music College campus and MRC Nagar, westwards towards R. K. Mutt Road and northwards, off Pattinapakkam.

In that zone were small and large islands, mostly uninhabited, Vincent told me. I can imagine how the Quibble Island Cemetery came to be located on one largish island, serving the Catholic and Protestant communities of this part of our city.

In the past, if you resided in areas like present-day Mandavelipakkam or the south end of San Thome High Road, and you wanted to visit Adyar, you had to take a version of a boat/cattamaram across the waters from a point where the Pattinapakkam - South Canal Bank Road junction is today. And if you wanted to head to areas like present-day Gandhi Nagar, Padmanabha Nagar and Theosophical Society campus, you would need to take a boat across the Adyar river.

Over time, San Thome High Road was led to a new, pucca road, built on/alongside the islets; the road now named D. G. S. Dinakaran Road.

The recently-reopened Tholkappia Poonga, restored from what was a large water body that became a dump yard, traces its history to the Adyar estuarine zone.

We must not expect and treat the Poonga as some kind of fun place for the weekend, like one of those sprawling, loud places that the East Coast Road (ECR) sports.

Some people have been demanding that the Poonga must open all its gates for walkers, to make access easy. In the strictest sense, the Poonga is not a place for walking, exercising and playing. But the managers have made some concessions and allowed walkers to use a section of the nature reserve for a few hours, morning and evening. One hopes entry will be limited though.

In the renovation carried out the past year, too many built-up structures have come up inside the Poonga. These suit people who love to draw big budgets and have fancy ideas. What would have sufficed was simple infrastructure that dies naturally and can be easily replaced.

Do visit the Poonga. The monsoon is a great time to be here. Respect the place; we are blessed to have this green oasis.

'Repair Panalama?' is good concept

We read the report in Mylapore Times on the 'Repair Panalama?' camp held at a school on Madha Church Road last weekend. This is indeed a great idea; we do not have easy access to shops or people who can quickly service small appliances or repair umbrellas and travel bags.

The NGO who organised this camp can hold similar camps regularly at different places so Mylaporeans can make use of the services. We also request you to provide the contacts of the service providers of last weekend's camp at the school so we can call them for our needs.

Woes of Dr. Nanjunda Colony residents

Most of the busy roads in Mylapore should have been re-laid some months ago. The road off Dr. Nanjundarao Colony, Mylapore where we are residing, is uneven and so, after even a short spell of rain, water stagnates on one side of the road and this makes life difficult for the residents of the colony to come out.

We have referred this issue to the GCC but no steps have been taken.

- Sukanya

Abiramapuram street in bad shape

The condition of Abiramapuram 1st Street has been bad for some time and complaints to GCC have not got us any redress. We hope a senior GCC office comes around and addresses our problem.

MTC, We appreciate this service for students

Recently, I happened to see MTC's buses coming out of the campus of St Raphael's Girls School in San Thome; packed with school students.

On enquiry I came to know that MTC and the school authorities have made special arrangements to ferry the students of the school from Kannagi Nagar and areas around that nagar where many students now reside.

These students used to reside in tenements in Mylapore which had to be cleared and these families were given small flats in Kannagi Nagar and that the students wish to continue their studies in San Thome instead of shifting to schools in the suburban area.

We must appreciate MTC for its understanding and special services.

On 'Mylapore Rewind'

We enjoy reading the weekly 'Mylapore Rewind' column. Some news items hold up the cyclic nature of life, some show up the irony and some must be charming for people who were students or teens in that time when this triggers warm memories.

MYLAPORE REWIND

This column carries excerpts from Mylapore Times, 1996 onwards. This week, we focus on March and April 1996

Teynampet Post Office gets record letters (April 6, 1996)

The Teynampet Post Office located on TTK Road, Alwarpet has been receiving as many as 20,000 letters of late. This is because two major satellite TV channels have booked post boxes here. Postcards and letters are addressed to Sun TV and to Raj TV; the numbers are huge when the channels promote contests, especially during festivals. The numbers also went up during the Wills World Cup (cricket).

The postmaster here has deployed one staffer, Charles Sasikumar to sort the mails intended for the TV channels; he puts them in two sets of bags set apart for these clients. Said Charles, "Over time I have gained speed in sorting but if the load is high, I seek help from another staffer."

Bell for Sri Kapali Temple (Mar.30, 1996)

A giant bell has been installed in the campus of Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple, Mylapore. This has happened after some 35 years.

