Velu undertakes alteration of women's and men's dresses and restitching of clothes that do not fit anymore, including churidars, blouses, pants, shirts, sherwanis and waistcoats, at Alteration Point, his 25-year-old shop off RH Road.

Stitching new dresses was his forte in the early years when he stepped into the business 40 years ago. Now, he strictly takes up only alteration and restitching. He says it brings better returns. He handles all the orders single-handedly. He says he is a Mylaporean from birth.

Chennai Metro: prelim work starts in Mandaveli

By Our Staff Reporter

Chennai Metro’s workmen have begun work on the Mandaveli–R. A. Puram stretch of R. K. Mutt Road now.

This work is for the Phase 2 projects, with one rail line running north-south, covering Royapettah, Luz, Mandaveli and R. A. Puram in this zone. Massive work has been going on for some months now on the large campus which used to be the GCC playground, opposite Jesus Calls campus in R. A. Puram.

In Mandaveli, barricades are coming up at two points, including one key junction – near the petrol bunk on South Canal Bank Road near MTC bus depot.

Already, excavation has been going on opposite the tank of Sri Kapali Temple. More such is expected in this area.

A few key landmarks, like a pavement-side temple at the Mandaveli junction and some public conveniences may have to be shifted/demolished. This is the zone for the Metro’s Mandaveli station.

This section on R. K. Mutt Road is perhaps the most highly habited, crowded section on the Metro work line.

IS YOUR PROPERTY SAFE?

If you reside in properties on either side of R. K. Mutt Road, then your house/apartment needs a good look now. Because some may get affected when the massive underground drilling operations take place for the rail line.

In the recent past, Metro-assigned staff have data-based all properties alongside this main road to record cracks on walls / strength of base, etc.

Some residents are said to have refused their entry.

If you have no record of the state of the property, and some problems occur later, has the Metro communicated to you the rules that govern such issues? Is compensation paid or repairs undertaken free?

Mylapore Times will report what happened on this issue in some areas where the Metro line is functioning.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC)'s local unit GCC staff lands up at my door - this past weekend.

"Sir, we must trim the bougainvillea on your wall."

"I will trim it but will have to wait till my man lands up."

"No, this must be done quickly."

"Why?"

"There is a complaint."

"What is the complaint?"

"Our men are going to lay more covers on the drains. The plants are obstructing."

"I don't think so...give me some days."

More GCC staffers land up at the gate. Arguments follow.

The smart man on a fancy bike who claims to be the GCC AE's Assistant, says, "Lets bring the JCB."

"Pal, you go after people who green the area... how about fining the two opposite plots who have misused the street storing bricks and jelly."

Silence.

I register an online complaint on GCC's service line. Against blatant encroachments, by two wealthy, educated people in high places.

It is taken but I don't get a message of reply on my phone.

I call the next day. "Why didn't I get a reply?"

"Maybe the server was down."

"Register a fresh complaint."

I don't get an acknowledgement from GCC.

This morning a guy who says he is GCC staff calls on my phone.

"What is your complaint?"

"Read it"

"Can you send us photos?"

"Your GCC office is two streets away, why don't you take a walk here?"

Line clicks.

Two violators: one, a family of state/central officers and another a developer - carry on happily, half the street taken over.

Workers drill our section of the drain today - the GCC order is to have more covers - close-close, so workers can easily clear the muck when it floods!

"Will our plants cause problems, boys?"

"No problem"

I ask my service people to provide the team some rose milk tomorrow. They told me they caught two fish which thrived in the muck in the drain; and the bungalow workers made a curry this afternoon.

Am waiting for the JCB of the GCC.

Also waiting for the GCC to charge two violators.

I pity Commissioner Gagandeep Singh Bedi, Mayor Priya and all those around. They preside over a crumbled system, Chennai's sham.

Maybe I must write a fabulous, long fiction based on the GCC. Chennai in the Time of Drainorea!

MY STORY

Teaching Children Art. For 25 years

By PRIYA NATARAJAN

I am an artist specialising in pen and ink sketches of temples and monuments. I have been at it for the past 25 years. Drawing has always been my passion from my childhood but I realised teaching is a greater passion only after some friends asked me to take classes for their kids. That was in 1997.

It served two purposes - my daughter was 5 years old and I wanted her to be occupied too. I started my art sessions for a small group of children - held in the evenings at my house and my art school, Lil Studio was started.

Over the past 25 years, the school has evolved. Teaching has literally become my kids enjoy - there are no strict rules in my art classes. Children address me as Auntie, not Miss or Ma'am. It is an atmosphere of complete happiness. We discuss many things - around school and their activities and the kids really open up to me. I work with small groups where every child is individually attended to. I help them to improve their drawing skills and explore different mediums. Kindling their creative side helps them to focus and relax and enjoy art.

Every three years, I conduct an art show where my children are asked to work on a breath. My evenings seem empty without the kids and I eagerly await to welcome them back after their summer break in May.

Art is something theme and their works are displayed in an art gallery. This gives them a platform to display their talent and is a great source of motivation for them. Our 6th art show was held in January 2020 and then, with Covid, everything changed.

With the advent of online sessions, kids became adept in learning through Zoom. I would make short videos for them to understand and corrections were made through WhatsApp. As the world adapted, so did Lil Studio.

