Many people oppose ban of phones inside Sri Kapali Temple. Some welcome it

By Our Edit Team

Many people who regularly visit Sri Kapali Temple are not happy with the ban on carrying phones inside – an order issued by the state government recently which applies to key temples in the state. But there are others who welcome this order, saying it allows people to pray and meditate in peace.

Those who oppose the ban say the queues will be long and time is wasted standing in the queue. Some also have to stand in a queue to deposit footwear.

They say managing this issue on days like the celebration of pradosham and of festivals during the year will be very tough; thousands are at the temple and two counters will not be able to handle all of them.

They say seniors need the phone on them to handle emergency calls. Many seniors also use the phones to recite prayers stored in the phone.

They suggest that stiff action can be taken by temple staff against those who talk loudly or shoot videos / Reels inside the temple

They also question why Rs.5 is charged for phone deposit. Daily temple-goers will have to pay over Rs.100 a month

Some people are unhappy with the blocking of a section of Ponnambala Vadhya Street on the south side (created for people to join queues to deposit phones / footwear). They say access to the temple is now squeezed.

PEOPLE'S VIEWS

● A temple-going Mylapore visits this temple at least 75 to 100 times in a year. It is now a pain for them to stand in the queue every time - this may take at least half an hour both ways. Why not detain the persons who shoot photos in the sanctum area and seize the phone and impose heavy fines. That will send a message.
- Parantharami Mani

● Have we questioned the phone ban issue with the rules followed at Tirumala temples? There too, lots of seniors visit the temples and they put away their phones.
- S. Sriram

● Senior citizens/ physically challenged persons should be exempted from this rule. For them, the phone is a life-line and critical at times.
- P. K. Sankar

● The ban is a good idea but is there a guarantee that our phones will be secure and not be mixed up or given to someone else by mistake?
- Vijaya Jayaraman

● Having seen people shooting videos all the time inside the temple which disturbs us, I welcome the decision. But the Rs.5 charge must be removed.
- G. Siva Kumar

● This is a bad idea

because all payments inside the temple for darshan / purchase are made using the phone. Better idea is to have temple staff check people who misuse the phone to talk for hours or shoot videos all the time.
- Sethu Menon

● Tirumala deals with lakhs of pilgrims a day and their cellphones are kept secure. Surely, this can be executed at our temples.
- Govind B.

VINCENT's JOTTINGS

By VINCENT D' SOUZA

Mylapore Times has entered its 33rd year. Or is it the 36th? Maybe the 37th?

Does it really matter?

What matters, my friends and readers, is that a small newspaper continues to function and grow in small ways, when there is gloom and doom in the print world. What matters is for people to believe in print and support it in ways you can. What matters is this - believe that print matters, even today.

Mylapore Times is a newspaper you can trust. This was a message I received in our social media page a week ago. Obviously, it came from a person who has closely followed this weekly, started in 1994.

This week, as I took a break from my laptop in a train that was negotiating the Ghats and scanned social media posts, I came across my Jottings column, written on the occasion of 25 years of Mylapore Times. I enjoyed reading all the 90-plus messages there, with some people assuming we were 25 this season!

These are a few small notes I have made in my pad in recent times. The respect for local news and information continues - and though we are a small team and covering all that happens in the Mylapore zone is a challenge even today, we make space for the tailor who mends school uniforms and for residents who are disturbed by a bunch of people who hang around, drink and smoke late at night in their colony.

We also work overtime to discuss advertising ideas with the owners of small shops and newbies and then design the adverts for them and squeeze their adverts into the pages even as the printing deadline is at hand. I believe that the newspaper has helped small businesses, especially those who listen to our tips and value our suggestions.

I am amazed at the wide reach of this newspaper. Read not only by 'alumni' of Mylapore across the city, the country and abroad, but by people who value the information and the advertisements in the weekly. We just received an email from the USA, from someone who believes his great grandfather lived in Mylapore and migrated to Fiji islands in the 1910/20 period. Can we help to trace the family roots?, asks the writer.

If there is one request we have for our readers in this age, it is this - become dedicated collaborators. A community newspaper is enriched when readers shoot photos of local events and share, report on community happenings, follow up on civic issues and even become voluntary, weekend reporters.

TANGEDCO's Mylapore team: take note

Luz Circle is in a mess due to the Chennai Metro project. People who use the area to go to shops or head to bus stops, come across many blocks and 'dangers'. Look at this one - power supply cables all over the place, hanging out of TANGEDCO's pillar box and rolling on the uneven pavement - posing danger to the pedestrians. This spot is behind Sri Navasakthi Vinayagar Temple and near the Max store. TANDEGCO's Mylapore team must address this issue.

- Hemanth Kumar

Thank you, Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan

The Onam season cultural festival hosted by Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan calls for appreciation. Many of us were exposed to a different culture in one hall in one week - plays, music, dance-theatre. Plus, some lovely snacks. Thank you BVB.

