A small group of children and elders enjoyed a late morning puppet show at Children’s Club in Mylapore last Sunday. Hosted in association with INTACH, awarded puppeteer Muthuchandran Rao and his associates at the Club campus off V. M. Street, the show brought a traditional craft closer to those present. Muthuchandran allowed children to take a look at the leather puppets and answer their questions. He and his troupe then travelled to Varanasi to perform at the Kashi - Tamil Sangamam. Children’s Club now hosts select indoor and outdoor activities for children and has plans to offer short-term sport/hobby sessions and leisure games to engage children and draw them outdoors.

Sivaswami Kalalaya remembers its former school principal, G. Neelakantan

By Our Edit Team

Once a year, Sir Sivaswami Kalalaya school in Mylapore remembers its past and popular school principal, G. Neelakantan. The school does this by hosting a public lecture for senior students.

This is held in his memory and for the ideals he stood for. So on Nov. 21, S. Selvakumar, CEO of Maruthi Power Controls, was the guest speaker at the 2022 event; he was invited to speak on 'Your Life – Your Choice'. It was a theme that Neelakantan always chose to put on top of his agenda – doing all that would help senior students make their career and life choices.

Selvakumar chose to walk up and down the aisle of the auditorium and interact closely with students of senior classes.

G. Neelakantan

This event is an initiative of Neelakantan's family and the society that manages this school. Said vice-principal, Jashoda Sundar, "We have continued to pursue Neelakantan sir's vision and often invite guests to talk to our students."

She says that, through the year, the school invites people who have made a mark to talk and interact with the students of classes 11 and 12.

M. S. Jayashri is currently the school principal.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

There are a few travellers, some foreigners, who hole up in Mylapore. This is their pit-stop of choice, for good reason.

One such is the multi-talented Chantal Jumel from France. Chantal is here every December, the pandemic having broken that pilgrimage. With limited choices, she chooses to live and work out of a hotel close to Sri Kapaleeswarar Temple.

It was during one December sojourn of hers that Chantal suggested to me that Mylapore should develop a 'bed and breakfast' kind of service, saying this would be lapped up by travellers who prefer to soak in local life and culture. 'If you can give a well-ventilated room, clean bed and sheets, clean washroom and basic essentials, I will book it for a month,' she once told me. And added that she was damn sure that a few such services would be patronised through most parts of the year.

Why would such a facility work?

Simple.

The Sri Kapali Temple precinct, for example, offers almost everything a traveller would like to enjoy. Heritage and history, temple architecture and religious practices, cultural events and time-worn vocations, hundred-year-old houses, busy lanes and colourful nooks, markets, people and chaos. All this can engage a traveller from 6 a. m. to 9 p.m.

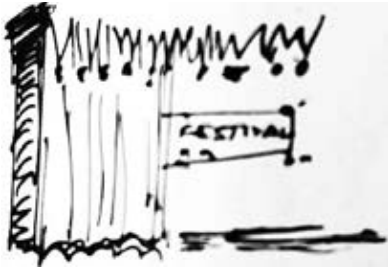

The annual December Season of classical music and dance, when sabhas, old, recent and letter-head managed ones host three-day, week-long or even month-long festivals, featuring an array of artistes, and is unique to this city, provides the setting for local tourism too. If a few adventurous, interested and passionate souls in the Mylapore zone get stirred enough in what seems to be a 25-degrees 'winter' season, a decent, small start can be made.

There is also a more crucial issue that this Season can thrash. Rasikas paying for concerts they attend.

For too long, this business of 'free admission' and 'open to all' has only affected the performing art and artistes. While sabha members pay an annual fee and enjoy the sabha's offerings, be it concerts, discourses, plays or entertainment, the 'general' rasika does not even open his purse to pay an admission charge; rather, he or she just walks in and walks out as he or she pleases. And this is just not good for the art and for the audience.

Even leading sabhas hold back their plans when it comes to the issue of charging rasikas for all the concerts, even for concerts that feature the best and the brightest. They too are a party to this 'freebie' culture.

Elsewhere in our city, performance spaces, performance promoters and artistes have all moved up in ticketing their shows - be it music, theatre, stand-up comedy, dance or week-end entertainment. Tickets range from Rs.200 to Rs.300. And people are willing to pay. Not that the gate collection covers the bills; but the revenue stream is key to their plans. And this is indeed positive.

Pathetic condition of road in Kesavaperumalpuram

I would like to draw the attention of GCC and TANGEDCO to the pathetic and unhygienic condition of the road in front of the TANGEDCO New Building / TNEB Substation in Kesavaperumalpuram, opposite the Greenways Road MRTS Station.