The bell at Sri Kapali Temple

Parties choose candidates for Lok Sabha, Assembly elections (April 6, 1996)

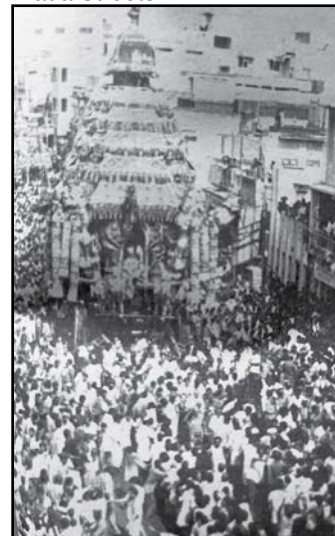

With political alliances sealed, the lines are now drawn for contests in elections to the state Assembly and to the Lok Sabha. The DMK has chosen veteran T. R. Baalu to be its candidate for the Chennai South parliamentary election. The AIADMK, which held this seat in the previous Lok Sabha, has chosen Ganesh Ram to be its candidate. Others in the contest are MDMK party's T. R. Senguttavan and BJP's V. Maitreyan. Actor Revathi sprang a surprise by throwing her hat in the ring.

For the state Assembly elections, for Mylapore constituency, the AIADMK has dropped sitting MLA, V. Balasubramanian and the ticket has been given to T. R. Sampath.

The DMK has chosen veteran N. P. Ramajeyam, a resident of R. A. Puram, who contested in the last election and lost.

The 'ther' rolls down the Mada Streets

Big crowd for 'ther' procession (April 6, 1996)

Huge crowds took part in the 'ther' procession of the annual Panguni festival of Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple, Mylapore. Though it was a hot day, people kept heading to the Mada Streets to take part in the procession.

Despite the steady rain, hundreds of people gathered on North Mada Street on October 27 evening to watch the Soorasamharam enactment which took place at the mid-point on this street as part of the annual Skanda Shasti celebration of Sri Kapali Temple. The next evening, in the Navaratri mantapam inside the temple, hundreds of people sat to watch the grand ‘thirukalyanam’ ceremony.

JCBs remove silt which clogs the mouth of the Adyar river at points off Srinivasapuram / Pattinapak-kam on the northside of the river and Besant Nagar’s Urur kuppam on the southside. The mounds of silt affect the free flow of water in the river into the sea when the volumes grow at monsoon time.

Patch work on Thiruvengadam Street.

By Our Edit Team

So what is showing up in Mylapore after the monsoon broke out?

< One of the busiest roads of the zone, Thiruvengadam Street in Mandaveli, cracked up, the potholes grew bigger and bigger and every car, bike and MTC bus had a rough ride over some 600 mts. Imagine a road that had been relaid a few weeks ago cracking up again. When the complaints grew loud, civic workers did what they call ‘patch work’ using mortar and cement. Now, this street looks like a well bandaged road.

< In the densely-inhabited area called Andiman Thottam, located behind the old MTC bus terminus in Mandaveli, sewage leaked into rainwater which flooded the main street.

Residents pointed fingers at Chennai Metro, saying the project work has affected civic facilities here. Thankfully, seniors at Metrowater and officials of the Metro and GCC addressed the issue. A JCB was seen clearing the floodwater; some jugaad this.

< Civic workers are getting into the act in areas where flooding, sewage overflow and potholed issues arise. Private suction pump-motor sets are stationed at junctions which used to flood; at some such spot, there is a worker stationed here to answer SOS calls.

< One spot which witnessed the worst flooding - P. S. Sivaswami Salai, near the Vivekananda College circle, has been relatively flood-free this far. The work on a new drain is completed though the road looks messy.

WELCOME TO THE POONGA

Tholkappia Poonga, the nature reserve in R. A. Puram has been formally re-opened. Chief minister M. K. Stalin did the honours on October 24 on this campus located off D. G. S. Dinakaran Road, near Ambedkar Mantapam. This project is managed by Chennai Rivers Restoration Trust (CRRT)

- WHAT YOU CAN DO HERE THIS SEASON

Take a long, medium-slow walk inside the Poonga. Carry an umbrella and wear sandals or shoes. Look on all sides - at the variety of tree and plant life. If you look sharply, you may spot tiny insect and reptile life.

The water body in the Poonga can refresh you. It is a great sight in a drizzle. Slow down and stop at the 'water' zones.
- 3

Climb to the observation point; this place gives you a different view of the vastness. The binoculars fitted here helps you to take a close look at birds

Walk up to and on the elevated walkway which takes you from the west section to the east section of the Poonga above a busy road. The east section gives you views of the estuarine zone of Adyar river.

WALKING IN THE POONGA

You may buy a pass and walk here - in the mornings or/and in the evenings. Daily, weekly, monthly passes are sold at the gate / online. The pathway for walkers is specified and takes you down only one section of the park.

HOW TO GET ADMISSION

Visitors need to book a ticket online; only about 100 people are allowed daily. Access is allowed only in the early evenings. School and college groups who wish to go on guided walks inside the Poonga have another online access facility to do advance booking. Though the booking online facility exists, there are some hiccups. The Poonga office informs that passes can be bought at the gate. Passes for only walking in the Poonga can be booked online / at the gate. All details - <https://www.crrt.tn.gov/in/>