- P. Unnikrishnan

Thank you, Abiramapuram Police

We express our sincere gratitude to the police at E-4, Abhirampuram Police Station for the timely action taken by Mukundan, Inspector of Police, Vinayaga Murthy, S.T. - Crime, Maruthupandi, Head Constable, Ganesh Pandian, Head Constable and Vimala, Woman Constable, in detecting the theft committed by the caretaker in the house of my father-in-law located at 1st Main Road, R.A. Puram recently.

The officials also met my father-in-law and mother-in-law and infused some confidence in them - saying that if they need any help / assistance in future, they could immediately contact the officers/ staff at the station.

- S. Vasudevan

TANGEDCO, Luz Church Road people need your support

Residents of Luz Church Road Second Street endure power hiccups often. Three days ago, power supply was disrupted from 4.15 am and restored at 7.45 am. The next day, the supply was cut from 3.15 pm and lasted for some hours.

When I tried to call the landline number 044 24994310 of Luz TANGEDCO, I kept getting the reply 'Subscriber you are calling is busy on another call'.

There's no response at the Fuse Off Call Centre number 044 28112526. Incoming calls to TANGEDCO's AE, ADE and the Nodal Officer of the EB - 94458 50744, 50740 and 50717 - also do not reach the engineer/s.

Vijaya Stores turns 50 (May 10, 1997)

By S. Janaky

Vijaya Stores, the popular store in Mylapore, turned 50 this year. It was opened on February 21, 1947. It started as a general store - selling cosmetics and stationery items. Twenty-five years later, its proprietor, K. Sundaram, decided to drop cosmetics and concentrate on stationery goods. The shop has retained its focus since. Not much has changed in the last 25 years, pointed out Sundaram's son, Ganesh.

"We still operate from the 700-square feet shop at No.25, South Mada Street, Mylapore," he said.

The speciality of their products is that the paper in their notebooks do not blot or get damaged easily. Also, the shop would store copies of any less-known text-book even if it was prescribed by one school, Sundaram said. The shop sources books

Alwarpet area's civic problem: polluted water (May 3, 1997)

Residents of Bheemanna Mudali Garden Street in Alwarpet have been suffering the impact of leaking sewage water for the past two years. The dirty water is contaminating the drinking water here, residents said.

Despite several petitions to the mayor and Chennai Corporation, the issue has not been addressed, they added.

Ironically, the main drain is located opposite the divisional office of Metro Water. Resident Muralidharan said that changing the entire underground drainage lines could be the only solution.

The problem is acute at the Corporation Higher Secondary School here.

Writer Sujatha to be honoured (May 3, 1997)

Well-known writer Sujatha and renowned illustrator Natanam will be honoured with the Devan Memorial Medal on the 40th death anniversary of Devan, the late writer and humourist. Devan Endowments has organised a function at Akshara Vidyapeeth auditorium on May 4 at 5.30 pm.

'Cho' Ramaswamy and cartoonist Gopulu will honour the awardees. 'Cho' will also deliver a talk on Devan. A concert by Vijay Shiva will round off the events. Devan Endowments operates from Dev Apartments, Sundararajan Street, Abiramapuram.

Thuglak magazine advisor passes away (May 3, 1997)

General administrator and advisor of Thuglak magazine, T. R. Subramaniam, passed away on April 27. He was 62. He is survived by his parents. A bachelor, he used to live with his relatives in CIT Colony. He served in 'Thuglak' for 40 years. He used to spend most of his time at the office, said C. Rangachari, the magazine's publisher.

City school students compete in contests on commerce/business and contemporary science

By Our Edit Team

Students from some 20 city schools took part in P. S. Senior School's annual festival focussed on commerce/business and science studies. These events are called PSAurix and PS Amble and are held annually. This year, they were held at the Dakshinamurthy Auditorium in the P. S. School campus, Mylapore. Senior physicist Dr. Manjari Bagchi presented a special lecture on astrophysics at the launch of the PS AURIX event engaged over 400 participants from 20 schools. The competitive events, themed as Clues of Cosmos, Synapse Simulation and Celestial Marathon called for analytical reasoning and core scientific proficiency. Competitions such as Fiscal Conclave, Ledger Legends, Chaos Capital, and PS Hustle 4.0 were meant to evaluate the participants' understanding and articulation of the markets. The valedictory ceremony was graced by Dr. Prasanna Ram, a robotic surgeon from CURI Hospital. He spoke on 'Robotics as the future of Medical Sciences.' The team of DAV Boys School, Gopalapuram won the PS AURIX trophy, while Vidya Mandir's team triumphed in PS AMBLE contests (This team is seen in the photo above). School teachers and student volunteers of P. S. Senior contributed to the success of the twin events, held in late July.

The guides from Heritage Inspired shared stories and anecdotes at every stop.

Kavitha Thiagarajan is the president of this club. She said, "For many of us, though the landmarks were familiar, the histories were not. This kind of a planned tour made it worthwhile."