This road has been rendered unusable by mounds of building junk and garbage, a row of four to five overflowing garbage bins and filth all around. Unauthorised, hazardous parking of vehicles on this narrow road and a bunch of stray cattle that wander in the area are making even walking unsafe. This has been happening for more than two years now. The recent SWD digging has added fuel to the fire.

It has been years since the interior roads, pedestrian platforms and speed breakers in this peaceful residential locality have been repaired and relaid. We seek urgent attention from the concerned authorities.

- V. Gopalan

Drainage cover not positioned properly

It appears that a big drainage cover on C. P. Ramaswamy Road is not positioned properly. As a result, it creates a loud noise when vehicles pass over it, which is quite annoying to the local residents as it happens throughout the day. It's been happening for a long time now. Both GCC and CMWSSB may be aware of it but they are doing nothing about it. They should end this agony for us tax-paying citizens.

- C. Varadarajan

Appeal to MLA

While the civic body staff in our zone has been fully focussed on rainwater flooding issues, nobody has cared to look at our potholed roads and streets.

Now that there is a break in the monsoon, can the MLA get GCC staff in this zone to use 'rubbish' and fill these potholes?

- K. Swaminathan

December Music Season

Being a regular at sabha concerts and plays, I noticed a big drop in attendance the past months. I wonder if this December Season will witness only average patronage by rasikas, who for no obvious reasons have not been frequenting sabha venues.

- Kamala Murthy K

Road leading to P. S. Senior in a bad state

Near Sai Baba Temple, the road that leads to the P. S. Senior school campus is in a very bad state. This road is used by hundreds of people who take their children to school and bring them back. I hope GCC repairs it at the earliest.

- Thiagarajan Ashok

Pleas on civic issues being ignored

It's a pity that grievances from people in the areas stretching from Kutcheri Road to Dr. Ambedkar Bridge, which includes Karaneswarar Pagoda Street, are being ignored. We've been crying in vain for the authorities to address the problem of encroachment and for a bus shelter.

MY STORY

20 years of a Bistro

By ASHVIN RAJAGOPALAN

Ashvita Bistro started as a garden cafe on Dr. Radhakrishnan Salai 2nd Street in 2003.

The idea was to draw more people to our art gallery we run here called Ashvita's. People loved this space so much and spent great time here that today, I think there are close to one hundred couples who claim they first met at our cafe!

When we chose to move to Alwarpet, we located an old house and grew a garden here. It gave an old world charm and quiet to our guests.

We found that many people from the film industry like writers, filmmakers and actors met up here to discuss ideas, scripts and make plans. People like actor Suriya would come by. The Bistro sort of cut off people who were here from the hustle of the city; they were in a green bubble, so to say.

Our momos became a big hit: they are very fulfilling ones. Hearty food. So are the Monster Shake and the Thai Curries. We also made our own brand of pizzas which had Indian flavours and these are popular. I think we became popular because the diners were very loyal and the sense of community prevailed in this place and sustained the Bistro.

When the pandemic hit us all, we moved to a cloud kitchen quickly and since we had a loyal clientele, our business was not affected. It sustained well.

We have moved to a place in R. A. Puram where the dining space is compact but we have chosen to make the best of our cloud kitchen experience, delivering food via the Apps. Running a dine-in place today does cost money but we are now reaching patrons across the city via the deliveries.

Chief minister hands over degrees to students at QMC's convocation

Chief minister M. K. Stalin was the chief guest at the convocation event at Queen Mary's College, Mylapore, which was held on November 22, inside a massive pandal that was specially erected for this grand event. Just over 100 students who had graduated in various disciplines had the honour of being on stage to receive their degrees. Some 3,000 plus students were listed to receive their degrees, being those who had passed the past two years. CM Stalin recalled the time he led an agitation when the AIADMK government made moves to take over the QMC campus and plan a state secretariat, and that he had lent support then to the agitating students.

R. I. Palani back in TN Cricket Association team as Secretary

By S. Prabhu

R I Palani, who had served as the Joint Secretary of the TN Cricket Association for four years and anchored the TNPL on the ground, is now back at the premier cricket association as its secretary.

During his stint as the Joint Secretary, he was actively involved in the day-to-day affairs of the TNCA. The TNPL was launched during that phase and it was Palani who played a key role in ensuring that everything went as per plan at the three locations of Tirunelveli, Natham and Chennai.

Unmindful of the strenuous scheduling of the TNPL, he would move from one location to another to oversee the activities. Former Secretary of the TNCA and now CEO of CSK, K S Viswanthan told Mylapore Times that Palani is one of the most hardworking and dedicated cricketer-turned-administrators. "He is meticulous in executing his work and is a great team man," said Viswanathan. Palani played for Indian Bank in the first division in the 1980s and 90s. He is also the man behind the summer cricket coaching at St. Bedes ground. He has been a long time resident of Mylapore.