Now with offline sessions resuming again, I am encouraging kids to get back to physical classes - the personal touch in teaching is so vital.

Teaching art is challenging because there are no set rules or books. I have structured my method through my 25 years of personal experience. To be in the presence of children every evening brightens up my day. It has been lovely!

Centenary tribute for B. Venkataramani

A centenary memorial to celebrate the life and work and passions of Mylaporean B. Venkataramani (30 Sept. 1922 – 7 Jun 2005) is to be held on Sept.30, 6 p.m. onwards at Sanskrit College premises, Mylapore.

A note from Justice Prabha Sridevan, retired judge of the Madras High Court and daughter of Venkataramani has this to say on the man, “With a light heart and a keen intellect, an appetite for enjoyment and a zest for life, ‘Thambu’ as he was known, was adored by his family and wide circle of friends. The innate feel for numbers was applied to pure mathematics in his youth, to the movement of passengers and freight during an illustrious career in the Indian Railways, and to chess and bridge all his life.”

His father was K. Balasubramania Iyer and his grandfather V. Krishnaswami Iyer whose stamp can be seen on many Mylapore institutions. This is the order of the Sept. 30 event: Welcome address – by Srinath Sridevan. Talk on ‘Venkataramani’s love for mathematics’ – Rajeswari Tyagarajan. Talk on his Railway career by M. S. Jayanth (retired General Manager, Southern Railways). Talk on his passion for bridge – S. Sankaran (Mylapore Club friend).

Police slap cases against people who took part in meeting held inside Sri Kapali Temple

By Our Staff Team

Mylapore police have slapped cases against the lone city councillor of the BJP party, Uma Anandan and many others for using the campus of Sri Kapali Temple for non religious purposes without getting the authorisation of the temple management.

Based on a complaint filed by executive officer of the temple, D. Kaveri, to the local police, cases have been registered.

The meeting held on August 31, was attended by over 75 people and called by activists who have been carrying on a long-drawn campaign to demand that key temples in the state be governed / managed by the community than by the state, by its HR&CE Department.

Though this meeting was held inside the temple it went on peacefully – but local police had stationed over 40 policemen and women outside the temple, and kept jeeps/ vans ready to pack off the participants if they slogan-eered or got proactive at the meeting. This did not happen.

Police say that people cannot hold meetings in a temple governed by HR&CE without permission.

First come first serve for all Mylaporeans (yes, sadly we cannot accept entries from outside this zone).

Also, seven Mylapore-based businesses are supporting the Kolu Contest. They are Karupiah Pharmacy, K K Garments, Suriya Sweets and Greens, Deepam Sweets & Karam, Uyir Organic Farmer's Market, Hari Agencies and Natural hair and beauty salon, Alwarpet.

Karupiah has been a leader in the medicare / pharmacy trade, based from Luz Church Road.

K K Garments, best known for innerwear and fashion-wear has expanded despite lows in the pandemic and Suriya Sweets and Greens is a go-to place for Abirampuram and R A Puram residents.

Deepam has created a unique brand in sweets and savouries, with sales from its shop in R A Puram 3rd Cross Street, Uyir sources organic fresh and dry food from various zones of the state and is a popular shop in Abirampuram, Hari Agencies is a longtime clothes-wear brand in Luz and the Natural brand of beauty-care reflects well at its Alwarpet salon. The seven supporters will offer their own gifts / vouchers to the 10 winners chosen next weekend. This is indeed a community driven contest in the spirit of Mylapore and of Mylapore Times newspaper.

■ DETAILS ON THIS CONTEST are in the Advertisement on page 9. The info is also on www.mylaporetimes.com

90th Anniversary Celebrations

The Mylapore Veda Adhyayana Sabha was established by His Holiness Jagadguru Sri Chandrasekarendra Saraswathi Swamigal (Sri Maha Periyava) of Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam in the year 1932. The Sabha runs a Veda Patasala, organises Veda parayanams, Homams, celebrates Sankara Jayanthi, offers Annual Bikshavandanams to His Holinesses Sankaracharyas of Kanchipuram and Sringeri and encourages and promotes Vedic learning and knowledge.

We would like to identify and honour descendants of those involved in the development and growth of the Sabha in the 90 th anniversary celebrations to be held in early October 2022. Alternate space for people with great talent

Art Kin Centre opened in Alwarpet recently to people who like music/dance/theatre or even Pop-up events - in a more comfy, cosy atmosphere.

Backing her bachelor's in visual communication with a post-graduate diploma in museology and museum management at Dakshinachitra Heritage Museum, under the guidance of Dr. Deborah Thiagarajan, Anahata interned at Apparao Galleries and worked as a freelance artist at Gallery Veda and at Ashvita's.

It was during her association with the India Art Fair, Delhi, that Anahata realised how great talent was getting a bypass. Names with heavy-reference tags and students from certain schools could move forward. Not others.

Art Kin, an entirely bootstrapped venture, would not have become a reality without the support of her parents. Plus, the support and ideas of Shruthe Raammohan "who was there for me throughout."

The centre charges Rs. 900 an hour for renting some basic space.

Located at 279, TTK Road, Alwarpet, Art Kin Centre has the advantage of sitting inside a quiet avenue, once very wooded. A string of food and lifestyle products joints front the main road here.

The space is generally open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., though the timings may change when there are events. Contact 9962013678.