There are three rooms – spacious, well designed and air-conditioned. Women can share each room if they wish to. There is a common space and a dining hall; washrooms have geysers. There is an open terrace and two verandahs. Internet and television is available. A woman warden is in charge here. Those who wish to order home-made or food at restaurants may do so with the warden's help.

Chettinad Vidyashram hosts inter-school cul-festival

By Our Edit Team

Chettinad Vidyashram school hosted the 16th edition of Maithri, its biennial, inter-school cultural festival, on August 13 and 14 at its R. A. Puram campus. Film stars Radhika Sharatkumar and Kalidas Jayaram were special guests. 'Mirchi' Shiva, Atharva and Suri, popular artistes, starred in the finale.

The Chettinad team presented a choreographed group dance and a fusion fashion show which lit up the event. This year's Maithri hosted 50 events in which students of 70 schools took part. The highlight was the event themed Science Triathlon, designed to test students' conceptual understanding of scientific topics. The sports arena was also vibrant - with competitions in box cricket, football, basketball and volleyball. The team of PSBB Millennium School, OMR was adjudged the 'Best School' and Yudhish Raghav Reddy from the same school won the Maithri prize for outstanding performance. Kavya of Chinmaya Vidyalaya, Kilpauk was the second best winner.

Pookalams in the Park

By Our Edit Team

Mylapore Times hosted the Onam Pookalam Contest at Nageswara Rao Park in Luz on August 30, a Sunday to encourage people to showcase their talent with a practice associated with a major Indian festival.

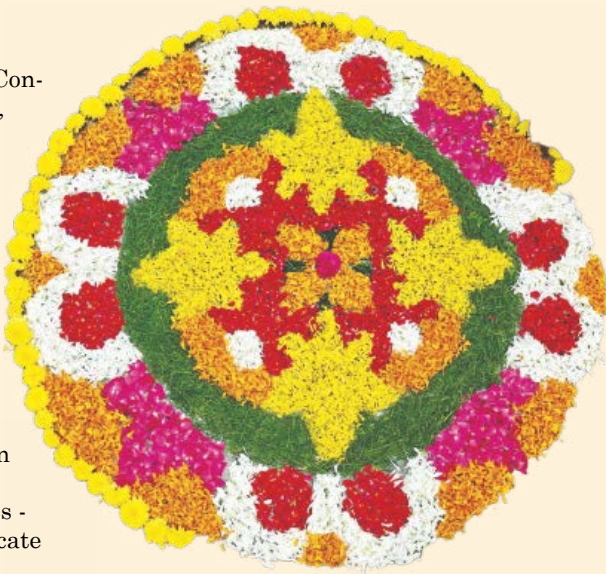

Teams of two carried their packs of flowers to the venue and used the one hour given to them to design their pookalam.

Midway through the event, the circular platform of cement, created as part of the Chennai Corporation's plan to re-design this park, where the designs were made, saw hues of fresh yellow, orange, and red floral petals. Teams even used coconut husk, mango leaves and grass and leaves - all woven into their intricate designs.

A participant cleverly incorporated chopped green leafy vegetables (keerai) alongside leaves to create a rich, dark contrast and striking outlines in the patterns. Many children joined adults to create the pookalams and this was a charming sight - as the sun set and people walked into the park to go for a walk or meet up with friends, they stopped by to admire the pookalams.

The winners: 1. Hemamalini & Mikkul Mahadev (mom, son) / Guindy. 2. Latha Suresh & Valli (friends) / R A Puram. 3. Radhika & Mangai - related to each other / Mylapore. 4. Savitha & Shreya (mom, daughter) / R A Puram. 5. Deepa / Jeswanth Sai (mom and son) / Mylapore.

Madras and the Mahatma

By Our Edit Team

A multi-disciplinary presentation titled 'Madras and the Mahatma' was staged at Srinivasa Gandhi Nilayam in Alwarpet on August 23.

This show featured talks, vintage music, dance and theatre put together by a trio – dancer Nirupama Vaidyanathan and Aravind Sankar and Shreeram of Vaak Foundation.

The venue was significant as Srinivasa Gandhi Nilayam as started by Ambujammal, an ardent follower of M. K. Gandhi and a freedom fighter herself. Ashes of Gandhi are buried under the thulasi maadam inside this campus off Ambujammal Street.

Urmila Vaidyanathan read passages from Ambujammal's autobiography. This was followed by a talk by Justice Prabha Sridevan (retired) about the times and links Gandhi had with Madras.

Vintage songs on India's freedom movement, sung by eminent musicians were played by Aravind Sankar – he prefaced them with anecdotes. Nirupama danced for some of them (photo above).

The finale was a dance theatre piece of the Salt March of people in Tamil Nadu – that ended in coastal Vedaranyam, in which Nirupama's grandfather O. V. Alagesan, then a student, had participated in and later became a follower of Gandhi.

Nirupama fleshed out this episode in her classical dance performance