December Season buzz at Arkay

By Our Edit Team

Arkay Centre, in Luz, is having a packed programme all through December, as part of the 'Season'. It will launch its own music festival on December 1, with some specials lined up in its schedule. It will also play host to a lec-dem series from Sruti magazine and a section of the music festival of Brahma Gana Sabha, which has had to move its fest from the regular venue on Luz Church Road, due to Chennai Metro rail work.

Karthigai Veda parayanam now on at Sankara Gurukulam

By S. Prabhu

Continuing the over six decades tradition, 20 Vedic members have begun the mandala veda parayanam at the Sri Sankara Gurukulam on C P Ramaswamy Street in Abirampuram. Each of the four Vedas will be recited every evening over the next month and a half. R. Chandrasekaran, a retired civil engineer, is the grandson of Thethiyur Subramanya Sastrigal, a Vedantha scholar who founded the Gurukulam. Chandrasekaran said that his grandfather installed the idol of Adi Sankara and started the Sri Sankara Gurukulam, set up in 1947 with the idea of organising Advaita Pracharam and promoting the concept of Sanathana Dharma. "Vedantha lectures, Ramayana and Bhagavatha Pracharams take place through the year at this Gurukulam," he said. The Mandala Veda Parayanam in Karthigai was started at this location way back in 1957 and it has taken place every year over the last 65 years.

Savitri Ammal Oriental School's alumni organise grand event to honour retired teachers

By Our Edit Team

Savitri Ammal Oriental Higher Secondary School's former students felicitated retired teachers at a Sunday event.

The alumni of Savitri Ammal Oriental Higher Secondary School from 1970 to 2020 got together and connected with the former teachers and arranged a function on November 20.

Preparations for this started a month ago. On the day of the event, teachers were welcomed by a live band and then seated on the stage. Teachers aged between 90 and 60 years were invited and felicitated by ex-students and present students.

Each teacher was honoured and invited to speak after they were presented a commemorative plaque with a photo of the teacher. A silver tumbler inscribed with the SAOHSS Alumni Association logo, a puja pack sponsored by Giri Trading, a sandalwood garland and shawl were presented to these teachers.

The following teachers were honoured – S. Nagalakshmi, A. Vasudevan, V. S. Indira, G Swaminathan, V. Vasantha, A. Sridharan, K. Kamala, K. Indira, M. Sreedharan, S. Chandrasekaran, V. Gowri, K Ramanathan, N. Sudharshana, K. Anantharaman, V. Shenbagavalli, R. Sundareswaran, C.P. Subramaniam, J. Maghizham and Jagannathan

Every teacher shared with joy and emotion their experiences with students, the management and experiences during teaching. As one of them said "We have never thought of anything other than our school and we have spent half of our life in the school and for that we express our gratitude to this school."

Prabha Sridevan, retired judge of Madras High Court was the chief guest. Mrs. Savitri Ammal is her maternal aunt. She shared with the alumni the urgent need for smart boards for all classes.

About Rs.25 lakh has been collected from the alumni in the past for the welfare of this school. The Alumni have contributed several sports equipment, lab equipment, computers and some building blocks needed by the school.

The Alumni Association has created a Trust and registered it. The notification will be out soon, said one member.

Savitri Ammal Oriental Higher Secondary School was started in 1958 by Savithiri Ammal. It is located on Royapettah High Road in Mylapore.

It was established as an Oriental school, primarily to teach children Sanskrit.

Clarke School for the Deaf hosts workshop for Chennai Corporation school teachers

The Clarke School for the Deaf, a 53-year-old institute in Mylapore, conducted a workshop on "Awareness on Dyslexia" and "Early intervention of the disabled" for teachers of Chennai Corporation schools who admit children with special needs who then study along with normal children under the inclusive education system.

The Clarke School programme was to create awareness and continue the learnings through such programmes in the future.

School secretary Srikanth says he wanted schools / teachers to connect with them on the school's website www.theclarkeschool.com and see how best such programmes can be conducted.

He said he and his team were keen to share their own experiences with other teachers.

This event was sponsored by Soroptimist International – Chennai Downtown.

Lakshmikanthan murder case: all set for the play

Only limited tickets were left to be sold for the English play based on the famed Lakshmikanthan murder case of 1945 which stunned and engaged people in the 40s and 50s and stayed in the memories of many through the 60s and 70s.

Veteran theatre-person P. C. Ramakrishna is presenting the premiere of this play at Narada Gana Sabha, on Nov.26 evening: four city sabhas have joined hands to co-host it.

Ramakrishna says that his docu-drama, based faithfully on the actual trial transcripts of the case, presents the case in dramatic form. The Madras Players will bring this story to the stage some 75 years after the case was fought in court.

Newly-built Urban Health Centre of civic body in Alwarpet opened

By Our Edit Team

The newly-built Urban Health Centre of Chennai Corporation in Alwarpet was formally opened this past week, via video conferencing by chief minister M K Stalin. The centre, on C. P. Ramaswamy Road, closer to the flyover end, was demolished and its operations were run closeby, near the Mylapore MLA’s office. The new centre was ready some months ago and had to await the launch that was tied up with other civic projects. A medical officer of this zone says the centre will be operational once all the medical equipment, resources and furniture is shifted from the make-shift space to the centre. The health centre deals with basic illnesses including handling women in early pregnancy. It does not have any advanced medical facilities here. It will be open all days of the week though half-days on Sundays when only limited staff will be on duty.

This sports space is open on all weekdays and offers basic and advanced level training

By Kanaka Cadambi

Rainbows Academy of Sport and Fitness on St. Mary's Road is a gymnastics centre for schoolchildren. Rahul Prashanth, a national gymnast and certified coach, is here every evening, on week-days, to teach body activation exercises to children, four years and older.

"Gymnastics is an excellent form of exercise that strengthens one's core, improves flexibility and enhances endurance for other sports. Besides, it is fun and exciting. So the response is whole-hearted," explains this ex-YMCA assistant coach.

He started this centre eight months ago, first using some space at Venkateshwara School on Dr. Ranga Road for about six months and then renting space on St. Mary's Road.

Both beginner and advanced levels of training are offered here.

Classes are for an hour each session, from Monday to Friday. On Mondays and Wednesdays, two sessions are held from 5 pm to 7 pm. On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, three separate batches come in at 4 pm, 5 pm and 6 pm. For beginners, the course fee is Rs. 2,000 a month.

For the advanced level, it is Rs. 500 more.

Rahul is a business administration graduate, who is currently pursuing an MS in fitness. He has completed a six-week certification course offered by the Sports Authority of India, which qualified him to be a gymnastics coach. Wielding the silambam is another activity that Rahul loves to indulge in.

Rahul also trains adults in personal fitness at the same venue. Call 9566143998 for more details.

Master flute maker decorated with award

Every year, Parivadini, a private arts promoter recognises an outstanding craftsman who makes a music instrument. The Parlandu Award of Excellence is given to the chosen person. Parivadini's key person Lalitharam Ramachandran says that the music world has failed to recognise these men and women who are integral to the performing arts.

On Sunday last, master flute maker S. S. Ponnuswamy was decorated with the recognition and a cash award at an event held at Raga Sudha Hall, Luz.

Ponnuswamy carries on the tradition his father Sankaralingam was famous for, having made flutes for many top-ranking artistes.

Ponnuswamy is based in Dindigul; he used to work from the city but the business was not good enough to stay on and so he got back to his hometown.

Later that morning, vocalist and flutist Palakkad Sreeram presented an entertaining lecture on the flute and its place in music.

Mridangam vidwan Umayalpuram Sivaraman is excited with third honorary doctorate

By Edit Team

Mridangam vidwan Umayalpuram K. Sivaraman is excited about a recent development in his life – the award of an honorary doctorate by the Gandhigram Rural Institute based in Dindigul. And the honour that was given to him by prime minister Narendra Modi at an event held on November 11 at the varsity's campus.

"He had some warm words for me,"

says the vidwan from his home on Dr. Ranga Road.

Famed music composer Ilaiya Raja was also conferred a doctorate here.

This is the third doctorate that Sivaraman has been honoured with. The first was awarded by University of Kerala and the second by the Tamil Nadu Dr. J. Jayalalitha Music and Fine Arts University based in R. A. Puram, Chennai.

Sivaraman has been awarded the Padma Shri, the Padma Bhushan and Padma Vibhushan, this being the second highest civilian award.

He says, "I have been decorated with three Padma awards and now, the third doctorate by three different universities and this is a rare honour."

Now, he prepares to perform in yet another December Season of concerts at sabha halls. "I have completed 75 years of public performances," he says.

Donations sought for temple renovation

Sri Ellaiamman Temple, located in Valeeswaran Thottam colony in R. A. Puram is being renovated and its managers are seeking donations from people for this project which is on now.

The temple is said to be over 50 years old and, besides the main sannidhi for the Amman, has eight other sannidhis for gods and goddesses. C. Murugan is the head of this colony's community and is overseeing the renovation work. He says people can also donate materials needed here. Contact 9344431181
